STATION OPERATORS STAGE GAS STRIKE

PARRY SOUND, Ont. (CP) — Service station operators who closed their stations Monday to protest removal of a one-cent gas subsidy were joined by 55 others today to virtually close down gas outlets on a 100-mile stretch of Highways 69 and 103 north of Toronto.

The move is an effort to force major oil companies to re-establish gallon profits for station operators to 8.5 cents from the present 5.5 cents.

Heavy Retaliation Expected After U.S. Embassy Bombing

Probe 'Murder, Terror'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives' committee on UN-American activities voted unanimously today to conduct an investigation into the activities of the Ku Klux Klan, the white-supremacist organization.

Chairman Edwin E. Willis (Dem.—La.) said the committee's preliminary study indicates "that shocking crimes are carried out by highly-secret action groups within the Klans."

These groups, Willis said, are known as "knockoff squads" or "holy terrors."

Willis also announced that the committee instructed him to go on with his preliminary inquiry into activities of the Black Muslims, the American Nazi party and The Minutemen, an extreme-rightist anti - Communist group.

The committee said its decision for a congressional investigation of the Klan was based on three factors:

Preliminary study "clearly indicated the Klan activities are such that investigation is called for."

Statements by federal officials indicating that Klan members have been involved "in a number of recent murders and other unconstitutional acts of violence and terrorism."

President Johnson's appeal last Friday indicated "support for congressional investigation of the Klans as an aid to enactment of remedial legislation."

Saigon Blast Takes High Toll

SAIGON (AP) — Terrorists set off an estimated 250 pounds of explosives in a parked car alongside the U.S. embassy in this South Vietnamese capital today, killing at least 17 persons and wounding at least 151.

Windows and brickwork of the five-storey building were shattered.

Two Americans, a girl secretary and a U.S. army officer, were among the dead and 45 or more Americans were injured. The other casualties were Vietnamese and non-American foreigners, many of them strolling on the street when the massive charge went off at 10:55 a.m.

Speculation quickly arose that the United States would thrust a mighty retaliatory strike at Communist North Viet Nam, possibly even hitting Hanoi, the capital.

"After our recent raids north, what else can we do for an encore?" an American woman inquired.

Seven of the injured Americans, including a woman secretary, were in serious condition. some with eye injuries from flying glass were flown to Clark Air Base in the Philippines for specialist treatment.

(In Washington, the state department reported a total of 196 casualties. It listed two Americans and 11 Vietnamese dead; 54 Americans and 129 Vietnamese injured.)

Terrorist Shot By Policeman

The Vietnamese dead included one of two terrorists who participated in the bombing. The other, who carried a 45-calibre pistol, was shot by a policeman just before the bomb went off and was in serious condition.

Among non-American foreigners injured by the blast were a French businessman and several Japanese residents of Saigon.

The blast punched a gaping hole in the five-storey concrete embassy. It shattered every window and dug an enormous crater in the street.

Flames and smoke mushroomed 300 feet into the air.

The bombing was one of the worst terrorist blows delivered by the Communist Viet Cong. The embassy, the target of several previous attacks, had been considered a prime goal of the Communists since U.S. air strikes began against North Viet Nam Feb. 7.

Twenty-four South Vietnamese fighter-bombers bombed a North Vietnamese air base near Dong Hoi today, but a U.S. spokesman said the raid was not in direct retaliation for the bombing of the embassy.

The American planes accompanied the South Vietnamese aircraft, attacking anti-aircraft installations and carrying out photo reconnaissance.

Raid on North 'Very Successful'

None of the attacking planes was reported hit or shot down. A South Vietnamese spokesman said the raid was "very successful" and that the pilots reported 90 per cent of their targets were destroyed.

But Peking radio claimed five U.S. and South Vietnamese planes were shot down in the raid on Dong Hoi. The broadcast said many others were damaged by North Vietnamese army units.

The spokesman said Dong Hoi has an 1,800-yard runway and a gasoline storage depot. It is about 75 miles north of the 17th parallel, the border between North and South Viet Nam.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell Taylor was in Washington reporting to president Johnson on the intensifying U.S. military effort against the Communists when the blast occured.

About 150 embassy personnel and visitors were in the embassy when the large black sedan turned into a street alongside just before 10:55 a.m.

Most of those at the scene were killed or disabled, but a reconstruction of the attack indicated:

The car stopped and a South Vietnamese policeman ordered the driver to move on. The driver said he had engine trouble.

A motorcycle pulled up, the driver leaped from the car onto the seat behind the cyclist and they started off. The policeman fired at the terrorists and was killed as they fired back.

Another policeman wounded the motorcycle driver, dropping him to the street. Just then the bomb exploded with a roar heard for miles. The other terrorist and several policemen were killed in the blast.

Everyone in the nearby ground-floor consular section of the embassy was wounded to some degree.

American servicemen ran to the scene from blocks away and dashed into the building to help the injured.

A South Vietnamese restaurant across the street was destroyed, and the wooden rooms above it crumbled.

Reporters who arrived on the scene minutes after the explosion saw American women secretaries, blood flowing from cuts and other wounds, helping to tend persons more seriously injured.

More than 30 cars in the area were damaged. Some of them caught fire.

Chinese Delaying Second Bomb?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Red China may be delaying the explosion of its second nuclear bomb for political reasons, administration officials said today.

They said U.S. intelligence sources are agreed Peking is capable of setting it off "at any moment." Many experts are convinced it has been ready for a week or two.

This has led to speculation that the Communist Chinese are waiting to time the blast for maximum psychological effect, presumably in connection with the Viet Nam crisis.

KAULA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI) — An important Malaysian official said today Red China was helping Indonesia develop an atomic bomb.

Need More Cash For Informers

SAIGON (AP)—Several South Vietnamese undercover agents said today the bombing of the U.S. Embassy might have been avoided if more money had been available to pay informers.

There may even have been an element of grudge involved in the bombing, one said.

Britain Seeks Peace Conference

LONDON (CP)—Britain prepared approaches to China and North Viet Nam Monday to arrange Viet Nam truce talks for peace envoy Patrick Gordon Walker.

In Peking, where Britain has a diplomatic mission, Charge d'Affaires Terence Garvey is to sound out Chinese leaders on whether they will receive Gordon Walker for an exchange of views on the crisis.

In Hanoi, British Consul-General Myles Ponsonby will ask President Ho Chi-minh's regime whether the British envoy's visit can be set up.

Wilson Concerned

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson today expressed concern about possible escalation of the war in Viet Nam. But, he told the House of Commons, Britain has been assured by U.S. officials that a recent statement made by U.S. Ambassador General Maxwell D. Taylor regarding unlimited intensification of the war in Viet Nam did not mean any change in U.S. policy.

Jets Strafe Boat

TOKYO (UPI) — Radio Peking said tonight two American jet fighters strafed a Communist Chinese fishing boat Monday night west of Hainan Island in the Gulf of Tonkin.

Ball at Talks

PARIS (Reuters) — George Ball, U.S. undersecretary of state, arrived in Paris today to attend two days of talks in the NATO permanent council to be devoted largely to Viet Nam. Ball told reporters on his arrival here he would explain American policy and the progress of operations to the members of the alliance.

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain is studying a report from the International Control Commission for Viet Nam on the withdrawal of its members from North Viet Nam, officials said here today.

Pension Plan Passed By Huge Majority

Special Times Series

Deductions Pose Interesting Problem

(Second of four articles.)

When the contributions portion of the Canada Pension Plan is examined in greater detail, it is found that the $600 annual exemption—to be applied at a rate of $50 monthly—creates some interesting situations. The following examples illustrate them:

- Earnings of more than $5,000 annually:

Consider an employee with earnings of $12,600 in 1966. His required contribution will be 1.8 per cent of $4,400 (the $5,000 maximum less the $600 exemption). Thus, he must pay $79.20 for the year.

He will not contribute one-twelfth of the $79.20 each month, however. Instead, his monthly contribution will be based on his monthly earnings reduced by $50. If his earnings were $1,050 each month, he would contribute $18 in each month from January through April, $7.20 in May, and nothing for the rest of the year.

- A part-time worker:

Suppose an employee works for the first four months of the year at a rate of $300 monthly and is unemployed from May to December. His employer will have deducted (.018) (4) ($300—$50—$18.00).

But the employee's true contribution is: .018 ($1,200 - $600 — $10.80).

In this case, the employee and the employer have overpaid by $7.20. The employee may claim a refund, but the employer can't.

- A "moonlighter":

Take the person employed at two jobs throughout the year. One pays $250 monthly, the other, $100 monthly.

That adds up to an income of $350 monthly, or $4,200 annually.

The first employer deducts 1.8 per cent of $200 for 12

Conservative senators are expected to mount a stiff fight against some features of the bulky bill. But they are outnumbered 61 to 33 by Liberals.

Opposition MPs heaped criticism on the legislation for 26 days, calling it a new tax, a fraud and a vote-getting gimmick. But when the vote on third reading finally came, only seven Creditistes and five Prairie Conservatives opposed the plan.

The measure was supported by 96 Liberals, 47 Conservatives 13 New Democrats, Social Credit MPs H. A. Olson (Medicine Hat) and Marcel Lessard (Lac-St. Jean) and independent MP Remi Paul (Berthier-Maskinonge-Delanaudiere), a former Conservative.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson were among 91 MPs in the 265-seat chamber who missed the big vote. Mr. Diefenbaker endorsed the bill with reservations Friday while Mr. Thompson strongly criticized it.

Opposition groups made three last-ditch attempts Monday to

Cyprus Talks Urged

Wallace To Consider Negro Plea

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—George C. Wallace, the segregationist governor of Alabama, today "cordially and courteously" received an interracial civil rights delegation which asked him to end police brutality against Negroes.

It was the first meeting the governor has granted such a group.

The 16 civil rights leaders, all but one a Negro, also asked Wallace for a more liberal policy of registering Negro voters and removal of the poll tax.

Wallace, who met with the group in his office at the capitol, did not immediately comment on the meeting with the delegation he had previously refused to see.

A spokesman said the group asked Wallace to "use his great power of leadership to bring peace to our state."

The Rev. Joseph Lowery, leader of the group, said Wallace received them "cordially and courteously" when they presented him a petition of grievances and spelled out specific needs. Lowery said Wallace "promised to give consideration to them."

Wallace was asked to appoint Negroes to the highway patrol immediately, Lowery said, and to policy-making boards.

"We also asked him to give his leadership in building bridges of communication in our state," Lowery said.

$7 MILLION TOTAL SAVING

Power Rates Reduced 15 to 20%

B.C. Hydro's third power-cut rate since 1962 will save the average householder up to 20 per cent per month.

The latest cut, announced Monday night by Hydro co-chairmen Dr. H. L. Keenleyside and Dr. G. M. Shrum, will mean a total saving of $7,000,000 annually by Hydro customers.

The new rates will take effect in the month of April and will show for the first time on bills received in May.

Most of the benefit from the new rates will be shared by householders in residential areas.

Average reduction will be 15 per cent with small power users enjoying up to a 20 per cent reduction in their monthly bills.

In addition to the rate cuts Hydro will also make available, for the first time in B.C., unlimited quantities of "one-cent power."

The first 300 kilowatt hours will cost two cents per kilowatt, reduced from 2½ cents, with all additional power used costing one cent per kilowatt hour for all residential users.

MORE TO COME

Hydro officials predict that the cuts will bring major increases in the use of power.

Along with the announced rate reductions the Hydro officials gave promise of other cuts to come.

"Unlike other fuels," the officials stated, "the cost of generating electricity will be reduced in the years to come. The production of very large amounts of electricity from the Peace and Columbia Rivers will result in major cost savings which will be passed on to the people of British Columbia."

The new rates will also bring savings of more than $1,500,000 to non-industrial users served at primary voltage.

Standard rates have now been established for these customers, a move calculated to bring savings to schools, business houses, hotels and motels.

Farmers also come in for a slice of the pie.

The energy charge for irrigation pumping loads up to 100-horsepower will now be 85 cents per kilowatt hour subject to the standard charge of $6.60 per person.

The new rate will reduce irrigation power charges up to 50 per cent.

Pearson Favors Flag Use Control

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Monday he thinks consideration should be given to legislation controlling the use made of the maple leaf flag.

He was commenting at the request of J. Chester MacRae (PC-York-Sunbury) who drew his attention to a Canadian Press photo of a maple leaf flag design being used as an awning at a meat market.

Quake Rocks Islands But Sea Stays Calm

The earthquake measured about 7.5 on the Richter scale and a Dominion Astrophysical Observatory spokesman said this would have been "disastrous" in a built-up area.

He said the earthquake occurred near Attu Island near the tip of the Aleutians, which reach far towards Asia from southwest Alaska.

Vancouver Island civil defence officials were alerted for a possible tidal wave but by 10 p.m. the alert was cancelled when no wave appeared.

W. G. Milne, geophysicist with the observatory on Little Saanich Mountain, said there was no relation between the Chilean and Aleutian quakes.

YIPPEE ... WE DIDN'T WIN ... BUT ERROR UPSETS HUBBY

LANGLEY, B.C. (CP) — "Thank heavens!"

Mrs. Gordon Pearce had just learned her husband did not win $150,000.

"I'm glad," she said in an interview Monday.

Her husband, a hardware merchant in this Fraser Valley city 30 miles east of Vancouver, had been officially listed as holder of an Irish Sweepstake ticket on Jay Trump, winner of the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree, England, Saturday.

However, he was informed by telephone the listing was a clerical error.

"Thinking we had won was tough to live with," said Mrs. Pearce. "It upset my family, phones were ringing, radio and newspapers were calling, the kids got excited and we didn't have any rest at all."

"Now we can go on like we were," she said. "We don't have to decide what to do with the money."

Mr. Pearce opened his store as usual Monday saying he was "upset about the error."

"I can't understand an organization like the Irish Sweepstakes making an error like that.

"We tried not to get worked up, but you do get worked up over something like this. It doesn't happen every day."

Mr. Pearce, father of three teen-age sons, will still receive a consolation prize of about $1,100 for his ticket on John O'Groats, a non-starter in the race.

Overflow Crowd Hears 'Hotliner'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Between 7,000 and 10,000 people attempted to jam into the downtown Queen Elizabeth Theatre Monday night to hear controversial broadcaster Pat Burns protest his being dropped by a Vancouver radio station.

An estimated 2,900 filled the 2,800-seat theatre while another 7,000 stood in the pouring rain outside to hear Mr. Burns over a public address system.

Several fist fights erupted when attempts were made to break through police lines blocking entrances.

During the near-riotous evening, a bomb scare was turned in and three fire engines arrived to answer what turned out to be a false alarm. A police riot squad searched the stage area of the theatre but no bomb was found.

Radio Station CJOR until recently carried Burns "Hot Line" program in which the public telephoned the station and spoke with Burns as the conversation was broadcast.

However, CJOR president Mrs. Marie Chandler announced last week that the station would not meet Burns' latest contract demands.

$3,000 A MONTH

CJOR said Burns had proposed in his new contract a salary of $3,000 a month plus 15 per cent of the profits of the station over $50,000; a $1 talent fee for commercials which would cost $77 a day; a new car every year with the station assuming all related expenses except gas and oil; and a guaranteed salary for life even if his program was not aired for any reason.

In his 2½-hour speech Burns said the station's move must go down "as the most sordid act in the history of commercial broadcasting."

Burns claimed he was dropped by the station not because of his contract demands, but because he refused to tone down attacks on "The Establishment."

Defending his contract demands, Burns said: "Sure, I made these impossible demands, but they were made in the form of notes for negotiation purposes and I wanted them to be tough.

"I wanted these points to be so tough that I could use them as a bargaining basis to preserve the one clause in the contract which would ensure the integrity of the Hot Line program and its principle of freedom of speech."

He said that every day "there was pressure from those at the station who would have had me tone down the program so that it was more acceptable to 'The Establishment.' But I would not betray my principles and your trust.

"And if my voice has been temporarily stilled, so has yours," he told his cheering audience.

A department store that regularly sponsored the Burns program paid for the rental of the Queen Elizabeth Theatre.

'All Share' In Death, Says Cleric

DETROIT (UPI)—Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, the first white woman killed in the current civil rights drive, was laid to rest today in simple ceremonies attended by state and national figures leading the drive for Negro rights.

The Roman Catholic cleric who delivered the eulogy said "far too many of us have a share" in her untimely death.

Father James Sheehan, director of the archbishop's committee on human relations, preached the sermon in Immaculate Heart of Mary Church and took the occasion to lash out at the social climate in the South and the failure of the clergy to lead in the fight for civil rights.

SOME WEPT

Father Sheehan stood behind the casket, draped in black, and delivered the sermon in English as the Liuzzo family and close friends listened with bowed heads. Some wept.

Father Sheehan said it would be impossible for "an ambassador or a Peace Corps man" to explain what happened to Mrs. Liuzzo.

He compared Mrs. Liuzzo's death and the recent happenings in Selma and elsewhere with Nazi Germany during the 1930s. Then he launched into a condemnation of the South for holding the Negro people down.

Liquor Ads Now Allowed In Alberta

The regulations were approved Monday by cabinet.

Manufacturers will be allowed to advertise brands by referring to trademarks, brand names, labels, slogans and recipes but no advertisement will be allowed to promote the use of liquor.

Premier Manning said earlier this week a change in regulations had been under consideration for some time, in view of the large volume of outside material that comes into the province containing liquor ads.

All liquor advertising in publications must be approved by the Liquor Control Board. A ban on radio and TV advertising remained unchanged.

Salmon Quota Raised

TOKYO (AP)—Japan and the Soviet Union agreed today to set Japan's 1965 quota of salmon fishing in the northwestern Pacific at 115,000 tons, or 5,000 tons more than last year's quota.

Jones Clears Desk To Sever All Ties

George E. P. Jones, fired last Friday by legislative vote, cleared his desk Monday and walked out of the office he had occupied for nine years.

No reasons were given for his dismissal other than the bare statement that the government had "lost confidence" in him as chairman of the purchasing commission.

Suspended without pay last October following the laying of charges that he unlawfully accepted benefits from Victoria car dealer George Hankinson—charges subsequently dismissed in court—Mr. Jones continued to perform his duties daily.

In the bill to "retire" him, Mr. Jones was granted $15,675 in lieu of 18 months pay plus a pension.

He has been succeeded temporarily by R. G. McKee, deputy minister of forests.

Mr. McKee said he has put "a couple of hours a day" as pro tem chairman until a permanent appointment is made.

He has launched a slander suit against Premier Bennett for alleged statements made to a Victoria Social Credit meeting a few weeks ago.

FIRST CALL with Ben Wicks

"What is it like to feel weightless?"

N.Y. FACING ANOTHER NEWS STRIKE

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators raced the clock today in final efforts to avert a strike when contracts in the city's newspaper industry expire at midnight tonight.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who helped end the 114-day newspaper shutdown two years ago, said that if agreement had not been reached by 4 p.m. he would call both sides to meet with him immediately at city hall.

Automation and wages are vital issues in the talks.

. . . PLAN PASSED

re-open discussion on details of the complex 125-clause bill but they were voted down by the minority government.

Revenue Minister Benson, who largely replaced Health Minister Judy LaMarsh in piloting the bill, Monday accused the Conservative, New Democratic and Creditiste parties of filibuster and delaying tactics aimed at killing the plan.

NDP Leader Douglas retorted that this was a false and utterly irresponsible charge. The pension legislation had been in and out of the Commons in various forms for nearly two years because of the government's ineptitude and inefficiency, he added.

The plan, introduced in a substantially different version June 21, 1963, is slated to come into force next Jan. 1 and build up a multi-billion reserve fund over the next 10 years, when maximum benefits of $104 a month will be paid out.

Today the Commons resumed debate on a bill authorizing Quebec, or any other province, to opt out of 17 federal-provincial joint programs. The government hopes to wind up the record-long, 244-day session this week and open a new one immediately afterward.

The contentious opting-out principle also applies to the pension plan. The Quebec government is expected to introduce its own scheme shortly providing for the same rates of contributions and benefits.

DEBATED FOUR DAYS

The bill passed Monday night was introduced last Oct. 28 and debated for four days before receiving second reading — approval in principle—by a vote of 184 to 0 Nov. 18. The 13 Creditistes abstained from voting.

The seven Creditistes voting against the plan on third reading were Leader Real Caouette, Gilles Gregoire (Lapointe), Robert Beaule (Quebec East), Gerard Perron (Beauce), Gilbert Rondeau (Shefford), Charles-Eugene Dionne (Kamouraska) and Pierre-Andre Boutin (Dorchester).

The five dissident Conservatives were Terry Nugent (Edmonton Strathcona), Jack McIntosh (Swift Current - Maple Creek), Clifford Smallwood (Battle River-Camrose), Lawrence Watson (Assiniboia) and Drummond Clancy (Yorkton).

In the first of four votes at the Monday evening sitting, an NDP amendment to send the bill back to committee stage for reconsideration of the $75 flat-rate pension was defeated 96 to 76.

The mover, Robert Prittie (NDP — Burnaby - Richmond), said higher living costs make a $100 flat-rate pension necessary. Mr. Benson replied that such an increase would cost $810,000,000 annually.

The Prittie motion was opposed by 94 Liberals, Quebec Conservative Leader Leon Balcer and Mr. Paul. It was backed by 52 Conservatives, 15 New Democrats, seven Creditistes and two Social Crediters.

Stanley Knowles, NDP whip, immediately moved a second amendment to re-open debate on the minimum pension age. He suggested it should be lowered to 65 from 70 immediately.

This motion was defeated 94 to 75. The Liberals were alone against 51 Conservatives, 14 New Democrats, seven Creditistes, two Social Crediters and Mr. Paul.

The Creditistes then sought to move an amendment splitting the bill into contributory and flat-rate pension sections with a vote on each.

Deputy Speaker Lucien Lamoureux ruled the amendment out of order, the Creditistes appealed and were crushed 160 to 7. The six Creditistes voting were joined by George Muir (PC—Lisgar).

months, or $43.20. The second deducts 1.8 per cent of $50 for 12 months, or $10.80. Thus, a total of $54 is deducted.

But when the employee calculates his true contribution, he finds it should be 1.8 per cent of his annual earnings of $4,200, reduced by his $600 exemption. The contribution, figured this way, is $64.80. He owes the plan $10.80.

● A self-employed worker: The example is taken from evidence presented to the joint committee of the Senate and House of Commons.

A person resided in Alberta as of the last day in the year and had self-employed earnings of $4,000. He also had salary and wages of $2,000, and had been allowed the basic exemption of $600 by his employer.

The contributor would be required to contribute $108 on his self-employed earnings. This contribution is computed at the rate of 3.6 per cent of the lesser of amount (a) or amount (b) as follows:

Self-employed earnings amount (a)	$4,000
Maximum contributory earnings on which a contribution can be made (Section 15)	$4,400
Deduct: Salary and wages on which a contribution has been made ($2,000-$600)	$1,400
Balance of maximum contributory earnings. Amount (b)	$3,000
Self-employed earnings subject to a contribution (lesser of Amount (a) or Amount (b)	$3,000
Contribution payable 3.6 per cent of $3,000	$ 108

Thus, between his employment and his self-employed earnings, the person has contributed on the maximum amount allowable — that is, $4,400 ($3,000 self-employed earnings at the rate of 3.6 per cent, plus $1,400 salary and wages at the rate of 1.8 per cent).

The adjustment situations illustrated are small in comparison to those of a worker who migrates to or from Quebec during the year. Quebec will have its own separate plan.

The last major terrorist attack on an American installation in Saigon was the Christmas Eve bombing of the Brink Hotel, the major U.S. officers' billet in the capital. Two Americans were killed and 81 Americans and Vietnamese were injured.

A U.S. military billet at Qui Nhon was bombed Feb. 10, and 23 Americans died.

Among earlier attempts on the embassy was one in which a grenade concealed in a loaf of bread was thrown at the building. It failed to go off.

Ten days ago, police announced they had foiled a plot to bomb the embassy. They found 35 pounds of plastic explosives hidden in a Saigon house by Communist terrorists.

CBC STRIKE PROGRAM UNDER FIRE

Complete Falsehood Says ITU Chief

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Labor Minister Leslie Rowntree said Monday a television program was entirely wrong to suggest that the introduction of computers is the continuing cause of a strike of printers at the three Toronto daily newspapers.

Local 91 of the International Typographical Union (CLC) went on strike at The Telegram, Star, and Globe and Mail last July 9. The papers have continued to publish.

The computer issue was settled about a week after the strike began and other issues are holding up the settlement of the dispute, Mr. Rowntree told the legislature.

Eddie Sargent (L — Grey North) has protested against what he described as the sorry spectacle of honest workers begging for their jobs on the CBC's program Men Against Computers shown Sunday night.

Mr. Sargent charged that the government had failed in its first real test of the introduction of automation by not ending the dispute.

Mr. Rowntree called the Liberal member's statement irresponsible and asked if he would advocate the government stepping in and compulsorily ending of all labor disputes. He added automation had been in process "since the wheel was invented."

Robert McCormack, president of Local 91, said the TV program "was a complete falsehood."

"We have never opposed computers," he said in an interview. "But we have insisted on jurisdiction over computers when they perform composing room work."

This issue was settled last July 29. The publishers submitted amended proposals on other issues.

POLISH CONGRESS

French-English 'Egoism' Hit

TORONTO (CP)—Four ethnic groups appearing before the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism Monday opposed the English-French "biculturalism" concept. Another approved it.

NEW COMMANDER of the Canadian peace-keeping contingent in Cyprus is Col. Henri Tellier, 46, Montreal. He replaces Col. W. DeN. Watson, 45, Edmonton and Calgary. Before his appointment, Col. Tellier was director of international plans at defence headquarters at Ottawa.

All approved of efforts of one kind or another to spread the use of the two major languages and all sought some concessions for their own languages as the commission began three days of public sittings here.

The Trans-Canada Alliance of German-Canadians, from the largest language group behind the English and French, favored the promotion of both bilingualism and the bicultural idea.

But biculturalism ran into trouble with the Ukrainian National Federation of Canada from the next-largest body after the Germans, the Canadian Polish Congress, the Canadian Slovak League and in a joint submission from the Estonian Central Council in Canada and the Estonian Federation in Canada.

STRONG RESERVATIONS

The Canadian Polish Congress said it "views with strong reservations the name and terms of reference of the royal commission which, by limiting its task to a study of the two main languages and cultures of Canada."

It added that unity in Canada will only be achieved when "the two main ethnic groups overcome their group egoism and chauvinism and show an understanding of the part played by the smaller ethnic groups as well as a readiness, together with us, to serve this country in the common interest of all its citizens."

The Canadian Slovak League said that the various native tongues in the country should be taught in high schools where there is "reasonable demand" for this. However, it said Canada should be officially bilingual in English and French.

NEED SPECIAL EFFORT

The German-Canadian body said it "welcomes and supports all steps leading to the fullest development of bilingualism at all levels of public life" and added that "a special effort will have to be made to make Canada bicultural as well."

The Ukrainian group said it "opposes the association, with the notion of bilingualism, of the very debatable notion of biculturalism, which has no valid definition in any known dictionary and whose meaning can be arbitrarily settled to the detriment of a vast portion of the population of Canada."

The two Estonian central bodies said it would be "an erroneous decision and a frustrating attempt to ignore the course of history if an attempt were made to view Canada as only a bicultural country."

'INTOLERABLE'

Noranda Mines Under Attack By Levesque

SEPT-ILES, Que. (CP)—Rene Levesque, Quebec natural resources minister, said Monday night "intolerable things are taking place at Noranda Mines Limited which cannot be tolerated much longer."

He was addressing a meeting of representatives of four mines and United Steelworkers of America (CLC) union members in this community 325 miles northeast of Quebec City.

He told a union meeting in Rouyn, Que., Saturday night that Noranda should "take advantage of its remaining time to become civilized."

In reply, a spokesman for the Toronto-based firm said Monday that Mr. Levesque's statement was "of course nonsense" and that he "has obviously been prejudiced against Noranda ever since the Gaspe copper strike."

The brief company statement referred to a long, violent strike at a Noranda subsidiary in Quebec.

PLANS TAKEOVER?

When asked in this mining centre whether he is thinking of expropriating Noranda Mines, Mr. Levesque replied:

"I dare not even think of it. It is perhaps close to midnight, but that does not mean we can think about it."

He said mining firms deserve "perfectly fair treatment as long as they respect the rules of the game."

He defined these rules as the best possible treatment of workers, normal respect towards the aptitudes, culture and language of the people as well as respect for the guiding lines of the law and normal local demands on profit.

Referring to Northwest Quebec in general and Noranda Mines in particular, Mr. Levesque said "we have seen places where this minimum is not respected. Some companies parade a stubborn contempt of the environment in which they operate."

'GET OFF OUR BACKS' URGES RCMP CHIEF

TORONTO (CP) — RCMP Commissioner George B. McClellan appealed Monday to the public to "get off the policeman's back."

He told the Canadian Club in a speech that there is widespread public disrespect for police and the trend, if unchecked, could immobilize police forces in this country.

Policemen are dismayed to find that they, "the frontline soldiers," and not criminals are pictured as enemies to society, said the commissioner.

"But (he) the policeman is doing a tough, thankless and frequently dangerous job for you and all you hold dear—for God's sake get off his back," he said.

Saanich to Complete Own Landscaping Job

Saanich intends to go it alone on its $97,000 landscaping program at the new municipal hall.

Council will be asked at its next meeting Monday night to reject an unofficial bid of $208,00 tendered last week by G. H. Wheaton of Victoria Limited.

A report wil be prepared by landscape architect Phillip Tattersfied of Vancouver and municipal engineer Neville Life on the minimum facilities needed for entrance and parking at the Vernon Avenue hall when it opens.

The new hall, costing $700,000, is being built by Wheaton to replace existing facilities at Royal Oak. It should be ready for occupancy in August or September.

Coun. William Campbell told the buildings an dspecial projects committee Monday the Wheaton bid—not made on the proper forms — should be rejected.

Further, "we should not deal with Wheaton on this phase of the job." It was quite obvious, he said, that the contractor guesse dat some of his figures.

Mr. Tattersfiel dsaid it was the first time in 15 years experience he had known only one bid. Usually there were at least three.

In two separate places, in adding figures in a letter, he pointed out differences of $30,000.

Mr. Campbell said quotations on the sub trades appeared reasonable and Saanich should accept them. The rest the municipality should do itself.

"I am quite sure if we handled the job it will not go over the estimate of $97,000," he said.

Prison Workers Protest Pay Hike

OTTAWA (CP) — Representatives of federal penitentiary employees in seven provinces will meet here April 12-14 to protest the amount of recent salary increases, J. C. Best, president of the Civil Service Association of Canada, announced today.

He said the new salary scales and classifications announced by the federal government provide no increases for 16.2 per cent of employees, and a raise of less than $200 a year for 35.7 per cent.

Special Quebec State Pictured by Students

TORONTO (CP) — A future Quebec "state" enjoying a special place in a radically new confederation was pictured today before the Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism by the English-speaking Student Christian Movement of Canada.

The organization said lines have been converging on such a pattern recently and expressed belief that "conditions for such an undertaking are not as absent as would appear to most English-speaking Canadians." However, it would be a long process.

The movement, with headquarters here, is a 45-year-old body active at 23 universities but without formal membership. It studies social problems in relation to the Christian faith. It is affiliated with the World Student Christian Federation.

Events suggested Quebec as the "state of the French-Canadian nation" with these two divisions of authority:

- "Confederated with the other nine provinces for matters such as trade and commerce, defence, public transportation and currency, and the levying of taxes in these respects."
- "Enjoying a good measure of autonomy in matters of social welfare, natural resources, education, cultural life, civil rights and property, industry, labor, immigration, external affairs related to such areas of jurisdiction, and power to levy taxes in these respects."

IODE BRIEF URGES

'No Legislation on B and B Findings'

TORONTO (CP) — The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire got into the bilingualism and biculturalism furor today with a strongly-worded brief to the royal commission here.

The brief makes one point very clear on behalf of the 29,000 - member organization—neither bilingualism nor biculturalism should be imposed by legislation.

In its brief the group proposes establishment of a consultive council of the 10 provincial education ministers plus a federal minister to exchange ideas for upgrading general education standards.

No specific actions would be required or asked of the committee. This would leave it to work "substantially free of political pressures or inter-provincial jealousies and prejudices."

The IODE also recommends in its brief that Ottawa be made a federal district with every opportunity to develop into a fully bilingual city.

The Anglican Church of Canada, in its brief, calls for a "thorough national study and re-examination" of the British North America Act.

The brief, which was to have been presented this morning during the second day of the three-day sitting here, said the study would be a good exercise in developing a Canadian identity, even if it brought no change in the constitution.

"Since this act constitutes our basis of government," the brief goes on, "it is in the interests of national unity that agreement be achieved in understanding the interpreting this document."

The Church was also to emphasize a point made in several briefs presented to the first day's sitting Monday.

Other provinces should give their French-speaking minorities the same tolerance and recognition the English minority receives in Quebec.

A personal brief by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Findlay of Toronto recommends that a federal system of bursaries, scholarships or grants - in - aid be established to help individuals who incur expense in trying to get education in French or English as a second language for themselves or their children.

ENTERING federal politics is David Hunter, 51-year-old leader of the Alberta Liberal party. He announced his resignation from the post Monday and said he will contest the Liberal nomination for the constituency of Athabaska.

ALBERTA BYELECTION

Grits Break Socred Rule

EDSON, Alta (CP) — Liberal William Switzer, a Hinton druggist, ended 21 years of Social Credit representation in the Alberta legislature for Edson constituency Monday night with a razor-thin, upset byelection victory.

There was a heavy turnout of voters in the big, rural constituency. Mr. Switzer came out on top after a neck-and-neck race with the Social Credit and New Democratic Party candidates. The Progressive Conservative candidate trailed far behind.

Mr. Switzer's win gave the Liberals three seats in the 63-seat legislature. There are 59 Social Credit members and one coalition member.

The byelection was called after Lands and Forests Minister Norman Willmore, who represented Edson more than 20 years, was killed in a highway accident last month.

Social Credit, in power since 1935, lost its last byelection 12 years ago when Conservative W. J. C. Kirby captured Red Deer in a vote called after the death of Agriculture Minister David Ure in a traffic accident 25 miles from where Mr. Willmore was killed.

With 54 of 56 polls reported, Mr. Switzer had 1,980 votes; Neil Reimer, Alberta NDP leader, 1,889; Social Credit candidate Arthur Leonard 1,740 and Conservative Jon Scott 465.

With two polls still to be heard from, 6,074 ballots had been cast out of an eligible 8,732 voters. Turnout in the 1963 general election was 4,571.

Mr. Reimer, an Edmonton union official making his second attempt for a legislature seat, said the outcome was so close "I likely will ask for a recount."

Protection for Investors

THE QUESTION OF WHY SO many Canadians are reluctant to invest their savings in common stocks ownership of Canadian companies has been bothering stock exchange officials, industrial leaders and government ministers for some years.

There is little use complaining about foreign domination of Canadian industry and resources, it has been argued, if the people will not provide the capital needed to develop the country. Most Canadians, however, have continued to put their money into life insurance, annuities, government bonds or savings accounts. (With the exception, perhaps, of a flutter now and then in speculative oil or mining shares which, too often, only means lining the pockets of sharp promoters.)

Part of the reason for the average Canadian's backwardness about buying common stocks may be found in the report of Ontario's Kimber Committee on Securities Legislation which was released last Friday. The report is of wide general interest since the securities legislation of most Canadian provinces, including that of British Columbia, is broadly based on Ontario legislation.

The committee did not indulge in any widespread criticism of current security trading practices, but implicit in its recommendations for changes is the admission that the ordinary shareholders, of some companies at least, have been getting less than an even break.

A prime example of this is the recommendation that there should be full public disclosure of all transactions by "insiders" (directors and large shareholders) in their companies. Since the "insiders" are persons who have access to information concerning a company which may not be obtainable by other shareholders, it is obvious that they are in a better position to profit by buying or selling the company shares at opportune times. That such actions have happened may be one good reason for Canadians' lack of interest in buying shares in public companies.

The committee also urged that shareholders be given much more financial information about the affairs of their companies than is now required. The report states: "It is difficult for the ordinary investor, in the absence of adequate disclosure, to arrive at an informed opinion as to the worth of his investments." Shareholders should be told many more things about the financial affairs of their companies, the committee states, and the accounting should be presented in a uniform manner to avoid confusion.

Among the other recommendations of the Kimber committee were: Preparation of prospectuses so that they would not be in "legal language which is largely incomprehensible to the layman"; protection of the small shareholders when bids are made for their shares in a "takeover" move; and the use of proxies which would allow shareholders not able to be present at company meetings a better means of signifying their approval or disapproval of management actions.

Finally, the report comes down hard on the practice of "primary distribution" of speculative shares through stock markets because of the dangers of "market manipulation, false rumors, artificial excitement and inside advantages by promoters, brokers and floor traders."

The committee stated: "Securities legislation must be designed not only to serve the purpose of reducing imperfections in the free and open capital market, but also to ensure the efficient operation of the market in achieving long-term economic objectives."

The recommendations of the committee indicate that in too many cases these purposes are not being served.

New 'Bakers' for Red Bread

RUSSIA'S PRESENT CONCENTRATION on efforts to improve agricultural output is understandable. This is the field to which Nikita Khrushchev devoted a great deal of attention without notable success. It is an area, also, in which weakness led to importation of Canadian grain, to the substantial advantage of this country's farmers.

As the news reports indicate, the new leaders of the U.S.S.R. hope to stimulate production by larger outlays on agricultural equipment and also in the encouragement of production through economic and moral incentives. In other words, the farmer who works hard and successfully can expect a better return for his efforts from the state. The incentive principle of private enterprise seems to be penetrating further into the planned society.

It is to be expected that Russia has learned from some of the errors of the earlier regime, where the emphasis on quotas and on planning tended to ignore the physical difficulties of climate, drought and poor growing seasons.

As American farm specialists reported following a visit to the U.S.S.R. a year or two ago, the determination to meet quotas when they fell due, regardless of the long-term results of enforcing that determination, not only produced falsified records by some officials responsible for production, but wasteful practices. Harvests were made in some cases before crops had come into full maturity. Planting was not allowed to wait for suitable weather. Regions were worked too exhaustively, with consequent deterioration of soil. And, through no one's fault, drought played its inexorable part in cutting down returns.

Now new men have been put in charge. Doubtless they have profited by the mistakes of their predecessors. And conceivably they have learned something from the North American economies which, whatever their ideological faults in Russian eyes, still manage to produce good crops, practice good animal husbandry and maintain farm equipment to a degree that avoids much of the waste American farmers found on their Soviet visits.

Canvas Castle

ANY SUMMER CAMPER WHO has been disturbed by nocturnal visits of the local hoodlum fraternity while under canvas with his family will take satisfaction from the decision of the Appeal Court in a recent case.

A Burnaby longshoreman had been found guilty of common assault following an attack on his campsite near 100 Mile House which ended when he fired several rifle shots into the air. One of the youths in the marauding party received a wound in the neck. The Appeal Court reversed the decision on the ground that the camper's action was justified.

The widespread interest in the case is evident from the fact that anonymous persons donated funds for the appeal and a law firm gave its services free of charge.

This province is developing a fine system of camps as a major asset for residents and tourists; it advertises the pleasures of the hinterland as an attraction for hunters, fishermen and others. The healthful sport of family camping is becoming increasingly popular among British Columbians. It is all the more important, then, that any attempts by hoodlums in communities near campsites to conduct terror raids on vacationers should be halted by stern police measures that will carry a warning to all potential mischief-makers.

It is not recommended that campers retaliate with rifle fire, but the Appeal Court has done well to make it known that the law will see justification in a man's efforts to protect his family while in the wilderness.

Clean-Up Time!

FROM OTTAWA

By MAURICE WESTERN

Mr. Ouimet's 'Great Expectations'

THE TIMING of Mr. Alphonse Ouimet's latest address on the "great expectations" of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation may be attributed, no doubt, to sheer bad luck. While the CBC president was addressing his moving, if sometimes whimsical, appeal to a Montreal audience, Mr. Gordon was unveiling his massive main estimates for 1965-66. Estimated expenditures for the CBC are about 13 per cent higher than a year ago—up by $11,400,000. Mr. Ouimet, developing one of his favorite themes in his usual felicitous way, calculated that there had been 22 inquiries into the CBC in 29 years. It was his hope that the Fowler committee, picking up Mr. Fowler's recommendation of 1957, would grant the CBC a 10-year charter replacing periodic, ad hoc and unplanned investigations with decennial inquiries. The corporation, thus happily set free, would be able to get along with its "tightening up" and sundry other improvements which it cannot tackle nowadays for lack of time.

Western

"We have two other great expectations," Mr. Ouimet added; "long terms and reduced commercial exigencies; all for one purpose—to provide you with better service."

In the mood of whimsy which overcame him in the latter part of his speech, the CBC president shared with his audience an unusual dream in in which Mr. Walter Gordon, suddenly appearing, to him exclaimed: "A ten-year charter for the CBC? This is a wonderful idea. All we have to do is to develop a financial formula that will provide for the corporation's needs for the same 10-year period. This yearly vote business is taking too much of the time of my boys."

One would not wish to be unjust to Mr. Ouimet. It is possible, despite his professions, that the mood of merriment set in with his first paragraph. For the argument, if serious, is one to impose a considerable strain on the credulity of the tax-paying public.

The latest estimate for the CBC is $99,444,000 and one cannot exclude the possibility that the corporation, with any sort of luck, may be over the $100,000,000 for the first time in its history.

This betters, by over $7 millions, the estimate for citizenship and immigration. The latter, of course, comes before Parliament every year, and the minister, no doubt, has his share of pleasant sessions with treasury board and his colleague in finance. Unlike Mr. Ouimet, he must also face inquisitive members of Parliament every day.

The CBC will cost more than five times as much as defence production; at least $10 millions more than the two departments of fisheries and forestry combined; more, by approximately $7 millions, than three times the expenditure for industry; about $34 millions more than the department of justice; $43 millions more than for mines and technical services; about $31 millions more than the National Research Council; more than either national revenue or northern affairs; about $24 millions more than the RCMP; about $18 millions more than the vast department of trade and commerce; more than the Unemployment Insurance Commission and nearly three times the Atlantic Development Board.

All the ministers of all these departments must, of course, fight their estimates through year by year.

Not one of them has a 10-year charter or a 10-year financial formula or a 10-year holiday from unwelcome attention and questioning.

Parliament feels justified in probing and inquiring because the money to support the departments comes from the taxpayers. This is also true of the CBC. Mr. Ouimet, a wizard with statistics, can, indeed, show that the assessment works out to only 1¼ cents per day per person. But Mr. Laing or Mr. Nicholson could demonstrate that his department, by such an accounting, is even less of a burden and Mr. Hays that agriculture is very little more.

Member's Responsibility

A member of Parliament may have indifferent credentials (no better nor worse than those of most of his constituents) as a TV critic. But he does have an undoubted responsibility for safeguarding the public purse. He certainly has a right to know where the money is going and with what general results. It may occur to him that there is a glaring contradiction in Mr. Ouimet's latest presentation.

On the one hand the CBC president talks about a 10-year holiday from investigations, subject to the right of Parliament to set up a special inquiry at any time "should dissatisfaction arise for any reason." But, on the other, he clearly indicates that there is room for dissatisfaction now. Speaking of a recent survey, he says that in seven areas examined, "less than 30 per cent of all evening time was spent watching Canadian-produced programs, more than two-thirds, actually 68 per cent, of the viewing time was spent on U.S.-produced programs offered by the CBC, the private Canadian stations and, where available, U.S. stations."

Canadian Identity

After various reflections on this situation (including some unflattering reflections on private stations), Mr. Ouimet concludes: "I don't know what you think of all this, but to me it is an alarming situation. I just cannot see how we will ever manage to preserve our Canadian identity or ever solve the fundamental problems of Canada, which are first and above all problems of communications, if by far the most powerful means of communication we have, Canadian television is used so little for Canadian self-expression and so much to swell further the already overwhelming 'tidal wave of American cultural activity'—to use an expression coined by Mr. Fowler in his 1957 report on broadcasting."

This nightmare is Mr. Ouimet's. His concern may be justified or unjustified; his arguments about the shortcomings of private broadcasters or about the financial limitations of the CBC valid or invalid. The point is that if the president of the CBC deems it his duty to go about talking about alarming situations, Parliament can scarcely be criticized for asking searching questions. Unless Mr. Ouimet imagines that Mr. Fowler is a super-Canute who, with one last inquiry, can make the "tidal wave" recede and save us all from a cultural fate worse than death, it is impossible to see how, on his own premises, he can possibly expect Parliament to disengage itself for 10 happy years from the financial affairs of the CBC and what we get for these vast expenditures.

FROM WASHINGTON

By JOSEPH ALSOP

'A Rather Dangerous War'

ONE of the more wonderful Winston Churchill stories concerns the period, during the First World War, when the great man had been driven from office and was serving at the front as a colonel in the Guards. While at the front he received a parliamentary inspection party. The lawmakers no doubt expected to make the usual sort of First World War visit to the front, which got little further than a good luncheon at a chateau-headquarters behind the lines, with the popping of champagne corks punctuating the comfortably distant rumble of artillery.

Alsop

Instead, Churchill characteristically led his visitors into the foremost trenches and kept them there for hours, hungry and knee-deep in mud, under a heavy German barrage. Finally, one of the group could stand it no longer and asked his formidable escort whether it was not "rather dangerous" to stay so long in the front line under fire.

"Well, my dear fellow," Churchill replied, "you have to bear in mind that this is a rather dangerous war.'

The story is relevant in all situations when high hazards must be accepted to guard great national interests. It is particularly relevant at the moment, because the Chinese and the North Vietnamese have clearly launched a campaign to make the war in Viet Nam seem much more hazardous.

Conditional Threat

The facts are simple. A week ago, the North Vietnamese Communists' puppet government in the south, the so-called liberation front, broadcast a long, hectically phrased statement containing two points of some interest. First, negotiations were declared to be impossible at this time. Second, there was a conditional threat, as follows:

"If the U.S. imperialists continue to send their troops . . . into South Viet Nam . . . (we) will call on the world peoples to send troops . . . (we) will call on the South Vietnamese children who . . . were regrouped (to North Viet Nam in 1954) to return to take up weapons to exterminate the enemy."

In an obviously pre-concerted manner, the official "People's Daily" in Peking answered the Vietnamese statement the next day. The reply included a promise "to send our own men, whenever the South Vietnamese people want them."

Among the experts, the chances are considered to be very high that the Chinese Communists are again trying to use words as a substitute for actions. The conditions stated by the liberation front — "If the U.S. imperialists continue to send their troops" — probably reveals the real purpose of the two concerted outbursts.

The point is that a heavy increase of the North Vietnamese invasion by infiltration is threatening to upset the military balance in certain areas of South Viet Nam, especially the more accessible northern provinces. Meanwhile, the central reserve of the South Vietnamese armies is sadly inadequate, and building up a satisfactory central reserve will take much time.

The inadequacy of the reserve in turn means that the South Vietnamese high command may not have the resources to cope with a local emergency, such as can easily arise if the balance in one of the northern provinces is really decisively upset. If not promptly coped with, moreover a local emergency can become a nation-wide emergency.

Need for Reserves

This creates a possible need to strengthen the reserve by sending additional American ground forces in South Viet Nam—something like the infantry division whose Vietnamese mission was publicly reported but never confirmed. Whether such forces are really needed has not as yet been decided. But Communist strategy is plainly based on the belief that South Vietnamese reserves are vulnerably low and the resulting hope of Dien Bien Phu-like local victory.

Hence, the threat of a widened war "if" the Americans "continue to send their troops." The purpose, in short, is to deter such a decision.

It can be stated with full confidence, however, that President Johnson will not be deterred from sending anything necessary to South Viet Nam, including additional American ground forces, when and if the necessity has become clear. He has set his foot on a hard road, and he is not the sort to turn back.

This leaves the question, of course, whether the Chinese and North Vietnamese statements are not mere deterrent talk after all. There is always that possibility. Although this now seems a slender possibility, it is, therefore, worth noting that Chinese Communist intervention beyond their own borders will not be treated in the Korean manner There will be no "sanctuaries" this time.

Letters

Victoria and Selma

That blindfolded goddess, Justice, must have shivered a little bit this week. On the same day two stories appeared in Canadian newspapers.

One told of a magistrate in Selma, Alabama, who refused to let Negroes appearing before him say anything in their own defence and fined them without further ado.

The other told of events in the British Columbia legislature, when the head of the government's purchasing commission, George Jones, was fired without being told the reasons and refused the right to speak in his own defence, by Premier Bennett's government.—Veteran.

Speak Up

Your correspondent, Mrs. M. Louis, is only too right when she says in her letter of March 23 that it is high time that people everywhere should speak up loudly against the ruthlessness of the United States in Viet Nam, caught now in the toils of a catastrophe of her own making. Contrary to the Geneva agreement and the better judgment of the other great powers, the United States appointed herself a virtual dictator in South Viet Nam, prevented democratic elections, and supported one corrupt regime after another, steadily becoming more and more involved in a devil's brew from which she would, but cannot, extricate herself without losing face.—C. K. Morison, 2220 Windsor.

Honest, Too

On March 24, I had the misfortune to lose my purse at the Town and Country Shopping Centre. I would like to take this opportunity of thanking the person who found it and so kindly left it at the office of the Safeway store. Not only is Victoria a wonderful place to live but we can also boast that we have honest Victorians as well.—Grateful.

Speedway

Richardson Street has become the "Freeway of Victoria." Those who live along its route take their lives in their hands when attempting to back out of the driveways or to cross the street on foot. Several serious accidents have occurred at the intersection of Moss and Richardson, also St. Charles and Richardson, where there were stop signs in the past.

Let's put the stop signs back!—F. E.

Riders

It is unfortunate that the legislature has endorsed its proposal concerning compulsory helmets for motorcyclists. Since this issue in no way involves citizens other than motorcyclists, may I ask what right the state has to pass such a bill? Perhaps a campaign to encourage the use of safety wear would be in order, but to make its absence punishable by law shows incredible lack of foresight.

It is, of course, easy to claim discrimination against motorcycles, but two analogous cases do come to mind. Will protective clothing for horsemen and the use of seatbelts in all automobiles be made compulsory as well? I am inclined to doubt it.—Edward Curran.

Beguiling

Beguiling and overdrawn are the kindest words we can ascribe to Mr. James H. Gray's article "Lessons in Tourism" in the March 11 issue of the Victoria Daily Times.

In it, he describes his experiences in 12,000 miles of travel through nine provinces and 12 states, and contrasts unfavorably the handling of tourists in Canada. He concludes that unless drastic changes are made in facilities and service in Canada, new promotional efforts by the Canadian Government Travel Bureau will not accomplish much.

He has overlooked the fact that the Canadian tourist industry has grown tremendously in recent years, and this could not have happened with the kind of reception he claims to have had.

Dollar spending and numbers of U.S. visitors have almost doubled between 1958 and 1964, and this year, revenue from the USA is expected to exceed $600 million.

Continuing studies of U.S. visitors reveal that among the reasons prompting their visits to Canada, a prior visit ranked high; advice of friends and relatives was a close second to paid advertising.

These same studies show that 65 to 72 out of every 100 of those who vacationed in Canada have visited this country twice or more in the previous five years.

Only about four per cent of respondents to the most recent survey complained about prices, three per cent about food, three per cent about accommodation.

We have our share of less-than-standard facilities or service, and we believe Mr. Gray was unfortunate in his selection of places to visit in Canada and, perhaps, very lucky in his choices in the U.S.A.

Looking Back

From The Times of March 30, 1890.

A resolution urging the federal government to improve Victoria harbor was approved unanimously by members of the legislature. It was pointed out that the harbor was the sixth in size in Canada and that 585 ships with a tonnage of 558,678 used it last year. The harbor was becoming silted, which could be overcome at a nominal cost by dredging. The resolution asked the government to dredge, deepen and remove rocks at the harbor entrance.

Depression Over Viet Nam

OTTAWA—The failure of the Pearson-Martin team to get its Viet Nam cease-fire balloon off the ground and the failure of the four-day Gromyko-Stewart talks in London to get another Geneva conference going have left Ottawa deeply depressed.

For weeks Foreign Minister Martin had evaded opposition demands for a debate on Viet Nam, because he felt international negotiations were too delicate for him to make a frank and meaningful exposition of Canada's position and participation. But by Tuesday he was no longer opposed to a debate.

As he has reported to the Commons piecemeal, in response to questions, the United States has agreed "that if there was a cessation of the infiltration and other acts of a provocative character by the North, it would readily agree to a course different from the one which it now feels is in its interests, and in the interests of Asia and peace in that area generally."

Stripped of Mr. Martin's circumlocution and verbiage, this seems to mean that the U.S. would halt its air strikes against North Viet Nam. But, Mr. Martin also said, "There is no evidence that the government at Hanoi or the government of Communist China is prepared at this stage to agree to a truce which might lead to a negotiated settlement."

The government is now out on two or three limbs, and while this result was part of the calculated risk it took in trying to break the Viet Nam stalemate, it is none the less uncomfortable.

First, Canada has incurred the enmity of the Hanoi regime, and presumably that of Peking as well, by its courageous action in spade-calling the years of aggression by North Viet Nam, and placing responsibility for the war where it belongs.

So far as Canadian membership on the armistice commission is concerned this is probably not a serious matter, because the commission was a failure by the very fact that the North-South war resumed in the guise of a revolution in the South. It may have an adverse effect on Canadian wheat sales to China, but this remains to be seen.

Second, the almost painful reluctance of Mr. Martin to see any voilation of the 1954 armistice by the U.S. has nullified some of the effect of Canadian condemnation of North Viet Nam.

Third, the government's course has left the administration vulnerable to attack by its political foes—mainly the New Democrats—on the ground that Canadian policy on Viet Nam is "made in U.S.A." To this charge Prime Minister Pearson has given a flat denial.

There is no reason to doubt that the PM and Mr. Martin are fully as concerned over the Viet Nam threat to peace as the NDP's Mr. Douglas or the Conservatives' Mr. Diefenbaker. But for the moment the situation is static. The U.S. is gambling that it can bomb the North into a cessation of support for the Viet Cong guerrillas in the South. This seems a dubious gamble against the danger of the war's further escalation, but nobody has been able to produce an alternative that would not leave all southeast Asia prey to Chinese Communist aggression.

Those who condemn U.S. bombings and tear gas, and criticize the government here for not disavowing what the U.S. is doing, perhaps don't get the larger picture, or don't care to.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

'No Paseron'

AS is our custom at this season, Pat and I have made our genuflexions to the spirit of Mr. Wordsworth and have been to see 10,000 daffodils fluttering and dancing in the breeze at Beacon Hill Park.

Stott

"Lovely sight," I said to her, sweeping my arm toward the field rising to the flagpole.

"Magnificent," she agreed, and then with a stroke of pure originality added, "a host of golden daffodils."

"Poetic," I ventured.

"Thanks," she said. "Next time, can we come in daylight. The headlights only cut a swath through the blooms."

I agreed and we drove down to Clover Point to watch the submarine races.

We certainly will go back in daylight, and not just to view the daffodils. We'll want to look at the pansy beds, see how the primulas and wallflowers are coming along, listen to the redwing, see if the ducks have brought forth their families, wander under the flowering trees—and perhaps take a soapbox.

The last-mentioned is for a speech I feel coming on. It's entitled: "No more traffic arteries through Beacon Hill Park" and it excoriates anyone who wants to chisel away at or inside the boundaries of the place Herb Warren has made a joy forever.

There's nothing very new about my speech. It has been delivered often before, but never more effectively, to my way of thinking, than by Matthew Baillie Begbie in 1884.

The learned pioneer judge at that time heard an application by a citizen, Mr. Anderson, protesting a city council proposal to permit the B.C. Agricultural Society to set up buildings and facilities in Beacon Hill Park. By a technicality, the citizen had to solicit—and he received—consent of the attorney-general to institute his action.

The facts, as set out in the Begbie decision, are clear. The society wished to establish a fair ground. Chief Justice Begbie looked into the terms of the trust by which Beacon Hill became Victoria's park and said no. He also explained his reason for rejecting the scheme.

"The corporation (of Victoria) have no power whatever to convey away one inch of the park, which has been granted to them on express trusts, except upon and subject to those trusts," the chief justice declared.

He cites the responsibilities of the council to maintain the park "or pleasure ground in such a manner as may be most convenient and suitable for the enjoyment and recreation of the public."

"All establishments addressing themselves to profit as utility are, I think, excluded by the terms of the trust, except the profit and utility to be derived (and it is great) from open-air recreations, such as may be carried on in a public park or pleasure ground . . .," he continued.

Eighty years ago Chief Justice Begbie recognized the desirability of Beacon Hill Park as the site for a number of institutions and utilities. But he pointed out that the institutions and utilities he mentioned did not have as their objective "pure recreation."

The chief justice expressed regret over changes that had already occurred: "Whoever can, like myself, remember the ostensible and accepted dimensions of Beacon Hill Park 25 years ago, and observes the comparatively scanty dimensions to which it is now reduced, must feel some anxiety that at least this poor remainder shall be preserved intact . . .

"Residences," he said, "already exist on two-thirds of the landward sides of the park; and it may reasonably be expected, if the city maintains its present rate of progress, that the park will in a few years be completely enclosed by dwellings; and the neglect of a young city to provide open spaces for the supply of light and air to its maturer growth is one of the greatest sources of anxiety on sanitary grounds in many towns in England. The improvidence of earlier citizens is severely visited on and dearly redeemed by their children and successors."

So spoke Begbie four-score years ago. I'm prepared to stand by his statements today.

I have confidence enough in the city council to believe it will reject any further nibbling at the park's edges, any intrusion of commercial interests, or any sacrifice of area to a traffic artery.

Sure a roadway for rush-hour use would take away only a little bit of ground. That's all the first roadway in that area did. But a little bit and a little bit more can mount up, until the whole park is squeezed into the sea.

Take it from Matt, that's not what the original grant intended.

Zanzibar: The Stepping Stone For Communist China in Africa

The Associated Press

DAR ES SALAAM—The east wind sometimes brings the scent of cloves from offshore Zanzibar. In recent months, the cooling breeze has brought a figurative whiff of Communist China.

For the 9,000,000 blacks in Tanzania, life is much the same as it has been for decades. Little has changed other than an end of German, then British colonial rule.

But the nearby island of Zanzibar has become a stepping stone for Chinese penetration onto the African continent.

Just one month after Britain handed over independence to the Sultan of Zanzibar in December, 1963, about 600 insurgents swept through the island, ousting the sultan and setting up the People's Republic of Zanzibar. The Chinese promptly offered military and economic aid.

In the same month the armies of three East African territories revolted—Tanganyika, Uganda and Kenya. British troops were called in and put down the revolts. Later, Tanganyika's President Julius Nyerere entered into a union with the president of the People's Republic of Zanzibar, Sheik Abeid Karume, and Tanzania was born in October, 1964.

A slow but regular flow of Peking-trained advisers has made inroads into the African mainland territory of Tanzania since then—using Zanzibar as a springboard.

Chinese military personnel are training Nyerere's black army, which nearly toppled him from power. Communist technicians have gone inland as agricultural experts. A big slab of land on Dar es Salaam's waterfront has been acquired by the Peking government and residential buildings are being hastily erected to house more Red advisers. A massive wall obscures Chinese diplomatic buildings.

Nyerere recently returned from a visit to Peking, where he was feted. He told Tanzanians in a homecoming speech that it was unfair to accept aid from China where the masses were living so frugally. Yet he accepted close to $44,000,000 in loans and grants from Peking, in addition to military and economic aid in the form of advisers and equipment.

Drunk Driving Charge Hard to Beat In Finland

By LANCE KEYWORTH, Reuters

HELSINKI — Finland has some of the toughest drunk driving laws in Europe.

A conviction calls for a maximum sentence of three years in prison. If homicide is involved, it can bring a sentence of eight years.

But justice, at least for first offenders, generally is not so severe. A first offender is usually given a four-to-five-month sentence and loses his licence for two or three years.

It's almost impossible to beat a drunk driving rap under the present law. The police can make a blood test compulsory. And there is no statutory limit to the amount of alcohol that must be found in the blood.

The police only need to prove that they found a trace to win their case.

Hill Tribe Pacification Burmese Survival Key

By PETER BOOG, Associated Press Writer

RANGOON — A mailed-fist and velvet-glove campaign is underway to bring Burma's independent-minded minority tribes closer to the central government.

At stake, says one government minister, is "Burma's very existence."

The five minority states that help make up the Union of Burma—and which play a key role in the defense of Burmese borders—are the Chin, Kachin, Kayah, Shan and Karen regions.

The Chin Hills border India, and the Kachins share a 1,200-mile frontier with Communist China. The Kayahs face Laos, while the Shans and Karens are along the boundary with Thailand.

The states have had a turbulent history since Burma achieved its independence 18 years ago. Their jungles and uplands have been the scene of bitter fighting between government troops and rebel tribesmen seeking more autonomy from Rangoon.

U Nu's Downfall

Failure to bring these states into line and the resulting threat of secession was one major reasons for the overthrow of civilian Prime Minister U Nu by Gen. Ne Win in 1962.

Since then, Ne Win and his military-socialist government have focused attention on the states.

For over a year, an intensive army drive has been in progress to try to crush the rebels and the underground Communist guerrillas who support them and, in some cases, have infiltrated their ranks. The Reds are particularly strong in Shan, Kachin and Karen areas.

The rebels still pose a formidable force of more than 15,000, despite defections and surrenders under military pressure.

But lack of political cohesion among the tribal groups and a growing shortage of arms and ammunition have diminished their ability to fight.

Harassing Tactics

One military commander, explaining government strategy, says the aim is to avoid massive onslaughts which might win popular sympathy for the rebels, and concentrate instead on harrassing tactics, including swift thrusts against known rebel bases.

Once a rebel unit has been forced on the run, the commander says, mopping up operations are launched to keep the dissidents from re-grouping. The chief objective, he adds, is to break their morale.

Their strategy has paid off in the case of the Karens, whose so-called "Revolutionary Council" negotiated a peace treaty with the government last year and has since been working with central authorities in the development of the Karen state.

More successes are envisaged with the growing number of rebels who are giving up. The number of surrenders last year topped the 5,000 mark, with 1,255 more during the past two months alone.

Economic Program

Hand-in-hand with the military drive is an economic development program designed to convince the tribes that their future lies in co-operation with the government.

Short-term planning includes helping out farmers in the five states raises profit-making crops and find a market for them, giving out loans and technical assistance and building up village industries.

Doctors and teachers from lower Burma have been drafted for service in the hill states to improve education and medical facilities.

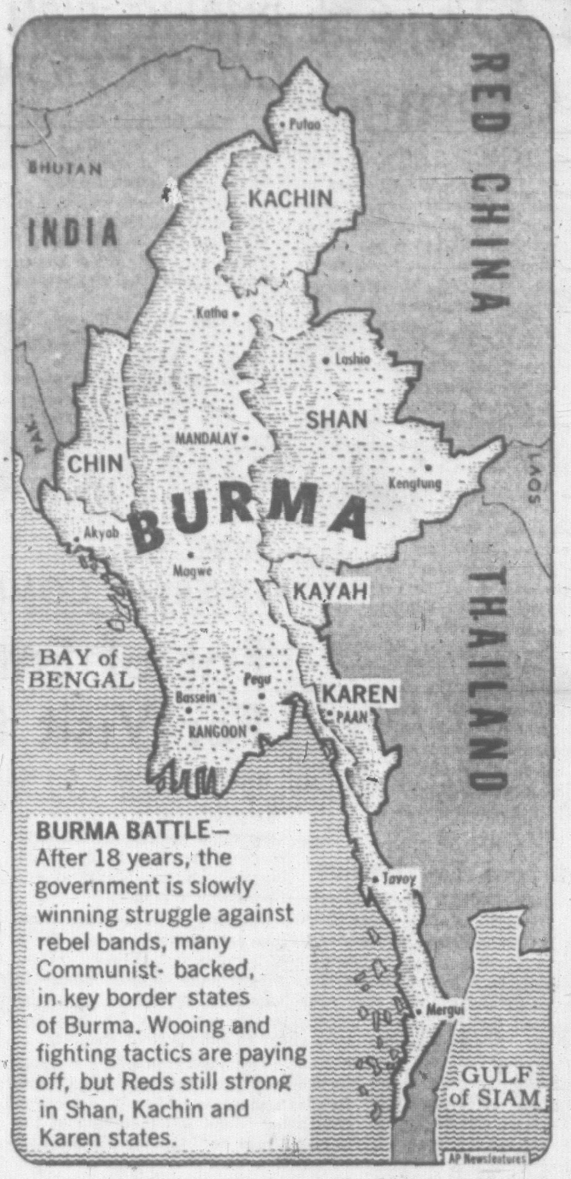
Long-range five-year plans are being charted for each state to tap known but hitherto untouched potential. Recent exploration in the Shan state revealed a region which has 34 million tons of high-grade mineral ores. Forest products, jade, precious stones and marble are among other possible sources of wealth for the tribes.

One government report claims that in five years, with mechanization, irrigation and scientific farming, agricultural output in the states could be doubled.

The government's efforts to win over the minority people were emphasized Feb. 12 during celebration of Union Day — marking the entry of the states into the union.

The government played up the occasion on a nationwide basis, with a mammoth seminar in Pa An, capital of the Karens, to discuss the relationship between Rangoon and the minorities.

Stress was laid on the progress made in economic development during the past year, with the obvious hint that more of the same is possible if the states co-operate.



BURMA BATTLE—After 18 years, the government is slowly winning struggle against rebel bands, many Communist- backed, in key border states of Burma. Wooing and fighting tactics are paying off, but Reds still strong in Shan, Kachin and Karen states.

Poison Gas Debate Over 300 Years Old

By JOSEPH McSWEEN, Canadian Press

LONDON—As far back as 1650 a European military writer stated that poison gas was suitable for Christians to use on infidels but hardly the thing for God-fearing folk to use on one another.

A glance at history shows that poison gas of one kind or another is as old as the ages. The 17th century writer, Siemienowiez, even drew a clear moral distinction between poison gas and tear gas.

His words anticipate to an amazing degree the current furore about the use of tear and vomiting gas, provided by the United States, and directed by South Vietnamese forces against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas in Southeast Asia.

Siemienowiez, who was lieutenant-general of the kingdom of Poland, goes into some detail about lethal gas. Then he speaks of "smoke clouds" and tear gas:—

Easy Conscience

"They can be employed more freely and with an easier conscience . . . seeing that they merely irritate the enemy and cause them annoyance by sending over them stinking clouds, unpleasant fumes, and artificial fogs, intolerable to the nose and to the brain, and also damaging to the eyes, because of their coarse and acrid qualities."

The fact that poison gas had been known for ages past did not lessen the horror when the Germans employed it for the first time on a massive scale 50 years ago in the Battle of Ypres, Canadian troops taking the brunt of the assault.

Universal aversion of this kind of warfare found voice following the war in the League of Nations which produced in June, 1925, a protocol against the use of poison gas. This was eventually ratified by all the major powers except, ironically enough, the United States, which had been a prime mover in the draft. The U.S. was moving into a period of isolation.

Ratification, however, did not prevent Mussolini's Italy from employing poison gas in the Ethiopian War and the Japanese also used it in guerrilla warfare against the Chinese in the late 1930s.

Reaffirm Stand

Communist China reaffirmed its allegiance to the protocol in 1952—a move perhaps inspired by propaganda motives, since it accused the U.S. of employing unlawful bacteriological weapons in the Korean war of that period.

Modern fears of gas would probably come with little surprise to Siemienowiez, the Polish sage of the 17th century, who wrote in his book The Great Art of Artillery that German warlords of ancient times had worked out a sort of agreement never to use "any globes containing poison . . . for the injury or slaughter of men."

"Siemienowiez endorsed this rule but added:

"Nevertheless it is right and reasonable and proper for the most pious Christian among us to use these devices not, indeed, against other Christians, but against Turks, Tartars and other infidels. . . ."

Wilson's 'Chickens' Cackling

AN EDITORIAL
In the Ottawa Journal

The 400 chickens being sent Prime Minister Wilson by an indignant farmer who feels he is being forced out of business are easier to handle than other chickens coming home to roost.

One of the largest, noisiest and rowdiest is the Labor Party policy on Viet Nam. In opposition, the Laborites loved to pluck feathers from the American eagle's tail. In power, Mr. Wilson has had to support American policy and this has cost him friends. The New Statesman, a voice of the left, complains that the Labor Government has shown "a marked antipathy to the language of idealism—which they spoke so freely in opposition—and a positive relish for the art of 'realpolitik.' . . .

The Economist adds this acid comment:

"All that is needed is for Wilson to find he must drop the Steel (nationalization) Bill, and the Left's cup of sorrow will almost be full."

Labor hopes of taking the Saffron Walden seat in a by-election were dashed; the Conservatives won again. Uneasy lies a government head with so many chickens cackling at the door of 10 Downing Street.

Nasser Flare-Up Symptom Of Deep-Seated Problems

By PATRICK SEALE
London Observer Service

BEIRUT — Has President Nasser reached the point of no return in his relations with the West? Does it still make sense to seek to "come to terms" with him? Is a reconciliation possible? These are, I think, legitimate questions to ask when pondering the causes of the violence and bitterness in President Nasser's recent speeches.

In recent weeks President Nasser's anger has been mainly directed against West Germany. He was provoked by a West German-Israeli arms agreement and by Bonn's subsequent decision to offer full diplomatic relations to Israel. But there are many aspects of crisis which seem artificial and contrived.

President Nasser has known about the arms deal for at least a year. The sum involved, about $80 million, is relatively small compared with the vast reparations payments West Germany has made to Israel over the past 13 years. The problem is, therefore, not exactly new. Bonn's decision to seek diplomatic relations with Israel was itself long anticipated.

It seems to me, then, that the causes of the crisis must be traced further back. The latest flare-up is only a symptom of a deep antagonism which goes far beyond the Palestine question. Nasser conceives of the West as his opponent not only in his conflict with Israel but over the whole range of his policies.

It is because some of these policies have been running into difficulties—difficulties which he attributes to Western hostility—that his reactions have been so violent. In my view, the murderous impasse in Yemen as well as Egypt's internal financial problems played their part in the timing and virulence of the present crisis.

But if Nasser has moved into a new phase of deadly conflict with the West—and I believe he has—this does not mean that he has become a Communist instrument. The whole point of his policy over the last decade is that he has sought to be independent from both camps. He just does not happen to consider the Communists a threat—and, in the short term, at least, he may well be right.

Communist powers have no bases in the Arab world; in no Arab country including Iraq and Syria—are the Communists today serious contenders for power. Nasser has always been puzzled by the Western bogey of a Communist menace. He has found his own Communists easy to handle: chastened by long prison terms, they have recently been released, ready to callaborate fully with his regime.

Meanwhile, the Soviet Union and its European allies have given him enormous help in strengthening his armed forces and in developing and industrializing his country.

His dealings with the West have not been so happy. On half-a-dozen fronts he is in daily hostile confrontation with it. Unlike the Communists, the West seems pledged to support Israel. It continues to man strongpoints and to exert political pressures in the Arab world—an area which he considers his natural sphere of influence. In a word, the West is a political and military rival in his own backyard. It props up his Arab opponents; it deliberately and physically checks the spread of his influence in such vital, oil-rich regions as the Persian Gulf; and, through intermediaries, it wages war against him in Yemen—or this is how he sees it.

Oil Firms Object To Zone Changes

Saanich council will be asked to approve revamping of existing commercial zoning subject to a number of details being worked out.

The recommendation came from a public hearing Monday night when the chief opposition came from a group representing the major oil companies of B.C.

The zoning changes would replace the present single zone with its list of possible uses with four levels of zoning designed to contain all commercial uses—local, commercial, gasoline stations, shopping centres and general commercial.

The changes are designed to provide realistic controls to attract and encourage proper commercial development.

W. H. Fraser of the Petroleum Industry Committee of Vancouver Board of Trade presented a brief criticizing application of the changes to gasoline stations.

He said proposed gas stations should determine their own size and that minimum site area requirements are unnecessary.

Municipal planner Tom Loney said this would give gas station developers a blank cheque to develop any site considered potentially valuable.

In addition, it would discriminate against other forms of commercial development subject to regulations.

Minimum areas for interior sites are planned for 12,000 square feet and for corner lots 16,800 square feet.

Mr. Fraser also wanted gas stations to be permitted in the shopping centre and general commercial zones.

Mr. Loney replied that gas stations would be permitted in shopping centres but not in general commercial.

To do this would open up many areas for gas station development, some of which were quite unsuitable and over none of which council would have any control.

Councillors agreed to leave the gas station section open for further discussion at later meetings.

Record Tax Evasion

MONTREAL (CP)—Charles Valiquette Monday was fined $150,000 and was sentenced to two months in jail in what investigators called the biggest case of tax evasion ever prosecuted by the federal government. Sessions Judge Marcel Gaboury imposed the sentence on Valiquette, 60, who pleaded guilty last Nov. 23 to 14 charges of failing to report $3,238,354 in taxable income to the federal government from 1947 to 1960.

PUBLIC FISH SALE CONVICTION STANDS

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Court of Appeal Monday dismissed an appeal of Stanley Karchaba, convicted in a lower court of operating a business without a city permit by selling fish to the public.

Karchaba was charged in July, 1963 when fishermen were selling fish to the public with the announced intention of giving some of the proceeds to striking members of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.) involved in a three-week strike against B.C. canneries in a contract dispute.

Court was told gross proceeds from the sale at the national harbors board's False Creek terminals here reached $10,000 in one day.

In his judgment dismissing the appeal, Mr. Justice H. A. Maclean said the sale was a commercial operation.

"The fact that part of the profits were to be paid later to persons not involved in the operation, or for purposes said to be purely charitable, which is debatable, is quite irrelevant.'

Mr. Justice Maclean ruled the city bylaw requiring a selling licence "fully applied even though the sales were conducted on national harbors board property."

ITINERARY COMPLETED

'Lot of Enthusiasm' For Visit to Quebec

Mayor R. B. Wilson and his band of British Columbia "Anglais" will see Quebec in May from the muddy St. Lawrence River and habitant villages to metro Montreal and Government House.

Five days in Quebec province for members of the Union of B.C. Municipalities and their wives will include stops in Montreal, Quebec City, Sherbrooke or Trois Rivieres and the model town of Esterel.

The visit represents chapter two of an inter-municipal relationship established in November when 300 members of the Union of Quebec Municipalities visited Victoria and Vancouver.

This time up to 200 UBCM delegates, their wives and senior civic officers from many parts of the province will fly to Vancouver May 12, prior to the annual meeting in Windsor of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

"Announcement of the impending visit has stirred a lot of enthusiasm, especially when first indications show that you will come in impressive numbers," wrote Marcel Lambert, executive director of QUM.

He sent Mayor Wilson, vice-president of UBCM and originator of last year's visit, a copy of an itinerary that provides for:

Sightseeing, six receptions, cocktails with the Quebec lieutenant-governor and with the mayor of Montreal, a visit to Expo 67 fair grounds, a bus trip along the St. Lawrence and a visit to a Laurentian resort.

Ample time for personal sightseeing and shopping is provided, as well as an opportunity for visitors to meet and dine with Quebec families.

Mayor Wilson telephoned QUM president Rosaire Gendron, mayor of Riviere-du Loup, Monday to arrange a personal visit and express how much British Columbians were looking forward to the journey.

The hosts appear as anxious to make the visit a memorable one in the exchange of east-west understanding. Jacques Belair, president of a Montreal travel agency, arranged the schedule.

Ont. MLAs Get $3,000 Pay Boost

TORONTO (UPI) — Ontario Premier John Robarts introduced a bill in the legislature Monday to raise the pay and allowances of the province's 108 members of parliament.

All members will get a $3,000 raise in pay, from $5,000 to $8,000 a year, under the bill.

Tax-free expense allowances will be increased to $4,000 a year for the 79 members from ridings outside of Toronto, and to $3,000 a year for those in Toronto. At present, expense allowances are $2,000 a year.

Robarts said members from outside Toronto need the extra $1,000 because of hotel and restaurant expenses.

Film Evening To Assist King Fund

Victoria Natural History Society will sponsor a film evening in aid of the Freeman (Skipper) King fund Friday at 8 p.m. in the Oak Bay Junior High School auditorium.

The award-winning wildlife film, Valley of the Swans, will be followed by the premiere showing of Eskimo Arctic.

W. A. Edwards' Eskimo Arctic, shown for the first time in B.C., was photographed during 1957 and 1958 while Mr. Edwards worked with the Department of of Northern Affairs and National Resources. It was taken in the Ungava and western Hudson Bay regions.

The film will describe facets of Eskimo life and Arctic wildlife such as the Eider ducks, the Baloga (white) whales and the snow geese.

Valley of the Swans won the Theodore Roosevelt award as best outdoor documentary of the year in 1964. Bernard Atkins shot the film in 1962-63 for the Department of Recreation and Conservation of the B.C. government.

Mr. Atkins, who will present the film along with biologists Glen Smith and Charles Guiget, has made 16 films for the government, eight of which have won awards.

BIRD SOUNDS

Following the films Mrs. Grace Bell of Victoria, who contributed bird sounds for Valley of the Swans, will give a short demonstration of equipment used by the Cornell University Ornithological Laboratory in New York.

There will be no admission charge for this evening of entertainment, but donations will be gratefully accepted for the Freeman F. King Scholarship Fund. The fund has a goal of $5,000, an amount that will support an annual $250 scholarship in some field of natural history at the University of Victoria.

STABILITY HERE: BONNER

The problems which faced Canada 100 years ago have changed somewhat but have not disappeared, it was suggested Monday by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

"Quebec still believes it is not entered fully into the Canadian economy.

"We are saying the same thing in B.C., but with a different accent," he told about 200 members of the Credit Granters' Association and the Canadian Consumer Credit Association.

"In B.C. we would like to be a part of Canada, as we are, but we earn our money differently."

Mr. Bonner said the bulk of the province's economy depends on international trade.

"The affluence of the Prairies depends upon the success of the wheat crop and ours depends on international trade.

"The affluence of the Prairies depends upon the success of the wheat crop and ours depends upon international trade.

"It is fair to say we are enjoying the security of an economy which our forbears predicted."

Mr. Bonner said there are still only five economic regions in Canada and "any province or economic region will have to work out their own problems."

He said in the last four years, while the Canadian economy has been undergoing a great expansion, we have achieved a period of stability.

"The result is we have almost accidentally achieved some sort of equilibrium in economic factors."

He said in B.C. there is a great deal of affluence from which the Canadian economy is deriving benefit.

Conflicting Opinions at Ottawa Gas Hearing

OTTAWA (CP) — Conflicting opinions on Canada's long-range natural gas needs for domestic use and export were put before the National Energy Board on Monday.

One witness included figures for export of Alberta gas to California until the year 1985, even though his company hasn't any such contract.

The hearing, which opened Monday and may continue for three weeks, is into applications by Alberta and Southern Gas Company Limited, Canadian-Montana Pipe Line Company and Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited to raise the amounts they now are licensed to export to the U.S.

Westcoast Transmission Company Limited of Vancouver is protesting the granting of further export rights to Alberta and Southern on grounds that Westcoast's natural market for British Columbia gas is the American west coast states.

Arthur Allyne, vice-president of Westcoast in charge of operations, said his company can supply its requirements of 5,177,000,000,000 cubic feet of gas to 1985 and still would have 100,000,000 cubic feet a day surplus.

But his requirement figure included the amount Alberta and Southern now is selling and hopes to sell to Pacific Gas and Electric for central and southern California. And it dropped out after 1977 the amounts Westcoast now is selling to the U.S. Pacific northwest.

ASKED FOR BASIS

R. A. MacKimmie, counsel for Alberta and Southern, asked Mr. Allyne what basis he had for presenting the board with such figures.

He replied that Westcoast has no assurance its contract for the Pacific northwest expiring in 1977 will be renewed. But he said Westcoast could fill the California requirement now being supplied by Alberta and Southern.

Earlier a letter was filed in which Pacific Gas and Electric said its interest was in buying Alberta gas from Alberta and Southern. If this supply was not available, Pacific Gas and Electric would look to American sources, not British Columbian.

Mr. MacKimmie asked Mr. Allyne whether he could picture the U.S. federal power commission granting a licence to Westcoast Transmission to cut off supplies to the Pacific northwest and start supplying California. Mr. Allyne did not reply.

Earlier in the day, G. W. Whidden, sales co-ordinator for Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, said his company needs 556,300,000,000 cubic feet of gas to fill its Canadian and American sales commitments.

He said his estimates were based on Trans-Canada's experience.

Arthur Patillo, counsel for Westcoast, asked whether they included estimates of the need generated by what he called "Quebec's quiet or not-so-quiet revolution." Mr. Whidden said he hadn't taken into account natural gas needs as expounded by politicians.

"I have seen nothing yet to indicate that further extension of natural gas in Quebec to that extent is feasible," he added.

GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prices moved narrowly today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange in dull trading attributed to the traditional lull preceding the opening of Great Lake navigation.

There was some comercial interest in oilseeds, with occasional price rallies. Rapeseed eased near the close, influenced by declines in Chicago soybeans.

The Globe and Mail
REPORT ON BUSINESS
TORONTO, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1965

5-YEAR PEAK IN PROFIT SET BY STUDEBAKER

Studebaker Corp. of South Bend, Ind., yesterday reported a profit of $8,640,934 for 1964, highest in five years. The company had a loss of $16,926,732 in 1963.

The profit increase came despite a sharp drop in sales to $261,755,634 from $403,314,089 a year earlier.

(Earlier this week Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd. said its 1964 net profit fell to $7,400,000 from $24,400,000 in 1963 though sales rose to $918,000,000 from $797,300,000.)

Studebaker said its fourth quarter profits at $2,417,454 were the highest of any quarter in the year with a loss of $7,094,597 in the corresponding 1963 quarter.

The company moved its auto manufacturing division from South Bend to Hamilton in December, 1963.

Byers A. Burlingame, president, credited profits this year to the ending of automotive division losses and to profits in 10 other divisions. He said the company plans to broaden its product line and seek additional acquisitions in hard goods and manufacturing. Studebaker makes home appliances, commercial refrigerators, generators, small tractors and auto engine additives.

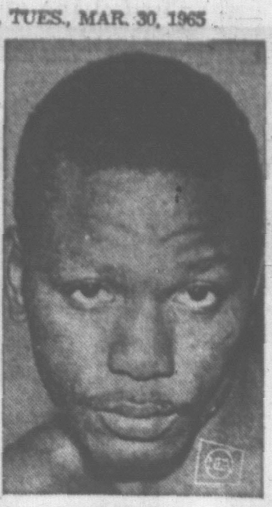
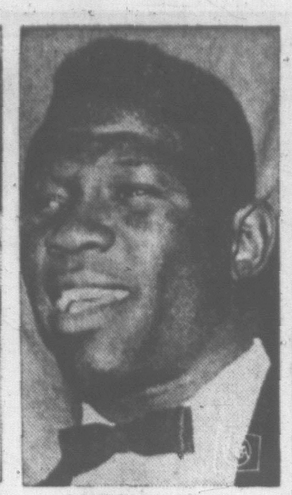
JOSE TORRES



JOSE STABLE

WILLIE PASTRANO



EMILE GRIFFITH

SELLOUT EXPECTED . . . . . . FOR FISTIC DOUBLEHEADER

Verbal Jabs Add to Interest

NEW YORK (AP)—If boxing championships changed hands through the force of words rather than fists, welterweight champion Emile Griffith and light-heavy king Willie Pastrano would have reason to be a little shaky in their double title defence tonight at Madison Square Garden.

"He (Griffith) has what I want, and it's up to me to get it," says Jose Stable, 24, a Cuban-born New Yorker.

"I'm going to knock out Pastrano somewhere between the seventh and 10th rounds," booms Jose Torres, a Puerto Rican born New Yorker.

Despite these words Griffith and Pastrano remain the betting favorites.

Griffith, who has been in 10 previous title fights and has won the welterweight crown three times, is an 11-5 pick over Stable in the first fight, starting at 9:30 p.m. EST.

SHOWS FEW MARKS

Pastrano, 29, hardly marked from 13½ years of fighting, is 6-5—over Torres.

If the first fight goes the limit, the second one won't start before around 10:45 p.m. and the expected sellout crowd of 18,400, paying a possible record $250,000, may not leave until well after midnight.

The previous record gate at the Garden was $216,497, paid by 18,194 for the Joe Louis-Jersey Joe Walcott heavyweight battle Dec. 5, 1947.

The two 15-round bouts will be seen on closed-circuit television at 86 locations throughout the United States and Canada. This will swell the proceeds, from which Pastrano is guaranteed $100,000, Griffith $70,000 and the challengers $10,000 each.

Each of the champions may get more. Pastrano is entitled to 30 per cent and Griffith to 25 per cent of the receipts, if the figures are larger than the guarantees.

WILLIE IS CONFIDENT

Pastrano is confident because he is sure that Torres can't knock him out.

"I know I can outbox him and I've got a better chin," Pastrano says.

The only time Willie was stopped was in London six years ago when Brian London, British heavyweight, cut him up so badly the fight had to be stopped. Pastrano never has been floored. He's won 63 fights, lost 12 and drawn eight.

Torres, 28, has stopped 25 opponents in winning 34 fights, dawing one and losing one—the loss to Florentino Fernandez in 1963. He kayoed Bobo Olson in the Garden last Nov. 27.

Stable, with quick hands and feet, has lost only two bouts while winning 25 and drawing one. Griffith's record includes 43 victories, five defeats and 16 knockouts. He's been stopped once.

LOOKS AT SPORTS

A myth is as good as a mile . . .

Myth: That daddies can have as much fun as the children they take to a public skating session.

Fact: At 10 a.m. Saturday was advised by seven-year-old that we were going skating.

We?

"Yes," she said, sweetly. "You, me and the other little kids." (The other little kids are six, five and three).

The family that skates together, stays together. And falls together.

We arrived at Esquimalt's pond at 10:15. Lots of time to get on the ice by starting time, 10:30.

We took the ice at 11:07.

No small child can tie up his/her skates but when it comes to putting knots in their laces the last time they went skating they all have muscles like Bill Shvetz.

To get skates for a five-year-old is lots of fun. Esquimalt believes people are honest except when they are not. Borrowers are required to list name, address, telephone, employer, color of eyes, amount of mortgage owing, last time took a bath, and other pertinent data. Plus 35 cents.

Scholar's Thesis: 'Bathrooms I Know'

Took one turn on ice and was summoned by flock.

"When do we eat?"

Told them we have given up eating for Lent. Potential Rhodes Scholar, aged 5, wasn't buying. "Cut the comedy," he said. "They got those potato things in bags."

Tried buying one bag. Got dirty look from concessionaire and loud arguments from you-know-whom. Sprang for everybody. Made mental note to invest in potato-chip stock.

Went back to ice. Almost found it under popcorn, chips, chiclets, candy-bar wrappers. Naturally couldn't undertake triple Salchow.

Carrying one and holding on to two other moppets, suddenly lost balance. Executed never-before-seen Salchow. Kids enjoyed it. "Boy," said one, looking at developing nob on my head, "that's a gooder one."

Counted heads. One missing. By instinct and experience found him. Twenty years from now will be reading his thesis: "Bathrooms I Have Visited. Often."

Back on ice. All laces checked, tightened. Stomachs stuffed. All bathrooms inspected. Some two or three times. All set for splendid session.

Voice on PA: "Thank you for your patronage. And will you please clear the . . . ."

Joe (Hardly) Another Father Bauer

Myth: A superior soccer team, with the wind at its back, will demolish an inferior team by half-time.

Fact: Victoria United stands with the upper crust in the Pacific Coast Soccer League. Abetted by a brisk hurricane they led University of B.C. 1-0 at teatime Saturday at Royal Athletic.

Apart from their lone hit, herewith United's misses: Bert Soutar flubbed a header. Dunc McCaig hit the cross-bar. Russ Ball drove wide. So did Bill Hamilton. McCaig past the post. Soutar had the UBC goalie cringing, dispatched a sick dribbler at him. Ball's header rapped the bar. UBC goalie looked like accident waiting for place to happen.

In second half, UBC had wind behind them and nothing else.

Wondered if they wrote "Dear Hal" letter to get in league. Asked Ginger Pickburn, who invented soccer.

"They had a park," Mr. Pickburn said. "Anybody with a park has a good chance. Vancouver used to have parks but they are turning them into subdivisions.

"You know how important parks are? Look at the schedule.

"Victoria plays three games at home, one away. Besides, Joe Johnson had an idea. (Mr. Johnson is the coach emeritus of UBC, a former Ranger with a lot of mileage). Joe read that Canada was committed to send a soccer team to the Pan-Am and Olympic Games.

"Joe thought he would be another Father Bauer. You know, use the UBC team as the nucleus for the Canadian national team. Hah!"

Washing Your Feet With Socks On . . .

Mr. Pickburn's "hah" means, freely translated, that he doesn't think the core of the UBC team would master Milan or bruise Brazil or humble Hungary. What Mr. Pickburn was saying was don't bet too much on Canada.

Asked Frank Greely if he was worried that UBC might fumble a goal in the second half.

"I was scared stiff," he said. "But they didn't get a bounce and we got the two points, same as if we had won 8-0."

Technically, Mr. Greely was correct. But a 1-0 win over UBC, three wins in 19 starts, is like washing your feet with socks on . . . wet but messy.

Myth: Sporting columnists make a fortune gamboling on their choices. They drive Caddies and yachts by using inside information to fleece suckers.

Fact: Visited Derek Carrigan's apothecary shoppe late Saturday to purchase some 10-cent cigars the proprietor was offering on sale at two for a quarter.

"Ah, the expert," said Mons. Carrigan.

"Bet you the Victoria Maple Leafs do no better than split with Vancouver."

"Sure," said sporting author. "Would you like to write the cheque now or later?"

Rx for Success—Locate a Sucker

"How about a little wager on Toronto-Detroit? You take Detroit." (On home ice Toronto kills people.)

"You're on," said Mr. Carrigan. "But how about giving me odds? You experts are always taking crumbs out of the mouths of children. My children." He made a strong case . . . watery eyes, handkerchief poised.

No dice. When you find a sucker, don't get soft.

Well (sob), the Leafs split and Toronto (sob, sob) played like the Moosomin Midgets. Mr. Carrigan will get his. The medicine chest has been checked. There's a whole batch of unused pills there, crying for refunds.

He'll get them all.

Except for the headache tablets.

AL MILLAR

MILLAR HIT

Leafs Appeal Fine

Victoria Maple Leaf coach Rudy Pilous will appeal a $100 fine slapped on his goalkeeper by the Western Hockey League.

Announcement of the fine against Al Millar was made in Seattle at the weekend by league president Al Leader.

Leader said the fine was levied because Millar "made obscene gestures to Seattle fans." Leader also reprimanded the Victoria goalkeper for leaving the ice at the end of the third period "without authorization" and for "knocking the goal net loose" during Victoria's 3-3 overtime tie with Seattle Totems last Friday.

LIGHTS FAIL

Millar twice dislodged the nets when lighting failed in Seattle's Coliseum but the referee refused to stop play.

Pilous expressed displeasure at the fine Monday and said he "would appeal."

"Al didn't make any obscene gestures. Sure, he was angry! But all he did was point up at the lights . . . nothing more.

"If I can do or say anything about it, he won't pay that fine."

Monday was a day of displeasure for Pilous. The Leaf pilot learned that Tulsa Oilers of the Central Professional League have called up junior Dave Parenteau for a five-game trial.

ON VICTORIA LIST

Parenteau, scoring champion of the Saskatchewan Junior League, was on the Leafs' list of players eligible for WHL playoffs.

"Tulsa didn't ask us," said manager Buck Houle. "We're going to find out what's going on. . ."

The Leafs and Seattle open their best-of-seven WHL semifinal series Wednesday in Seattle. Second game will also be played in Seattle Friday and then the teams move to Victoria's Memorial Arena for games Saturday and next Thursday.

Tulsa Faces Omaha Squad

DETROIT (CP)—The Central Professional Hockey League has announced the playoff schedule for its top four teams will begin Wednesday.

First-place St. Paul Rangers will open their best-of-seven series at home against third-place Minneapolis Bruins and second-place Omaha Knights will tangle with Tulsa Oilers in Omaha.

All games in the St. Paul-Minneapolis series will be played in St. Paul because of an ice show in the Minneapolis Auditorium.

The Tulsa-Omaha series will switch to Tulsa after the second game. If more than four games are necessary, the teams will alternate as home club.

Bruin Boss Holds Off On Boston's Shakeup

BOSTON (AP)—The expected Boston Bruins' front-office shakeup won't happen at least until next week.

That's the word today from Weston Adams, chairman of the board of the National Hockey League club which has finished in last place for five straight years and been out of the Stanley Cup playoffs for six.

Adams has spoken of a possible executive shuffle. And he has offered a job to Hap Emms, part owner of the Niagara Falls, Ont., junior "A" Flyers, about a coaching post.

Big Leagues Seeking Czar With 'Image'

BELLFAIR, Fla. (AP)—The next commissioner of U.S. baseball will not necessarily be a baseball man.

The successor to Ford Frick will be under 55 years with a background in law.

Foremost among his duties will be to give the sport an excellent public image.

This appeared to be the picture today of the next baseball czar as painted by the newly appointed co-chairmen of the screening committee for the election of a new commissioner, club presidents John Galbraith of Pittsburgh Pirates and John Fetzer of Detroit Tigers.

FOUR PASS

Sixteen of the 20 club owners have submitted their recommendations. The four not making recommendations to joint sessions of the major leagues Monday were Pittsburgh, Detroit, Milwaukee and Los Angeles Dodgers.

The envelopes, containing an estimated 100 names, will not be opened for about another 10 days.

"It will be our job to . . . trim the list down to about 15 or 20 names," said Galbraith. "The owners will meet again in May, at which time we hope to cut the list down to about five or six top candidates."

Galbraith, in answer to a question, said he thought the next commissioner should have experience as a judge. Fetzer agreed.

REPUTATION NEEDED

"We want a man with some general knowledge of good public relations, a good baseball image, judicial background and a reputation of national scope," said Fetzer.

"I am totally openminded whether he is a man in or out of baseball," Fetzer added. "Nobody is disqualified on the basis of his past history of profession. Actually, a baseball background is not essential but could be advantageous."

Both Fetzer and Galbraith agreed that a candidate, no matter how strong his other qualifications, would be ruled ineligible if he were past 60 years of age.

The commissioner's term is seven years. In general, the owners appear to want the next commissioner to remain in office for at least two terms.

Frick, who announced he would retire next fall, has agreee to serve until Oct. 31. He will be 70 Dec. 19.

THE TRUE STORY . . . . . . ABOUT AUSSIE GIRLS

[redacted] [redacted] [redacted] [redacted]

MELBOURNE (AP) — A controversial report that resulted in four Australian girls, including Dawn Fraser, being expelled from swimming has been released in censored form.

Almost two pages have been cut out of the report, which has been kept secret for a month.

The report was made by William Slade, manager of the Australian Olympic swimming team to the Amateur Swimming Union of Australia Feb. 27.

Because of the report Olympic champion Dawn Fraser was banned from amateur swimming for 10 years, Linda McGill for four and Marlene Dayman and Nan Duncan for three.

It is understood only 11 uncensored copies of the report are in existence.

Meanwhile, it was announced Monday that Miss Dayman intends to take her case to the highest authority. Her lawyers announced she will appeal to the International Swimming Federation.

GOLFERS DON'T DIE . . .

He didn't really expect to play, but there was nothing faked about the snow cover. St. Paul had 10.6 inches of snow on the weekend, bringing the March total to 37 inches. Yanks Get Call But There Are Question Marks

Associated Press

The 1965 American League baseball season opens April 12 with New York Yankees favored—by little more than their margin of victory last year—to capture an unprecedented sixth straight pennant.

The Yankees rushed past Baltimore and Chicago in the final month of the 1964 campaign and clinched the flag on the next-to-last day, finishing one game ahead of the White Sox.

Chicago, under manager Al Lopez, hopes to make up that single length this year against a Yankee club with a new pilot, Johnny Keane, and the same old question marks — Mickey Mantle's legs, Whitey Ford's left arm and secondary pitching.

The Orioles, led by 1964 Most Valuable Player Brooks Robinson, appear to have the balance, Detroit Tigers and Minnesota Twins the power to challenge New York's five-year reign.

Cleveland, recharged by the return of Rocky Colavito and the addition of Chuck Hinton, and Los Angeles Angels, with an impressive young pitching corps headed by Cy Young award-winning Dean Chance, also are expected to be factors.

Al Lopez Has Pitching and Power

Boston, Washington and Kansas City, though somewhat strengthened through winter trades, seem destined to bring up the rear again.

The Yankees' regular line-up appears solid—wherever Mantle plays, so long as he plays—and so does the front-line pitching if Ford is sound after his operation.

If Ford falters, however, Keane will have to seek help from a mediocre bullpen. If neither Ford nor Mantle hold up physically, Chicago's Lopez may make good on his annual prediction—"the Yankees can be taken this year"—for the first time since his White Sox turned the trick in 1959.

Lopez' current hopes ride on a pitching staff considered the best in the league and the added power supplied by Bill Skowron and John Romano, neither of whom was with the club last spring.

Baltimore, with Robinson anchoring a solid infield and Boog Powell powering the attack, can improve on its third-place finish if 19-game winner Wally Bunker beats the sophomore jinx and left-hander Steve Barber comes back after an off-season.

Detroit has an outstanding outfield in Al Kaline, Don Demeter and Gates Brown and a top-flight catcher in Bill Freehan. But the pitching is shallow after starters Dave Wickersham and Mickey Lolich.

Birdie Wants to Play All Four

Minnesota has awesome power and Bob Allison's return to the outfield should improve the Twins' defence. A second baseman who can hit and a relief pitcher would help, too.

Cleveland manager Birdie Tebbets has been trying to figure a way to keep outfielders Colavito, Hinton, Leon Wagner and Vic Davalillo in the line-up at the same time. If former Yankee Ralph Terry can bolster a so-so pitching staff, the Indians will be dangerous.

The Angels have a fine double play combination in shortstop Jim Fregosi—who can hit—and second baseman Bobby Knoop—who didn't hit last year—and they have Chance.

Boston traded its power hitter, Dick Stuart, for pitcher Dennis Bennett, who has a history of arm trouble. Red Sox are counting on pitcher Bill Monbouquette and outfielder Carl Yastrzemski to come back after poor seasons.

Mikita Earns $1,500

MONTREAL (CP)—Stan Mikita, Chicago Black Hawk centre, is the sixth player in National Hockey League history to win the scoring title two straight seasons.

Official NHL statistics released today give Mikita 87 points including 59 assists, the most ever picked up in regular-season play.

Mikita won $1,000 for finishing first and $250 for his runner-up position in second-half point-collecting. He also collected $250 as runner-up in the first half.

Mikita and Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings each had 47 points in the second half but Howe won $500 as second-half leader because he scored 20 goals in the half to Mikita's 16. Howe finished third with 76 points.

ULLMAN GETS $500

Norm Ullman of Detroit finished second in over-all scoring with 83 points, including his league-leading 42 goals, to win $500.

Bobby Hull of Chicago, who won $500 as first-half leader, finished fourth with 71 points.

Toronto Maple Leaf teammate Johnny Bower is expected to share in the $1,000 prize money. Sawchuk played 36 of Toronto's games to 34 for Bower who clinched the trophy personally by shutting out Red Wings 4-0 in Detroit Sunday.

SHUTOUT LEADER

Roger Crozier, Detroit goalie, was second and won $500. He also led the league in shutouts with six.

Detroit won the NHL championships last Thursday and will receive 18 units of prize money each amounting to $2,250.

Montreal Canadiens receive 18 units of $1,250 for finishing second, Chicago Black Hawks 18 units of $750 for finishing third and Toronto 18 units of $250 for finishing fourth.

Detroit ended the 70-game schedule with 87 points, Montreal with 83, Chicago 76 and Toronto 74. New York was fifth with 52 points, four more than the tail-end Boston Bruins.

SETS PENALTY RECORD

Detroit also set a record for most penalty minutes by a team in regular season play with a total of 1,121. The old mark of 1,116 was set last season by Chicago.

Toronto defenceman Carl Brewer was the most penalized player with 177 minutes, a Maple Leaf record.

Black Hawk Pierre Pilote set a record for most points by a defenceman with a total of 59 which gave him eighth place in the individual scoring parade.

Carnage Missing From Aintree Run

AINTREE, England (Reuters)—No bad accidents marred what may have been the last running of the Grand National considered the world's toughest steeplechase, on the famed Aintree course.

Only 14 horses out of a field of 47 starters finished the gruelling four-mile, 856-yard course, but no mount had to be destroyed and all five jockeys taken to hospital with minor injuries were released after treatment.

The race was won by U.S.-owned Jay Trump.

The owner of the present Aintree course wants to sell it for a housing development. However, a former owner has obtained a court injunction temporarily halting the sale.

For years, there has been an annual clamor for the giant jumps, which upset many horses and riders, to be reduced in size.

The year 1959 provided the enemies of Aintree with their field day. Out of a field of 34 horses, only four finished and two of those that fell had to be destroyed. No jockeys were seriously injured, but scenes of apparent carnage showing the pile-up at one jump were splashed across newspaper pages and added fuel to the abolitionists' fire.

Last year, 15 of 33 finished and, although no horses among the fallers had to be destroyed, Paddy Farrell on Border Flight broke his spine and was told he would never walk again. He is still in a wheelchair.

Irving Takes Squash Title

The idea that a game of squash takes about 40 minutes to play was soundly squashed Monday by Hugh Irving and Bill Bloomberg.

BRAWLING SEMIFINAL

War Correspondents Called to Cup Replay

LONDON (Reuters)—The British sporting press has reacted strongly to last Saturday's Football Association (soccer) Cup semifinal clash between Manchester United and Leeds United, which produced no goals but many brawls.

Danny Blanchflower, the former Irish international, says in The Sunday Express: "If the replay is going to be anything like this, then the match should be reported by a war correspondent."

The teams are to replay on Nottingham Forest's ground Wednesday evening. The winners meet Liverpool in the final at Wembley May 1.

The Sun's soccer writer, Steve Richards, describes the match as "the most despicable semi-final since the war. There was kicking, butting, spitting, punching and shirt-ripping."

"Play b-a-a- -l-l!"

That cry will soon be ringing out over Greater Victoria baseball diamonds, a harbinger of spring along with daffodils, pretty girls in wind-blown skirts and lawns needing a haircut.

Out of the woodwork they will come this week, the neophytes and the old guard, smacking hands into baseball gloves and shaking off winter's legs under the careful eyes of benevolent and some non-so-benevolent coaches.

Cosmopolitan Babe Ruth League will be the first to sign up embryo Whitey Fords and Mickey Mantles. The Cosmos will have forms ready Thursday at University campus park from 6 to 8 p.m.

Seven other leagues, ranging from Victoria Senior to Carnarvon Pony, call the roll Friday and keep calling through to Sunday.

Layritz Pony League plans a Saturday-Sunday registration.

There isn't much a ball player needs. Glove, spikes, birth certificate and $3 registration fee gets the job done.

Here's the lineup:

All registration times are the same except where noted:
Friday, 6:30 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.
Saturday, 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.
Sunday, 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

NEGRO TREATMENT PROTESTED IN UVIC'S PETITION TO LBJ

A petition of 243 names to President Lyndon Johnson from University of Victoria students protests racial discrimination in the United States.

The protest against "the denial of fundamental human rights to Negroes in Alabama" is supported by the Student's Council.

The petition was circulated by Stephen Lesser, a University of Victoria political science professor, and Eleanor Colwell, a third-year sociology student.

HOWARD CHARGES:

Senior Officials 'Useless Clods'

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — People in senior government positions who deal with Indian affairs are "useless clods," a B.C. member charged in the Commons Monday.

Frank Howard (NDP—Skeena) made his comment in the course of a strong criticism of a move by Citizenship and Immigration Minister Jack Nicholson to set up an interdeparmental committee on Indian hunting rights.

The committee will conduct a comparative study of promises contained in Indian treaties and surrenders and current laws respecting the hunting of game and fish by Indians.

Howard complained bitterly that the government should have made a declaration of policy protecting the hunting and fishing rights of the Indian people instead of setting up a committee of bureaucrats.

"Where," he asked, "in this whole complex study proposed by the government is provision made for anybody who will represent the Indian people?

"Where on this interdepartmental committee is anybody who knows anything about Indian affairs?

"Certainly in my experience of dealing with people in the civil service who handle Indian affairs, I have met nobody in that particular department or in the various other departments involved who has any sincere desire to help the Indian people—nobody in a position of responsibility.

PRIVILEGED POSITION

Howard said he knew he could be accused of making comments about poor, defenceless civil servants from his privileged position in the Commons.

"But I'm prepared to make them outside the House," he said. "because, by and large, the people in senior positions who deal in Indian affairs are useless clods."

Nicholson's announcement of the formation of the inter-departmental committee followed the decision by B.C. Court of appeal Judge T. G. Norris Friday that a royal proclamation of 1763 ensures today's Indians the right to hunt game on crown lands out of season.

The test case decided by the B.C. Court of Appeal is now expected to be taken to the Supreme Court of Canada by the B.C. government.

Nicholson said the civil service committee would be composed of officials of the departments of citizenship and immigration, external affairs, fisheries, justice, northern affairs and RCMP.

He said the committee will:

- Determine the nature and extent of discrepancies and inconsistencies between Indian treaty rights and current laws and regulations.
- Suggest legislative action required to see that the commitments originally entered into by King George III are maintained.
- Assess and report on the effect of such legislation in terms of fish and game management generally and the continental supply of migratory waterfowl particularly.

Gene Rheaume (PC—Northwest Territories) preceded New Democrat Howard in his criticism of the proposed committee.

"INDIANS JUSTIFIED"

"Until such time as the government gets on with its Indian claims commission," he said, "the Indians are justified in believing that this government has betrayed them and has given them nothing but words.

"They have been used to this kind of treatment from the white man for more than 100 years now."

Nicholson said legislation for the formation of the Indian claims commission would be introduced at the next session of Parliament, but the commission could take as long as 15 years to complete its study.

Scientists 'Betraying' Language

PARIS (AP) — President de Gaulle has strongly criticized French scientists for not using French in international meetings.

The president said in a letter to the Academy of Sciences:

"It is deplorable that the French language, which is so remarkably adapted through its clarity and precision of expression to scientific thought, is being too often betrayed by those who have a major responsibility to inspire its usage.

"It is, in fact, in the national interest for professors and technicians to inspire for the usage of our language the same respect which French science attracts to itself."

De Gaulle's letter was in response to action taken recently by the academy urging French representatives to international scientific congresses to always use their own languages in speeches from the floor and in official conversations.

Arthur Mayse

Well!

Back again.

It's been a long time—better than two months, in fact—since I fed copy paper into this docile typewriter, slugged it 'Mayse . . . Tuesday column . . .' and settled comfortably to work.

My hasty Monday visits, I don't count. Those were just to keep a foot in the door until our provincial legislature had wound up its string, and I could come home to this page.

So now for a casual ramble in the course of which we might pause for a look at the islet a few hundred yards off Oak Bay which appears on the charts as 'Mary Todd'.

As far as most of us who ply those close-to-home waters are concerned, however, the rocky, treeless little Island is going to retain its proper longshore name.

'Jimmy Chicken', we call it, following the lead of oldtimers who remember how and why it acquired so intriguing a title.

There was once, I've been told by men who as boys caught many a salmon around that rugged nubbin, a not entirely reputable character who spent part of his year smallboat fishing off the Chathams, and the remainder camped on Oak Bay's closest-in island.

He was a gentle soul, always ready to teach a boy how to rig a trolling line, but he did have one minor weakness. This was a fondness for other peoples' chickens; and according to legend, his hen-snatching ability was such that he once lifted a fowl out of a pot on a kitchen stove.

"Jimmy Chicken" folks called him. His name passed to the island where he made his leanto camps, and even though the charts state otherwise, there it will remain.

I hope so, anyway!

Life was simpler back then, when the 12-hour day was standard, and nobody had heard or even dreamed of a little horror of a word called automation.

Even so, Victoria's world wasn't standing still, and in a 1901 newspaper sent me by dental surgeon Stan Miles, the old and the new are locked in mortal combat.

'Lights that Light!' Victoria Gas Company advertised; while a few inches distant, B.C. Electric Railway Company called attention to its new-fangled product with, "Light that is Right!"

What I am trying to make plain in a lazy, sneaky kind of way, is that man in his questing is never long content with what he has. The gas company lost, electricity triumphed. Horse and buggy were ousted by the assembly-line automobile. Today we have the machine that does the work of hundreds of hands with inhuman speed and precision.

No use to smash the machines. They're here to stay. More sensibly, we might have a try at restoring the presently unequal balance between the scientist and the humanist.

My quarrel with the scientist is that too often he has no concern with where the human chips may fall. Your humanist does care; and if we escape becoming a robot race within the next century, we will have him and his kind to thank.

What he can do for us is teach us to live with, and in spite of, the machines in the new world of leisure which is no idle promise.

I'm all for more philosophers along with the space-busters.

I think it's high time the professor of English got his place in the sun with the nuclear physicist.

I despise the so-called university which glorifies the researcher while scamping its students of a true education.

This is heresy, I know, and we have strayed a far remove from Jimmy Chicken Island. But what signifies the mechanical brain that cuts the 40-hour work week by half if it also reduces man's humanity?

Stuart Schoberg

SEARCH PRESSED FOR BODY

Friends of the family, fishermen and Tofino and Ucluelet RCMP police today are searching for the body of United Church minister Stuart Schoberg.

RCAF search and rescue units pulled out of the search Monday when the clergyman's small boat was found swamped west of Ucluelet.

Mr. Schoberg set out Saturday in a 12-foot, outboard-powered craft on the 22-mile trip by sea from Ucluelet to Tofino.

Strong westerly winds were turning the water into a heavy chop at the time.

Mr. Schoberg's presumed death by drowning recalled a similar incident involving a Ucluelet missionary.

COINCIDENCE

"It's a coincidence that 60 years ago the Reverend Melvin Swartout was missing from the same mission," said Major George Nicholson, 2519 Vancouver Street.

A long-time resident and authority of the district he is the author of the book, "Vancouver Island's West Coast.

In his book Maj. Nicholson tells of the drowning death of the Presbyterian Church teacher and missionary who set out from Ucluelet in a sailboat, July 11, 1904.

That day, the churchman left in rough weather to visit Indian families on nearby islands.

NAMED FOR HIM

The United Church of Canada's mission boat serving Barkley Sound and Kyuquot is named after him.

Mr. Schoberg has a wife and two small children in Ucluelet where he has been pastor of the United Church for several years.

Heart Attack Claimed Driver, Coroner Rules

A coroner's inquiry has found that a man whose car struck a parked vehicle at Blanshard and McClure Saturday afternoon died of a heart attack.

Thomas Cawsey, 45, of 321 Robertson, collapsed at about the time his car ran into a parked vehicle owned by M. J. Cooke, 1021 Pemberton.

The Times wrongly reported Monday that Mr. Cooke was driving his car. Actually it was legally parked.

Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre, said it is impossible to tell if Mr. Cawsay collapsed before or after the accident. He said an inquest will not be held because the second car involved was unoccupied and not in motion at the time.

HOME IN NEW MUSEUM SUGGESTED

PART OF INDIAN EXHIBIT

By PETE LOUDON

A petition demanding that the famous dugout Tilikum remain on free view, instead of in a private museum, is being launched in Victoria.

G. R. "Rebel" Mowat, who is strenuously opposing Tilikum's acquisition by the new Maritime Museum, where it will be shown for a fee, said he is sending the petition to city council.

Mr. Mowat said today he is willing to concede that Tilikum might be better preserved as an indoors exhibit.

But he says this should be in the proposed new British Columbia Centennial Museum to be built at Belleville and Government.

There is no charge for admission to the B.C. museum and this is the nub of Mr. Mowat's campaign. He says there is evidence that the famous dugout was returned to Victoria in 1930 only on condition that it always be displayed without charge.

Mr. Mowat is supported in this by written accounts of the Tilikum saga in the provincial archives and in stories carried in the morning newspaper as well as the Times.

Excerpts from the memoirs of the late George I. Warren, a former manager of Victoria publicity bureau were also thought to have established the no-fee covenant.

But city clerk M. F. Hunter today said this is not specified in the memoirs. However, attempts are being made to ascertain the facts in England from the donors, Greenwich Yacht Club.

The memoirs did make it clear that Tilikum is the property of Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, now known as Victoria Visitors' Bureau.

And VVB manager Mike Heppell today said, "If it belongs to the Visitors' Bureau, it belongs to the city."

It was learned the bureau directors likely will discuss Tilikum Friday. To be considered is the fact that provincial authorities removed the boat from Thunderbird Park without reference to the bureau or City Hall.

Also, the vessel was a valuable tourist attraction and this value may be less where an admission is charged.

And it remains to be resolved, in the light of the historical references, whether a trust is being broken by placing Tilikum where it is necessary for people to pay to see her.

Mr. Mowat says Tilikum would be quite properly part of the B.C. Indian exhibit in the Provincial Museum. She was built by an Island tribe 105 years ago, long before Victorian John Voss sailed her across the Pacific, Atlantic and Indian oceans from this port in the early 1900s.

Mr. Mowat says he will ask the city to consider whether it is just that Victoria residents should have to pay to see Tilikum in the museum of a private association which the taxpayers already are supporting.

The city gave the Maritime Museum a five-year lease for the Bastion Street courthouse, plus a $10,000 grant.

This year the city will give the museum an additional $8,000 and guarantee an operating deficit of up to $3,500.

Readers wishing to show support to Mr. Mowat's campaign should clip the following, sign it, and send it to him at 1551 Burton Street, Victoria.

I believe Tilikum should be displayed without charge in the interest of visiting tourists and future generations of Victoria and district residents.

Cowichan Copper Company Ltd. operations at Jordan River has received an $850,000 loan to enable production to resume.

Announcement of the loan was made at a special meeting of shareholders of Sheep Creek Mines Ltd. Monday at Vancouver.

The Jordan River mine (Sunro Copper Mine), was flooded Dec. 6, 1963. Cowichan was deleted from the Vancouver Stock Exchange List following the flooding.

The loan, approved by a committee representing Cowichan's unsecured creditors, who are owed a total of $2,100,750, has yet to be ratified by the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Terms of the loan provide that management of Cowichan be taken over by Sheep Creek for three years or until the loan is repaid.

FRONT DOOR TREATMENT FOR THIEF

The janitor, George Harrison, 1643 Wollaston, found the man rifling a desk in a second floor office.

The thief convinced Mr. Harrison that he was an employee and Mr. Harrison escorted him to the front door and let him leave.

Mr. Harrison noticed the supposed employee was covered in mud up to his knees and became suspicious. He checked the building and discovered a window had been broken by the prowler to gain entry.

He called police who immediately searched the area but the thief was gone.

No Evidence Of Rowdyism At Gonzales

City police have checked five Gonzales Beach parties since March 5 without collecting enough evidence to charge anyone for lighting fires or bottle-smashing illegally.

Residents living above the sands petitioned City Hall complaining of loud parties, broken glass and dangerous fires, sometimes left unattended all night.

Chief John Gregory told police commission today the fire department had been called to put out burning material and that police had checked parties regularly.

Warnings have been given but in no case have constables been able to charge any one person with breaking a bottle or lighting a fire.

Rest Haven Awaits Simple Order: 'Go'

BOYS ARE LINED UP 30-strong for a chance to wear this natty new uniform approved by city police commission today for a police department boys' band. Chief John Gregory reported the 30 are in addition to 23 youngsters registered. But of the $5,000 needed to outfit the band, only $2,418 has been subscribed. Blue and white uniforms, at about $40 each, and musical instruments will ultimately cost $10,000, for which donations are sought.

Rest Haven Hospital officials have their plans all set to build a $4,000,000 hospital once the government gives the go-ahead.

During the session of the legislature which has just ended Health Minister Eric Martin pledged support for Rest Haven "as soon as possible."

Hospital administrator T. J. Bradley said this morning architects and engineers are "straining at the leash just waiting for the word."

If the government approves plans to replace the existing three-storey frame building located on a small island near Sidney, the new hospital would be built on the "mainland."

10 ACRES

"We have 10 acres of land just across the bridge on the mainland," Mr. Bradley said. "It is our idea to build a new hospital there."

The old hospital would then be used as a convalescent home until it became too old to serve a useful purpose.

"Our hopes for the future—and I admit that some are still in the dream stage—would be to have a 150-200 bed general hospital on the mainland and eventually build a convalescent home or a home for the aged on the island," Mr. Bradley said.

"IDEAL"

"With a system of walkways and a causeway replacing the present bridge it would be ideal for elderly people," he added.

Mr. Bradley said he thought the proposed location of the new hospital would be ideal to serve the Saanich Peninsula and Sidney.

"It has been estimated that by 1980 about 20,000 people will be living on the peninsula," he said. "We feel that a fully equipped general hospital is needed to take care of the medical requirements."

Mr. Bradley said it would not be the intention of the hospital to "compete" with larger hospitals in Victoria.

"People would still have to be referred to Victoria for special treatment," he said. "It would be our idea to build a hospital for active care, general surgery and maternity cases."

RAISE $2 MILLION

If the government approves Rest Haven plans, hospital officials will be faced with the task of raising $2,000,000.

Until 1959 the hospital was entirely financed by members of Seventh Day Adventist Church.

"We never went to the general public for a penny," Mr. Bradley said. "But to raise $2,000,000 we may have to make a plea to the general public."

The provincial government makes a matching grant for hospital construction and the federal government contributes $2,000 a bed.

Average per bed cost of modern hospitals is between $20,000 and $25,000.

The present hospital was built in 1912.

The hospital has always been open to all members of the community.

A $2,000 SCHOLARSHIP in physical education has been awarded to a former Victoria College student, Bryan James Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gray, 523 Oliver, who is now studying toward a bachelor's degree at the University of B.C. He attended Victoria College after graduating from Oak Bay High School in 1960. The award was presented by the National Advisory Council on Fitness and Amateur Sports, and will be used for study towards his master's degree at a university of his choice.

Man Admits Buying Spree On Bad Cheques

Detective Lyle Somers said Bell's purchases included a chesterfield suite, a lawn mower, candy and cosmetics and gas and oil.

The accused, who pleaded guilty, also deposited a forged cheque for $250 in his bank account knowing the cheque was forged. Altogether he obtained $432 in cash and goods by means of worthless cheques between March 1 and 10, said Det. Somers.

Crown prosecutor Peter Birkett said Bell has a record for uttering a forgery and false pretences. He was remanded to Wednesday for sentence.

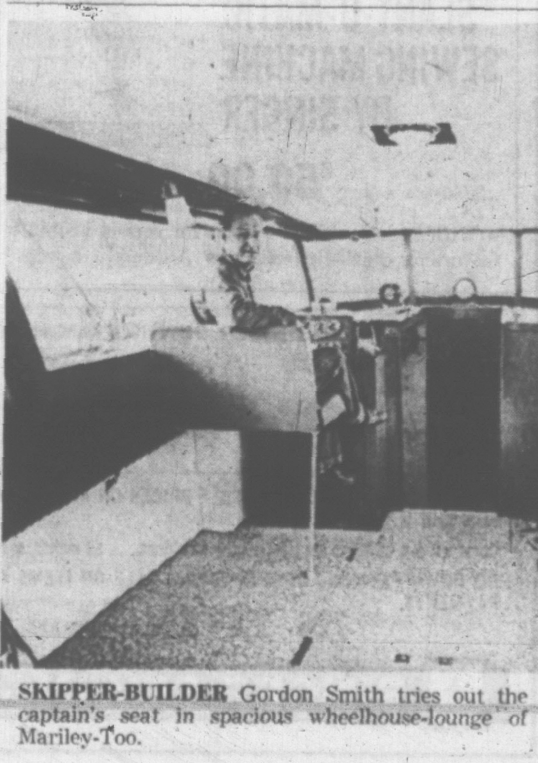
The award, given by the B.C. Educational Research Council, is to help finance research into the development of new evaluation techniques for secondary school courses.

Dr. Mason taught for nine years in Victoria schools before joining the staff of the university in 1956.



SKIPPER-BUILDER Gordon Smith tries out the captain's seat in spacious wheelhouse-lounge of Mariley-Too.

Fireman Set to Free Old Flame After Long Neighborhood Affair

There are two essentials when a man sets out to build his own boat—darn good neighbors and a wife who loves the water.

So says Gordon Smith, 51, of 2969 Cedar Hill Road, who will achieve an eight-year ambition Saturday when he launches his home-built 32-foot cabin cruiser.

His wife has shared his dream. His neighbors have shared the noise without flinching, he says.

Actually, Mr. Smith, a city fireman, has put only five years into his boat's construction. He started eight years ago, but then he thought about it for three years before he went on to finish the job.

$7,000 OF OWN

For each Christmas and birthday since then, friends and relatives have spurred him onward with gifts of accessories, controls, his steering wheel. However, he still had to put $7,000 into the craft himself.

It was a good investment. Today the vessel is worth about $16,000 and many a richer man would turn green with envy as he looks over the Mariley-Too.

SLEEPS SIX

Her 32-foot length and 10½-foot beam provides room to sleep six, but she could carry 20 people with comfort.

She was designed by a Cleveland man, Widd Harber, and there are four or five of similar hull construction in local waters. She's a raised deck cruiser with a maximum of enclosed space.

Power comes from a Universal super-six of 145 horsepower, capable of nine or 10 knots cruising speed. She's fitted with a depth finder, hydraulic steering, a pressure pump water supply, a man-sized head, a three-burner range, 60-gallon water tanks and 125 gallons gas storage. All her superstructure is of polished mahogany.

The miracle of it all is that fireman Smith had no training, took no night courses and never built a boat before. He was in the navy, but as a shore-based fireman in wartime.

"I got a couple of books from the library—and tips from every other boat owner I knew," he recalled.

He did hire an expert to caulk her.

Saturday at Ogden Point a moving firm will launch the cruiser and the builder's wife Lorna will "do the champagne bit." One of the two married daughters after whom the Mariley-Too is named, Mrs. Shirley Mayne will come from the mainland with the first granddaughter for the occasion.

The next big day comes three years hence when Mr. Smith retires. Then he plans to put Mariley-Too into the charter party business. And he's warning the salmon now.

SHOPPING GUIDE

'One That Got Away Won't, With These

By Penny Saver

Fishing is a wonderful hobby—for men. Penny, being sadly outnumbered by the menfolk at home, is constantly being coerced into early morning jaunts to the lake or stream to stalk the wily trout—or whatever fish happens to be in season. Only I don't stalk—I clean and cook.

During my career, however, as an involuntary gal fisherwoman, I have learned one thing. There is no foolproof way to guarantee you will bring home a fish—unless you happen to hook onto a certificate for the nearest fish market.

However, I have discovered some of the newest lures designed to entice any fish to lose his head. If you are stalking a bass, perhaps, try one of these new adaptable lures. It can be adjusted to any depth—on or below the surface. Shaped like a minnow, this features an off-centre, two-barbed hook, giving the lure a separate movement. It is made in Sweden.

The mouth of this lure has a wide, wide lip which, when it strikes against the water, gives the lure a twisting action, similar to a real fish. These come in two sizes and sell for 75 cents.

If you are interested in casting and fly fishing, here's another good idea, direct from Sweden. Intricately made, this fly has a feathered nylon body, featuring the three-barbed hook. When fishing, move the tip of your rod gently up and down, and the fish will never know it isn't a real insect. The workmanship of this lure is really beautiful and it is made of the best materials available. Price is $1.95.

And while I'm talking about hobbies, let me tell you about the newest thing in model-craft.

Just as monsters are affecting many of today's movies and television programs, they are becoming popular in children's toys, too. Models and crafts have been hit, too. These are hideous and hilarious parodies of well-known characters and situations, and some of them even portray the teen-agers' new dances.

They come in easy-to-assemble kits, containing a full set of instructions, and are simple enough for an eight-year-old to put together. Prices range from $1.25 to $1.49.

Remember, Penny's number is 382-3131.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

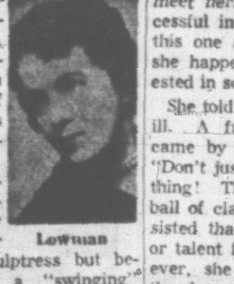
"He says that thanks to my stupendous willpower I'm only a few pounds overweight."

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Don't Let Age Deter You From Activating An Interest

I had a delightful experience not long ago in New York City when I interviewed Sally Stengel, the distinguished American sculptress, who is internationally known for her busts of the world's leading personalities.



Lowman

I was interested in meeting her not only because of her fame as a sculptress but because she is a "swinging" grandmother who launched her most recent and fantastically successful career when she was past 40 years of age. She is an outstanding example of how NOT to grow old.

I was glad that the interview took place at her studio-apartment because it is filled with many of the beautiful things she has created. Some of these reflect a mood or a philosophic thought, and keen awareness of the world about her, but many are busts of the world's great.

The Sally Stengel bust of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt graces the visitor's entrance of the United Nations building. She has done a wonderful bust of President Johnson which is now in the White House. Last year her bronze of John Fitzgerald Kennedy was approved by the Honorable Robert F. Wagner, mayor of New York, and will be put on permanent display at the Kennedy International Airport.

Mrs. Stengel is a petite livewire whose enormous zest for life is apparent the minute you meet her. She had been successful in many careers before this one and I asked her how she happened to become interested in sculpturing.

She told me that she had been ill. A friend who sculptured came by to see her and said, "Don't just lie there. Do something! Then she tossed me a ball of clay." Mrs. Stengel insisted that she had no interest or talent for sculpturing. However, she began working with the clay, and to her amazement, she had soon formed a small bust which looked very much like her husband. She decided that she must have some small talent or flair for this sort of thing. She became fascinated with it, took lessons, and you know the rest.

Here are some of the thoughts she gave me to pass on to you. Everyone has hidden and unsuspected talents, lying dormant. How can you know until you try? Women should expose themselves to new interests and new efforts. It is important that a woman accomplish something for her own satisfaction, something which expresses her own personality. She should not live vicariously through her children or let the walls of her house limit her horizons.

Sally Stengel did not mention age consciousness, or how you shouldn't think it is silly to try something new "at your age." That would be the last thing which would ever occur to her mind!

Of course we are not Sally Stengels, but if you have always wanted to write, play the piano, take a course in something you are interested in or even sing loudly in the shower, why not do it?

DEAR ABBY . . .

One Big Problem!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have read your column for many years and wondered how anyone could write to a stranger about their problems. Now I find myself doing just that. I feel that I am writing this not for myself alone, but for many others just like me.

I am a big, heavy woman—not by choice. I am just "big" and have been this way all my life. I can't imagine myself ever having been little enough to have been a baby.

Abby, we big people have hearts and feelings the same as little women. We are usually the butt of jokes. No one seems to think we can be hurt. Let me tell you, Abby, my heart is breaking as I write this letter. I want love and companionship like any other woman. Aren't there any men who like fat girls? No woman turns away from a man because he is big and fat. But men shun big, fat women. Why? Don't suggest diets because that won't help our bigness. Please don't just throw this letter aside. Answer it, Abby, for all of us who are—

BIG AND LONELY

DEAR BIG AND LONELY: My heart goes out to everyone who was not really created "equal." And that goes for the undersized as well as for the oversized person. But "big" people need not be FAT. I AM going to suggest dieting because half your problem could be solved if you were merely a "big" woman — not a big, fat one. You plead for acceptance for the big, fat woman. First try trimming yourself down. Big girls everywhere are enjoying the love and companionship of big men. And some "little men" have shown themselves to be "big" by choosing a bigger woman.

DEAR ABBY: If I were GLENDALE, whose husband brought home a painting of a nude woman, I wouldn't make a fuss at all.

GERTRUDE

DEAR ABBY: My mother died two years ago and my father recently married again. I like my new mother, but I can't bring myself to call her "Mom." I have tried, Abby, and I always end up feeling so guilty I go up to my room and cry it out. I loved my own mother very much and I know I will never love my stepmother that way. I am the oldest in the family and when I hear my younger sisters and brothers calling her "Mom" it hurts me something terrible. I don't know why I feel the way I do, but I sure wish I knew what to do about it. Please help me, Abby. It's important.

CAN'T CALL HER MOM

DEAR CAN'T: With your younger sisters and brothers calling your stepmother "Mom," in the interest of family harmony you should, too. You must try to endure your loss (without being conspicuous about it.) After all, the loss to your brothers and sisters was equal to your own. Your stepmother doesn't expect you to love her as you loved your own mother. She just wants you to love her. Give your new "Mom" a chance.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WRONGED" IN FORT WORTH: Forgiveness is the fragrance of a violet on the heel of the one who crushed it.

Handle Women Like a Car, Says This Father of Eleven Daughters

TORONTO (CP)—"Certainly I know how to handle women," says Jim Cleary, 44, "Some day I'm going to write a book."

A $530-a-month assistant car foreman with the Canadian Pacific Railway, Mr. Cleary is the father of 11 daughters. The oldest is 20. His wife Brenda, 38, gave birth to the youngest in mid-March.

Mr. Cleary, who last year paid just $4 in income tax, has this advice on how to handle women:

"They're like a car. Each one's built differently and has to be treated differently. Gentleness works best. I can rant and rave at them and they just sit there and look at me. But if I talk to them quietly they burst into tears."

The Clearys, who live in a paid-up five-bedroom house weren't all that disappointed when the latest arrival turned out to be a girl—Andrea.

Pam, 11, and Glenda, 8, would have preferred a boy, but Janice, 20, Angela, 19, Sandra, 18, Marilyn, 16, and Susan, 7, wanted a girl—"if we can't have an older brother we don't want one at all."

Cindy, 5, Vivian, 3, and Shelda, 2, were content just to be allowed to hold and mother the new baby.

However, Janice, to be married Sept. 4 on her parents' wedding anniversary, would like to have a boy among the three or four children she hopes for.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleary, who had two children when they came to Canada from England in 1946, don't plan to have any more.

"We didn't plan these," they add. "They just happened."

Mr. Cleary came from a Midland, Ont., family of seven children and Mrs. Cleary from a Bournemouth, Eng., family of five. But Mrs. Cleary's grandfather had a big family —10 boys and one girl.

The well-kept Cleary home has no set routine.

"We all do whatever is needed to be done," Angela says. "Mother cooks. We clean and do dishes. Dad paints, decorates and does the floors."

Mrs. Cleary puts through five tubs of washing daily and spends $150 every two weeks on groceries, including a gallon of milk a day.

Angela, working at a bank, and Janice, in a department store, each contribute $15 every two weeks. Marilyn, taking a commercial course in school, works part time and buys her own clothes.

Dad, who gets first call on the home's one bathroom because he has to be at work at 8 a.m., says:

"I've got the upper hand. . . . At least they let me think I have."

CROWN PRINCESS BEATRIX'S DILEMMA

Dutch Debate Which Prince She Will Marry

THE HAGUE (AP) — The Dutch sense the presence of the royal family in Holland far less than the French feel the presence of President de Gaulle, but at the moment it is a fairly lively subject of fireside conversation.

Largely it has to do with Crown Princess Beatrix, who has just passed her 27th birthday, and has not yet found a prince to her liking.

Twenty-seven is by no means a very advanced age for a woman not to be married. But the problem is that the princely prospects are not very abundant these days. One source in The Hague said a likely probability was that the princess' royal eye would turn toward Germany where her mother, Queen Juliana, and her grandmother, the late Queen Wilhelmina, found their husbands.

"It won't be a French or Italian prince, and above all not Spanish," a well-placed informant prophesied. Princess Irene married Caros Hugo of Bourdon-Parma, prince of Madrid, pretender to the Spanish throne, became a Catholic and created a furore. Before she could go ahead with it she had to renounce her right to succession to the throne. She was number two after Beatrix.

Beatrix' chosen prince must become consort to the queen of the Netherlands, and not be hunting a crown in his own right. Besides, by long tradition, the ruling family must belong to the Reformed Dutch Church, which is Protestant.

The Dutch seem fairly satisfied with their royal family, even though they wouldn't mind if one of these generations a royal prince would come along. The last male ruler, William III, died in 1890 and the country has been a matriarchy since. Wilhelmina became queen at age 10, even though she began ruling only at 18.

She was followed by Juliana, who took over when Queen Wilhelmina abdicated in September, 1948, because of poor health, and retired to her palace at Soestdijk. There she died in 1962.

The family has had its problems, quite apart from Princess Irene. Juliana herself has stirred up the country by her disposition to seek the company and advice of religious mystics. Her insistence on keeping Griet Hofman at her side because Miss Hofman promised to heal the near blindness of Juliana's youngest daughter, Maria Christina, provoked such a crisis in the country in 1956 that the government had to step in.

CONSTANTLY ON STAGE

Being a royal family in Holland is not easy. The country is small and every time one of the family steps out of a palace she is virtually in the centre of the market place. They take their vacations abroad, often in Italy or Switzerland, seeking more privacy than is available at home.

The family includes a fourth princess, Margriet, 22, who is now second in line to the crown after Beatrix. Margriet's engagement to a commoner, Pieter Van Vollenhoven Jr., 25, was announced March 10 by Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard at Soestdijk. The royal family showed much pleasure at the engagement, and parliament is expected to approve the union, thus protecting Margriet's right of succession.

There is no hint in Holland that Juliana plans to retire soon. Her health is good and the country is prosperous.

THIS BAKERY WON'T SELL ITS PRODUCTS

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary's smallest bakery is also its most exclusive, and its products aren't for sale to the public.

Cloistered nuns of the Sisters Adorers of the Most Precious Blood of Jesus bake all the altar breads for Roman Catholics in the diocese.

Working in two tiny, spotless rooms in the southeast section of the city, four nuns meet orders for a total of 150,000 pieces of altar bread a year.

Mother Mary Francis de Sales, monastery superior, says the altar breads are unleavened "because that is the kind used at the Last Supper." Hundreds of years ago the bread was shaped like small buns but now it is in wafer shape. Altar breads used by the laity are about one inch in diameter, those used by the priest during mass three inches across.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Construction of a $1,000,000 iron ore concentrator will start next month at Orecan Mines Ltd., north of Campbell River on Vancouver Island, company president A. H. Upton said Monday.

Mr. Upton, in a report to shareholders, said first ore concentrate shipments are to be made in October.

Orecan has a contract with C. T. Takashashi & Co. Inc., Seattle, which buys for Japanese steel mills.

ISLAND DIGEST

CRICKETERS BUY LAND

Sports Project Started at Bay

DUNCAN—A start has been made on a private outdoor sports layout at Cowichan Bay.

Cowichan Cricket Club has bought 10 acres of land adjoining the South Cowichan Tennis Club property.

It was paid for with part of the $18,500 received from the city of Duncan for the club's previous grounds on Wharncliffe Road—a sale which was controversial for 18 months.

Ken McAdam, secretary of the club, said Monday first plans would be to have the area surveyed.

Rugby and grass hockey pitches will be laid out later.

LIQUOR BLAMED IN DEATH

NANAIMO — Negligence caused by "alcohol impairment" resulted in the one-car collision death March 13 of a father of two children, a coroner's jury decided Monday.

The Yellow Point Road crash killed Lawrence Oliva, 38, of 62A Milton.

Soles told the inquest he didn't remember whether he was driving the death car when it went off the road, through a fence and into a field.

Testimony by the other two passengers in the car indicated the man spent the day drinking in one Ladysmith and two Nanaimo pubs.

They also bought a bottle and a mickey of rye and a bottle of rum.

Milk with Everything

We'll wager that scarcely a meal goes by in most Canadian households where milk doesn't find its way to the table in some form . . . either as a tall glass of milk or as part of a delicious dish. Wise mothers use milk whenever possible in cooking, not only for the wonderful flavor and smooth texture it gives to so many dishes but also for the good nutrition it supplies in the form of protein, calcium, riboflavin and Vitamin A.

Breakfast Brief

Milk's a natural atop those crisp ready-to-eat cereals that grace most breakfast tables . . . but a little variety never goes amiss. Some morning soon try a creamy Banana Nog Topping. Whip together a slightly beaten egg, a mashed banana, a tablespoon honey and a cup of milk . . . a snap to mix in the blender but easy too with an electric mixer or rotary beater.

Soup's On

Soup for lunch? Don't be ashamed of using one of the many canned varieties, but do make it with milk for more body and flavor. Another trick is to blend two different flavors if you're feeding more than four . . . a favorite in our kitchen is pea and tomato. Topped with crunchy cheese croutons or a dab of whipped cream, it's truly delicious!

A Sauce-y Trick

When cream sauce is called for in a hurry, here's one you can make in double-quick time. Just blend together a cup of milk and a large (8-ounce) package of cream cheese. Cook over hot water until smooth and piping hot, then stir in ⅓ cup grated Parmesan Cheese and season to taste with salt and pepper.

Sour Milk Substitute

Remember those marvellous cakes that Grandma used to make with sour milk? Nowadays use buttermilk instead or pour 1 tablespoon of lemon juice into a measuring cup and fill with fresh milk. Let stand a few minutes.

Tenderloin's a Treat . . .

baked in a celery sauce. Combine a can of celery soup, ⅓ cup milk, a small bay leaf and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Pour over 1½ pounds of "frenched" pork tenderloin in a shallow baking dish. Bake in a 325°F. oven, about 2 hours, basting occasionally to keep the meat moist.

Stay of Execution Asked For 'Lily of Death'

By PETE LOUDON

One of the most delicate and beautiful of all Vancouver Island wild flowers is now starting to bloom.

It is the erythronium, sometimes called the Easter lily or the dogtooth violet.

It should be called the lily of death. Then maybe people would leave it alone, suggests Dr. Adam Szczawinski of the Provincial Museum's botanical department.

The name would be appropriate in another sense because it is dying out. When it is picked it can't spread its seed.

And when it's picked, it usually wilts and dies before the picker gets it home.

Once the erythronium brightened woodlands and meadows of Victoria district. But as housing crept out to the suburbs the lily was picked and trampled until today it is a rarity.

Dr. Szczawinski said the erythronium is not protected by law except in parks where there is a ban against picking any flowering plant.

"Only the trillium, the rhododendron and the dogwood are protected.

"Most authorities are coming to the conclusion that protection by law doesn't mean as much as public education in conservation.

"So enjoy the erythronium, take pictures of it—but leave it alone," he begs.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Trading Area Plan Studied

DUNCAN—City Council and North Cowichan municipality officials have formed a study committee to investigate a joint trading area, it was disclosed Monday night.

Duncan Mayor Jack Dobson said he expected a recent joint meeting to be the forerunner of other conferences to discuss mutual problems.

The trading area, which will simplify fees and other matters pertaining to businessmen and councils, was suggested earlier this year by North Cowichan Reeve Donald Morton.

The trade committee consists of Ald. Hamish Mutter and chief administrative officer Gordon Berry of Duncan, and Coun. George Whittaker and municipal clerk A. Vande Casteyen of North Cowichan.

The meeting also resulted in studies for joint development of the sewage lagoon, near Duncan's eastern boundary, and location of a $100,000 Duncan Rotary Club swimming pool.

Students Given $2,000 Grants

Both are students at the University of B.C.

Miss Shaw plans to study English at the University of Texas and John Schulson plans to study economics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

A Prayer That Shocked A City.

The City Council of Gloucester, Mass. asked the Rev. Powers to pray at their inauguration . . . when he had finished "some sat as if stunned", said the Daily Times . . . for here's a prayer that will give pause to greedy businessmen, to vote-swappers, and to hypocrites everywhere. Don't miss "The Prayer that startled Gloucester, Mass." in April Reader's Digest.

THE MAYOR CAN INSERT THE NEEDLE

LADYSMITH — Mayor Kathleen Grouhel almost talked herself into a sewing job at a council meeting on Monday night.

When she asked aldermen if they are going to order a new Canadian flag, Ald. Bernard Churchill said:

"I suggest that seeing the mayor is a seamstress by profession, we ask her to make one."

After a discussion, aldermen agreed to let the mayor off the hook and buy a Maple Leaf flag.

Robert Wood, clerk, said the town has a Red Ensign which had been flown on "rare occasions" but recently when a flagpole was erected the local RCMP put an aerial on it.

Legal Poser: Fence In, Fence Out?

DUNCAN — Cowichan tennis players have a beef about some cattle.

Sometime last week part of a herd of Aberdeen Angus trampled all eight of the club's grass courts at Cowichan Bay.

Jeff Hunter, club president, said Monday: "It made me sick. They have done hundreds of dollars worth of damage."

Who pays for the repairs rests on the answer to the legal question: "Should the farmer fence the cattle in, or should the club fence them out?"

But whoever pays, Mr. Hunter doubts if the courts can be ready for this season's play.

In fact he doubts if they can be restored in time for the popular South Cowichan Open tournament in August.

The cattle apparently broke down a fence designed to keep tennis balls in play.

Mr. Hunter says experts will have to be called in but parts of the courts appear to need re-turfing and reseeding.

Ideas Sought For Centenary

LADYSMITH—President John Tukham of Ladysmith Taxpayers' Association has asked citizens to suggest a 1967 centennial project for the city.

About $10,000 will be available for a Ladysmith project, he said.

Five-Town Incinerator Proposed by Alderman

By DON DINGWALL

LADYSMITH—Erection of a central incinerator to burn garbage of five Vancouver Island centres was proposed to town council Monday night.

Ald. Robert Stillin suggested each of the areas have its own bin and contract to have garbage hauled to the central incinerator plant for disposal.

Centres named were Parksville, Nanaimo, Chemainus, Duncan and Ladysmith which is still looking for a new dump.

"DIM VIEW"

Mayor Kathleen Grouhel read a letter sent by Archie Hill, public health inspector, to North Oyster Ratepayers' Association. He said he took "a dim view" of open garbage as it encouraged rats, smoke and odor.

Mayor Grouhel said the council had no intention of dumping garbage to be a nuisance. The new site, wherever it was, would be properly fenced and a landfill system introduced eventually.

Tofino municipal office will be the polling station.

ELECTRIC HEATING AND AIR CONDITIONING

All residential customers will now be able to use electric heating at the new low rate of 1¢ per kwh.

A new reduced flat rate of 1¢ per kwh for all power consumed is now available to non-residential customers for space heating and air conditioning. This new rate will be of special interest to schools, motels and apartments.

IRRIGATION

For all irrigation pumping loads up to 100 hp, important rate reductions have been made. The energy charge for these loads will now be 0.85¢ per kwh for all customers, subject to a standard minimum charge of $6.60 per hp per season. This new rate will result in savings of up to 50%.

For all larger installations of 100 hp and over, there will be a new low rate of 0.60¢ per kwh, subject to a minimum charge of $6.60 per hp and a minimum bill of $660.00 per season.

GENERAL PRIMARY RATES

Rates charged to non-industrial customers supplied at primary voltages, such as department stores, hotels, office buildings, large schools and universities, will now be standardized, and will result in customer savings of $1.6 million annually.

These new rates are further evidence of B.C. Hydro's determination to make abundant low-cost power available at standard rates in all the areas it serves.

Through the development of massive amounts of low-cost power from the Peace and Columbia Rivers, British Columbians can look forward to decreasing power costs in future years.

Cost of Credit 'More Important'

OTTAWA (CP) — Consumers who borrow money are more interested in the costs of credit in dollar amounts rather than the rates of interest they may be charged, the Canadian Consumer Loan Association said today.

The association's president, J. T. Wood of Toronto, presented its brief to joint Commons and Senate committee on consumer credit.

Mr. Wood, executive vice-president of Household Finance Corporation of Canada, said "experience of association members in dealing with hundreds of thousands of borrowers clearly shows that it is the scheduled cost of the loan in dollars and the amount of the monthly payment that are of interest to consumer loan customers."

The brief said it must be recognized that regardless of whether disclosure was made in terms of dollar cost or as an annual interest rate it was only when all conditions in all consumer credit transactions were equal that any meaningful comparison of cost or rate could be made.

LOAN CONDITIONS

These conditions included rate, default charges, prepayment penalties, legal fees, bonuses and length of contract, which would have to be made comparable between all types of credit granters such as banks, credit unions, retail stores, sales finance companies and consumer loan companies.

OTHER REASONS, TOO

Grits Decide People Don't Want Election

By PETER C. NEWMAN

OTTAWA—The Liberal government's recent decision not to call an election this June was the end result of long, hard deliberations among the party's top political strategists.

Newman

In the mulling over of the advantages and drawbacks of an early campaign, three major and a host of minor factors were taken into account.

The most important consideration of all was that the prime minister and many of his senior cabinet colleagues remain convinced the nation doesn't want an election campaign right now and that the calling of one could become a major electoral liability for the Liberals. Most of them feel strongly that an election should be the result of a government defeat in the Commons or of an opposition fillibuster so obvious that Pearson has full justification for dissolving parliament.

Dorion Delay

Another vital factor against a June election is that the Dorion commission report is now not expected to be in the hands of the government until the week of May 24 or thereabouts. If a June election were called, Mr. Justice Dorion would be reporting at the climax of the campaign, and a verdict implicating members of the Pearson government could have devastating effects on Liberal changes.

The third compelling reason is that in the secrecy of Liberal caucuses, some backbenchers, particularly from B.C. and Ontario, have spoken out vigorously against a June campaign. Liberal MPs from both regions are frankly nervous about NDP gains if the government were to go to the country without the major cabinet shuffle which is expected to follow tabling of the Dorion report.

This doubt about the possibility of gaining a majority with an unshuffled cabinet has spread to Quebec Liberals as well. Recent surveys show that some 40 per cent of Quebec's voters are undecided on how they'd vote federally.

This is just the kind of vacuum into which the Social Credit jumped in 1962 with astounding success. Since the Liberal efforts against Social Credit were centred entirely on frantic hustings antics of Yvon Dupuis, his firing from the cabinet leaves the Quebec Liberals exposed and vulnerable to a possible Creditiste resurgence.

Hope for Split

One of the main arguments in support of a June campaign was the Liberal conviction that the government's chances were excellent as long as John Diefenbaker was the only alternative available to the voters and that the election had to be called before his own party managed to dethrone him.

This line of reasoning is now being downgraded partly because many Liberals do not believe that the rebel Tories will actually succeed in getting rid of Diefenbaker this spring, and partly because of a smug feeling among leading Liberals that even if Diefenbaker goes, the Conservative party will be hopelessly split about his successor.

Another consideration, put forward most strongly by Pearson himself, is that an election in the current atmosphere of French-English hostility could be disastrous for national unity, particularly since the Conservatives under Diefenbaker seem determined to exploit the issue.

Too Bitter Now

A June election would have extended into the campaign the bitterness of the current Commons debates. The Liberals, it seems, would prefer to go to the country after an interval of relatively quiet government, such as a long summer recess when the house doesn't provide John Diefenbaker with a daily opportunity to blast the administration and all its works.

Although the decision against an early campaign has dispelled the atmosphere of election jitters which pervaded the Ottawa scene in recent months, few of the arguments against a contest in June hold true for October or November.

A fall campaign remains an active possibility. One of the Liberal party's strategists insists that "the chances of getting out of 1965 without an election are almost nil."

Plea Made to Store By Newspaper for Ads

The item, headed "This space reserved for Woodword's Stores Limited," stated in part:

". . . we have over our short six months of publication received thousands of inquiries as to why your ads do not appear in our newspaper. Our subscribers' greatest complaint being they are forced to subscribe to another evening newspaper and pay an additional monthly subscription penalty to read your ads.

"We do not think this is fair to our subscribers . . . In a sincere effort to save our subscribers a double evening subscription cost, we are prepared to offer Woodward's Stores Ltd. two pages per week, at no cost, until such time as they feel that their Times advertising has proved effective."

NO COMMENT

Woodward's would not comment on the offer.

It was the second such advertising proposal by the daily newspaper. Previously it had advertised classified advertisements on a commission basis—no fee for the advertisement until the article advertised was sold.

Meanwhile, the Times said Monday it has received "amazing and heart-warming" response to its plea Saturday for financial help to keep it publishing.

"More than 1,000 shareholders visited the Times' plant Sunday and made clear—in tangible ways—their continuing support of their newspaper," a front-page editorial says.

"With a continuation of the spontaneous support received in the past 48 hours, we cannot fail to succeed."

Sail-Past By Yachts Cancelled

A proposed sail-past by decorated yachts during the Spring Flower Festival has been cancelled.

Officials of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club and the Capital City Yacht Club said their members would be too busy preparing for a Gulf of Georgia yacht race to participate in the sail-past.

Fred Usher's Daffodil Revue is in the final stages of rehearsal. The show opens on April 14 at McPherson Theatre

Other festival events include a fashion show April 17 with Mrs. George Pearkes, wife of the lieutenant-governor, performing the opening ceremonies.

An art show in the foyer of McPherson Theatre from April 13-17 with more than 50 artists contributing.

In addition, Esquimalt-based destroyer escort HMCS Qu'Appelle will be open to the public.

Coinciding with festival events will be a visit of 200 Washington State tourist resort owners. They will be hosted by the B.C. Motels and Resorts Association.

4 Frigates On E. Coast To Be Junked

OTTAWA (CP)—Four Second World War frigates on the East Coast will be sent to the junkyard this spring, the defence department announced today.

The four are La Hulloise, Outremont, Inch Arran and Cap de la Madeleine. They will be turned over to Crown Assets Disposal Corporation for sale.

The defence department said the ships are all more than 20 years old and that it would be uneconomic to retain them in service. Costs of necessary extensive refits could not be justified.

The retirements bring to 22 the number of Canadian warships junked in the last year. They reduce the fleet's numerical strength to 35 combat ships.

Former associate defence minister Lucien Cardin said in January, 1964, that Canada's commitment to NATO's Atlantic Command was being maintained at 30 warships.

There has been no official announcement since then on this point but the Atlantic fleet now will comprise 22 combat ships. There are 13 combat ships in the Pacific fleet.

Choirs 'Merit Attention' Of City's Music Community

UNIQUELY DIFFERENT, full of surprises, the international hit musical show, Stop the World—I Want to Get Off, comes to McPherson Playhouse Thursday for the balance of the week, with two performances on Saturday. Barbara Jay and D. M. Hughes play the leads in the Vancouver Playhouse Theatre production which completely sold out during its run at the Queen Elizabeth.

By AUDREY St.D. JOHNSON

Whoever was in charge of arrangements for the University of Victoria Choirs concerts this week, may have been wise to allow an evening's lapse between the premiere performance Monday, and the repeat of the program Wednesday night.

One would hope that in the interim, word will have percolated through this slow-to-react musical community and that at least the main floor of the McPherson Playhouse will be filled for an event that so well merits attention.

As one experienced professional choral conductor said at intermission: "Every adult choir in the city should be well represented at this concert . . . they could learn something of value."

66 VOICES

The 66 student voices, led by talented young Timothy Vernon, are presenting a program that is arrestingly different—that in fact, contains absolutely no cliche material.

On top of which they met the challenge in a most admirable manner, even when faced with the rhythmic and tonal complexities of Vaughan Williams and Alan Hovhaness.

Mr. Vernon has dynamic and imaginative gifts to an outstanding degree.

DEVELOPING ABILITY

His ideas are interesting, even when one does not completely agree with them; moreover, he has a clearly developing ability to communicate them to, and through, his ensemble.

There were moments when there seemed too little substance in the body of tone, when the chording was somewhat thin in effect; and now and then episodes of doubtful intonation occurred.

PERFECT TUNE

But the defects were momentary and richly compensated by some exquisite pianissimos rendered in perfect tune and a light, live, vital quality throughout. This was especially the case in the unaccompanied and charming madrigal group.

Vaughan Williams' Mass in C minor is a beautiful and reverent work which the choir performs with great skill and which features four highly competent soloists in Peggy Walton Packard, Eleanor Duff, Peter Yelland and baritone Harry Hill.

Accompaniments are played by Kenneth Bertram.

JAZZMEN AT UVIC

600 Students Swing To Borrowed Fiddle

By CANDIDE TEMPLE
Times Uvic Correspondent

Six swinging jazz musicians from New York took the University of Victoria by storm Monday.

But they nearly didn't make it to Victoria.

The fiddle owned by bass player Midge Pike, a bearded South African, remained in Port Angeles because it wouldn't fit into either of the two private planes that brought the group here.

They had to rent the planes when they discovered the Port Angeles-Victoria ferry was not in service Monday.

On arriving in Victoria, they conducted a frantic, one-hour search for a bass fiddle for the concert. When they found one, it had a broken E-string which was replaced in time to start the concert at Uvic only half an hour late.

But the Sextet got a standing ovation from students, after playing numbers ranging from folk songs to the latest jazz arrangements.

After the concert the group was button-holed by eager jazz buffs and quizzed on their opinions of jazzmen from Dave Brubeck to Stan Getz.

"Feeling and integrity," rather that the beat are the most important things in jazz today, said leader Paul Winter who plays the saxophone and clarinet.

"Musicians are getting so arty they can't correspond with anyone else," put in flute player Bob Pierson.

"Jazzmen play for themselves," said another.

Monday evening, three of the Sextet played at an unscheduled jam session, when drummer Frederick Waits dazzled the audience with a display of unrestrained enthusiasm and polished technique.

Two musicians remain of the original six who played for former president and Mrs. John F. Kennedy at the White House in 1962. The group has also spent six months touring Latin America for the U.S. state department.

From here they will fly to Hawaii, then back to Yellowknife, N.W.T., before returning home.

Singer to Start Recording Firm In Victoria

Victoria actor-singer Peter Kelch plans to start a recording company with headquarters in the city.

Recently returned from successful appearances in the United States and South America, the young artist says the first release will be Cry On My Shoulder with the local band "The Pharaohs" providing the musical backing for his singing.

Name of the new recording company will be Terra Records.

Mr. Kelch says that while headquarters will be in Victoria he will still maintain a studio in Hollywood.

In addition to acting and singing, Mr. Kelch composes many of his own songs.

U.S. Broadcaster Dies in Fire At Vancouver

Robert J. Burton, 50, of New York, president of Broadcast Music Incorporated, was here to attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters.

The fire occurred at 3:45 a.m., causing $15,000 damage. Mr. Burton had apparently dozed in a chair and was asphyxiated by the smoke.

Broadcast Music, which holds copyrights on music, had planned a dinner for the broadcasters tonight. It was cancelled.

Churchill Papers

LONDON (Reuters)—The papers of the late Sir Winston Churchill have been arranged and listed after three years' work, the public record office here announced. The documents occupy 500 feet of shelves.

Pile Drivers Killed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two pile-driver crew members were driven into mud and killed when a huge iron hammer broke loose on the San Francisco waterfront. The bodies of Michael Clement, 50, and Nicolas Manrique, 41, were recovered.

COMPOSER Igor Stravinsky will conduct the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra at special performances July 11-12 during the Vancouver Festival, which launched a six-week campaign Monday to raise $100,000 before the July 2 opening.

GETTING UP their wind on the French horns for tonight's Greater Victoria Schools' Symphony concert are, left to right, John Thompson, Corinne Dunn and Paul Seargeant. Proceeds from the concert, which will be held at 8 p.m. in Central Junior High School, will go toward expenses for a trip to Calgary and Lethbridge Wednesday when they will compete in music festivals. Mount Douglas High School Band will also compete in the festivals.

Students Planning Protest On 'Possible' Hike in Fees

By BOB DONAHUE
Times Education Reporter

University of Victoria students expect an "almost certain" fee increase will be announced during exam time so the students will be too occupied to do anything about it.

In a desperate move to head off the anticipated increase, student leaders called a press conference and suggested the public boycott the Three Universities Capital Fund Campaign if the fees are increased.

Alma Mater Society officials, who in the past have remained relatively silent, are now talking about student demonstrations.

The question of a fee increase apparently depends on the size of the operating grant the university receives from the government.

And up to now administration officials have been doing a verbal soft shoe trying to placate the students and at the same time get a rise out of the government.

Said Uvic president Dr. Malcolm Taylor: "If the government does not give the university the operating grant it needs an increase in students' fees will have to be considered.

"LAST THING"

"I can tell you it is the last thing we want to do," he said, "but we are in a tough position."

The Alma Mater Society suggested the students "or some interested public organization" print the facts on university financing and distribute them to the public before residents are asked to donate to the three universities building fund.

They suggested a comparison of the amount of grants asked for and the amount received.

And they ask: "Why should the public be asked to donate to the building fund to build larger universities when the government won't pay enough to operate what we have now?"

Boy, Girl Shared Same Blood, Kidney

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A young boy and girl shared the same blood supply for 4½ months—in hopes that the boy's normal blood would stave off the girl's leukemia, and the girl's normal kidneys could work for the boy whose kidneys had failed.

It is one of four reported cases of cross-circulation, in which people with otherwise incurable conditions were linked together by blood supply to help each other live.

The girl with leukemia died at 16 of infection. The boy, 19, is still alive, six months later. He has no signs of the girl's disease, but he needs periodic treatments with an artificial kidney to keep his blood cleansed.

For the 4½-month period, the two had spent two to three hours a day with their blood supplies linked together. He provided her with the white blood cells she needed, and she provided him with normal kidneys.

Dr. James Burnell of the University of Washington reported the cases in a report released Sunday to a science writers' seminar of the American Cancer Society.

No lives have been saved by the procedure, but some have been prolonged, and vital information has been gained, Burnell said.

Burnell believes that one of the things these studies have shown is that there is no transmission of one individual's disease to another, even when they share blood supplies.

80,000 Die on Roads

GENEVA (AP)—A UN report estimates that at least 80,000 persons died in highway accidents in 22 European nations during 1963. The UN economic commissions for Europe said Monday that 1,700,000 were injured in the same period. West Germany, with 14,166 deaths and 408,994 injured, had the highest accident rate.

Temporary Repairs Estimated at $3,500

The ocean escort HMCS Jonquiere is undergoing temporary repairs at the U.S. naval shipyard in San Francisco after ramming a dock Friday.

A navy spokesman said today the cost estimate of riveting temporary plates over the gaping hole in her bow was $3,500.

The Jonquiere sailed under the Golden Gate bridge Friday in company with sister ship Ste. Therese and the submarine HMCS Grilse.

While attempting to secure, she plowed into Pier 1 at San Francisco's ferry building. No one aboard was injured.

The ocean escort wiped out several piles and damage to the wharf was estimated at $20,000.

She was left behind Monday by Grilse and Ste. Therese who will join HMC Ships Yukon, Sussexvale and New Glasgow, returning to Esquimalt from a Central American cruise.

They are due here at 10:45 a.m. Friday.

Temporary patching of Jonquiere is expected to be completed Wednesday or Thursday and she will probably arrive here this weekend.

Permanent repairs, cost of which is still unknown, will be done locally.

ESQUIMALT APPROVES MOVE

Mark Naval Anniversary

Esquimalt council Monday night called a special meeting for Thursday, April 8, to plan ceremonies for the 100th anniversary of the establishment of Esquimalt naval base.

The decision followed reading of a letter from the Flag Officer, Pacific Coast, Rear-Admiral Stirling, who said the navy is ready to take part.

Coun. James Bryant said the council should first decide its role, then establish what the navy will do and finally what Esquimalt organizations will contribute.

Council also passed a motion by Coun. Bryant to set June 26 as Esquimalt Day annually.

Other business included:

- A request by the Industrial Development Research Commission of Greater Victoria for a $167.70 grant.

Coun. Bryant moved the contribution be made "to allow us to find out what the commission is doing and whether we are going to take an active part in it in the future."

- Payment of $16,579 to the St. Joseph's Hospital building fund.
- Appointment of an additional parks attendant from April 1 to Aug. 31.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD JACOBY

One of the more unusual forms of the duck play is the lead of a low trump in order to retain control of the suit until you have a chance to draw the defenders' trumps.

Opening lead—♥ K

The official bidding is shown in the box. North and South didn't have to follow that bidding in order to get their bidding par, provided they arrive at the spade slam.

West is instructed to open the king of hearts and South should have no trouble finding the correct line of play. Naturally, he wins the first trick and then he should lead a low trump from his hand.

He won't make the hand unless the trumps break 3-2 and he wants to lose his trump trick without giving up dummy's ability to ruff a second heart lead.

East wins the trick and is directed to force dummy by leading a second heart. South must get back to his hand and the correct way to do it is to cash one of dummy's high diamonds and ruff the next one.

The hand is set up so that South can make the hand if he ruffs a heart in dummy at trick two; cashes the ace and king of trumps and then plays out dummy's diamonds and clubs in the correct order. The fact that this play works does not make it correct but South gets two consolation points instead of the six he would get if he adopted the best line.

In addition, he will do another special on the same theme next season . . . A one-hour special about the reopening of the New York World's Fair will highlight Gordon and Sheila MacRae on ABC-TV April 29.

CBS-TV does its one-hour special on the beginning of the second year of the New York World's Fair April 21 . . . Steve Lawrence will have a weekly one-hour musical-variety series for CBS-TV on Monday nights next season, displacing "Password" and a planned new situation comedy on the schedule . . . Vince Edwards (Ben Casey to the uninitiated) sings on the Ed Sullivan Show April 4.

CBS-TV's new series about a prosecutor, "For the People," is replaced May 1 by 6 one-hour repeats of "Twilight Zone" . . . ABC-TV's "No Time for Sergeants," with one of the funniest young star discoveries of the season, Sammy Jackson, is being cancelled . . . Several weeks ago, Jean Arthur made a comeback on Gunsmoke; now, on April 10, another veteran, Betty Hutton, appears on the series as a saloon singer who vows to kill Marshall Dillon.

A survey by Television Digest indicates that about 23,000,000 American homes may have color television sets by the end of the decade . . . NBC-TV estimates its "night-time color advantage will translate into an additional 800,000 homes per minute for the average color show" . . . CBS-TV's "World War I" documentary series will remain with repeats starting April 25. It's a great series.

The weekend brought about a determination to get an unlisted number following an overlong series of phone calls from Pat Burns' fans who objected to this column's opinion on his "nauseating immodesty" as displayed on "The Seven o'Clock Show" last week. Same calls wondered if any B.C. TV station was going to telecast live his Monday night sob-story from the "Queenie" in Vancouver. Frankly, if any station wasted film or prime-time it should have its program head thoroughly examined by a shrinker.

Pearl Bailey, Bill Dana and Tom Ewell are guests April 9 on the Jack Paar hour . . . Although Polly Bergen's planned "Selena Mead" series, about a female James Bond, was dropped from CBS-TV's fall schedule, it is reported she will be paid for 26 contracted segments. Nice money if you can get it, and she does.

Carol Channing may do a CBS-TV special later in the year, possibly with Bob Newhart. We'll look forward to that one . . . Paul Ford, of CBS-TV's "The Baileys of Balboa," and Connie Stevens, of ABC-TV's "Wendy and Me," will star in the movie version of the play, "Never Too Late" . . . CBC-TV wound up its "Nature of Things" season with a smashing "pacemaker" heart operation seen on Canadian TV for the first time. I wonder how many viewers could have gone through the half-hour if it were in color.

THIS COUNTRY PROPERTY IS NOT QUITE WHAT YOU WANT

It isn't what you want because the acre and a half lot is long and narrow and the kitchen is compact and small.

BUT

None of the other properties you have looked at are quite what you want either. The one with a square lot is too far from town and the home with the large kitchen is too old.

THIS IS THE ONE YOU SHOULD BUY BECAUSE

1. It is reasonably close to town
2. It is near school
3. Only 10 years old
4. Full basement, rumpus room.
5. Three (or four) bedrooms
6. A barn for the horse
7. Fair market value.

Stately Old House Will be Demolished

Demolition of one of Victoria's fine old homes on Elliot Street to make way for the new provincial museum-archives building, will start in mid-April, a spokesman for the department of public works said today.

The large stone house, named Stonehaven, the home of Misses Aileen and Muriel Aylard, is the last private home on the street.

Also to be torn down on the same street opposite Stonehaven, is the grey-painted wooden house, once a private residence, but used for government offices since 1930.

Dr. Hugh Borsman, chairman of the Greater Victoria Historic Building Foundation, said members inspected the Stonehaven to see if it could be preserved.

"But this was found to be unfeasible," he said. "It will have to be removed to make way for the new building."

Stonehaven was built in 1905 as a private home for contractor George R. Snider, who later moved to Vancouver. It later became the home of John W. Morris of the local real estate firm of Morris and Burndick.

The house was finally bought by George Henry Aylard, who died in 1932. His two daughters have lived in the home ever since.

Three Fined, One Jailed As Impaired

Four men picked up by police over the weekend for impaired driving pleaded guilty when they appeared in court Monday.

He was arrested after he stalled his car at a downtown intersection Saturday afternoon. He told police he had drank a large quantity of wine and beer that afternoon.

Magistrate William Ostler sentenced him to one month on the impaired charge and an additional one month for driving while disqualified. Nelson has a previous conviction for driving while disqualified.

Ralph Schatz, 3049 Earl Grey Street, was arrested after his car hit the rear of another vehicle stopped for a red light on Government late Saturday night.

Crown prosecutor Peter Birkett said Schatz reversed his car after the collision and hit the front of the car behind him. A breath test showed he had a blood alcohol level of .18 per cent.

Schatz was fined $300 and had his licence suspended.

Similar penalties were imposed on Alan Frankland, 2465 Beach Drive, and Nicola Zegaric, 738 Discovery. Mr. Birkett said Frankland was picked up early Sunday at Gorge and Government.

Police said he appeared in a stupor and was not aware that his car was filling with smoke from a rag that was smoldering under a seat. A cigarette butt apparently started the fire.

Zegaric was arrested after his car went into a ditch on Quadra near Nicholson late Sunday night. He told police he had "lots to drink, maybe six, seven, 10 or 11 bottles of beer."

ELM PARK, England (UPI)—Two persons were killed and 15 injured Monday night when a crowded commuter train derailed near this London suburb after striking an obstruction on the tracks. Police suspected youthful vandalism.

Fire Fighting Equipment Examined

Primary purpose of the inquiry is to acquaint insurance companies with fire defences, said Robert McLeod of Vancouver, representing the Canadian Underwriters Association.

Similar inquiries were conducted in Victoria and Oak Bay in 1961 and in Esquimalt in 1962.

The last time there was such an inquiry in Saanich was in 1955 and since then the population has nearly doubled, said Mr. McLeod.

He will be examining waterworks, pipe sizes, distribution of hydrants, fire department manpower and equipment and their relationship to Saanich's population, buildings and building bylaws.

Twenty-five to 30 tests will be run on hydrants to see how much water is available for fighting fires.

Mr. McLeod will write a report after his inquiry and his recommendations will go to Saanich.

He emphasized there is no cost involved for the municipality. "It is a service from the board insurance companies," he said.

Ottawa Man Gets Jail Term For Vagrancy

An Ottawa man was given a one-month sentence when he pleaded guilty in Saanich court Monday to vagrancy.

Donald Therien, also known as Keith Renfrey, was questioned by Detective George Walton Saturday night.

Det. Walton said that when he asked Therien where he worked the answer came back "What's work.".

When he asked him where he lived, Therien replied, "That's anyone's guess."

Det. Walton said Therien refused to account for the car he had been driving. In court Therien told Magistrate William Ostler that the car had been loaned to a friend of his and the friend was later arrested.

Therien has a record for false pretences, theft, driving while disqualified and attempted theft, court was told.

LAWYERS PROSPER

OTTAWA (CP) — Ontario and Newfoundland lawyers had the highest average annual incomes after expenses in Canada for 1962, Revenue Minister Benson reported.

In a written reply to a question by Dr. Guy Marcoux (SC—Quebec-Montmorency), he listed the average incomes for lawyers by provinces as follows:

Newfoundland $16,609; Prince Edward Island $13,500; Nova Scotia $12,859; New Brunswick $14,242; Quebec $14,246; Ontario, $17,176; Manitoba, $13,248; Saskatchewan $12,830; Alberta $15,375; and British Columbia $13,951.

Vancouver Fears Held Groundless

The legislation—passed Friday—was contained in Bill 83, to set up regional districts for the purpose of controlling joint services.

Because Vancouver has operated under its own city charter, it was not previously affected by a 1957 Municipal Act amendment that gave a local council power to expropriate personal property for municipal purposes.

Giving a semi-metro council authority to seize a man's chattels was looked upon in Vancouver as a serious infringement of civil rights.

"There appears to be nothing new here. There is a precedent in the existing Municipal Act," city solicitor T. P. O'Grady said.

It was pointed out by Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell that when the government studies and implements recommendations of the Clyne report on expropriation the law could be amended further.

Memorial Service For Princess

A memorial service in memory of the late Princess Royal will be held in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday at 3 p.m. by the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's).

The Princess Royal had been the regiment's colonel-in-chief since 1927, and during her last visit to Victoria in June 1962, she presented the regiment with its colors at a royal parade in Beacon Hill Park.

The princess was colonel-in-chief of three other Canadian regiments—the Royal Newfoundland, the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals and the Royal Regiment of Canada.

Lt.-Col. M. W. Allen, commanding officer of the Canadian Scottish, said regimental veterans of the last war would remember with pride the princess's many visits to the First Battalion in Britain while the unit was training for the assault on Normandy.

Attending Sunday's service in the cathedral will be serving members of the regiment, the regimental association, the regimental trustees and veterans who served with the regiment during the war.

Guides and Brownies have happy memories of the Princess Royal's last visit to Victoria in 1962 when she inspected them at Government House.

Historians Want Assurances Fernwood House Will Remain

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Victoria historians are concerned over the future of Fernwood House—the historic brick and stone house which has stood sedately on a hilltop at Oak Bay Junction for more than 100 years.

Built in 1863 by Benjamin William Pearse, the house and its six and a half acres of ground were acquired in 1958 by St. Margaret's School.

Now the school is negotiating to sell the house and four acres of the property in order to finance development of the remaining two and a half acres.

"If the sale goes through, there is no assurance the old house won't be pulled down," said Roderick Clack, who is both a director of the school and a director of the Greater Victoria Historic Buildings Foundation.

"I have a dual interest in this matter," he added. "I am concerned both for the future of the school and the preservation of Fernwood House.

"The fact is the school cannot develop part of the property for future use unless it sells the remaining four acres. And the house stands on the property to be sold."

Mr. Clack said St. Margaret's School is "sympathetic" to the idea the house should be preserved.

"We have therefore suggested that the Historic Buildings Foundation should negotiate with the new owners to have the house left intact."

Mr. Clack said a financial syndicate in Victoria is interested in buying the property but has no present plans for its development.

"We are hoping that, if the syndicate acquires the property, it will not decide on a plan of development requiring removal of the house.

"It is a historic landmark and should be preserved if possible."

A spokesman for the Victoria branch, B.C. Historical Association, said it had received a "verbal assurance" the house would not be destroyed, but Mr. Clack considered this assurance was "unfounded."

Since it acquired the house and property, St. Margaret's School has constructed a playing field and a tennis court on the two and a half acres it wishes to retain.

"Funds are now required for further development of this site," Mr. Clack said.

Records show that Benjamin William Pearse built the house after he came to Victoria from England in 1851. The last member of his family to occupy the house was Mrs. Jenny Pearse who died there in 1954 at the age of 100.

Victoria branch of the B.C. Historical Association is also concerned over the future of the historic Tod house at 2564 Heron Street, believed to be the oldest residential dwelling in British Columbia.

Said to be haunted, the house was acquired by Lt.-Col. T. C. Evans in 1944. Col. Evans lived there until his death in 1962 and it is now occupied by his widow.

He is reported to have willed the house to the Canadian Historical Society—a separate organization from the B.C. Historical Association — on condition that his widow has life occupancy.

The six-room house was built in 1851 by John Tod, a famous B.C. pioneer and chief trader for the Hudson's Bay Company.

After his death in 1882, various owners talked of strange manifestations, such as doors which opened of their own accord and weird noises emanating from the main bedrooms.

Col. Evans once said he believed there was a secret passage connecting the house with Willows Beach.

Are Mockingbirds Really Good Imitators?

Yes. In a wild state, the mockingbird loves to imitate sounds—such as the bark of a dog, the squeak of a wheel, the cackle of a hen.

Clinic: Q. What is the best and safest way to hold a parakeet?

D.B.F., Knoxville, Tenn.

A. Grasp the parakeet over the back to close his wings. Place your forefinger and thumb along each side of his neck to prevent his biting.

Clinic: Q. My three-year-old spayed female dog seems to wet herself unknowingly, while sleeping, for example. Does she have a cold in her bladder?

C.G.G., Pasco, Wash.

A. Occasionally, spayed females lost bladder control. Your veterinarian will be able to prescribe hormones that will help your pet.

Clinic: Q. My dog loves vegetables and I feed him plenty of them. I'm told, however, that vegetables are low in nourishment and a waste as food for dogs. Is this right?

S.F.A., Joliet, Ill.

A. Vegetables do not provide high nourishment in the dog's diet, it's true, but they do provide some food value and roughage. Emphasize meat in your dog's diet, but supplement with carrots, spinach, string beans, onions, boiled celery. Vegetables should be cooked, chopped finely and mixed with meat or fish.

Clinic: Q. Our male parakeet seems healthy enough, but he doesn't fly. When he comes out of the cage, he either climbs to the top and stays there or drops to the floor and sits there until the cage is placed alongside him. He also has loose bowels. The droppings are watery and sometimes in moist strings, all dark.

Mrs. E.W.W., Augusta, Ga.

A. Your parakeet's loose bowels may come from a kidney or bowel infection. Either would account for his reluctance to expend the necessary energy for flight. Your veterinarian will be able to diagnose and treat the specific condition that is troubling your pet.

Clinic: Q. Our new puppy seems to sleep off and on throughout the day. When he's up, he's alert and playful, but soon after he seems to tire and curls up somewhere for a nap. Is this normal? Should he be doing all that sleeping, or is something wrong?

T.B.F., Columbia, S.C.

A. It's perfectly normal. Naps and rests are important for a pup's development, and he needs many of them. Infants spend much of their early months sleeping, and it's no different with a young puppy. The older he grows, the less time he will give to naps.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Many World's Fair entrepreneurs are as worried about the possibility of a newspaper strike as anyone in the newspaper business. They realize that without the tremendous "kick-off" publicity given to the fair by the major dailies, they could die quickly and without a decent obit . . . Marcello Mastroianni plans to play the role of Rudolph Valentino in what is described as "a satirical stage musical." Apparently the Italian screen idol has studied the old Valentino movies and decided they were funnier than anything Laurel and Hardy ever did, for he predicts: "This musical will not bolster the Valentino myth. In fact, it will destroy it utterly."

Theatre people are aghast at Jason Robards Jr.'s stinging remarks about Arthur Miller's works in West Coast interviews. They wonder what inspired the cracks — especially since Robards gleaned marvellous reviews in "After the Fall"—and what, if anything, Miller will have to say in rebuttal . . . Note on the growing jungle: The management of one new apartment house going up on 8th Ave. plans to use police dogs to guard the tenants and visitors to the premises.

There's no exaggerating in the ballyhoo about Maria Callas' popularity with New York opera fans. Shortly before her recent appearance in "Tosca" a Gothamite offered his usually wizard-like speculator $600 for a pair of tickets to the performance, but they weren't to be had, at that or any other price . . . There's lots of gab in the Hollywood set about Natalie Wood and her wealthy suitor from Venezuela, Ladislow Blatnik, with many of the romance experts betting it will be Natalie Blatnik before very long . . . An upcoming Nasser-De Gaulle meeting won't make the state department too happy.

Charlton Heston, who co-stars with hot-tempered Richard Harris in "Major Dundee," had this to say about the experience: "He's extremely difficult to get along with, though a great actor. And if you must dislike someone on camera it helps if you dislike him a bit off-camera." Other members of the film company will underwrite that never did Charlton put anything so delicately.

An hour-long television show in Nat Cole's memory is being mapped out for June viewing by one of the major networks. It may turn out to be an all-star fund-raiser to aid the battle against cancer . . . The members of a ballet company from Crete, brought to Paris to enhance the premiere of "Zorba the Greek," enjoyed the pre-paid junket so much they stayed beyond the allotted period and then couldn't scrape up enough money to meet the resulting hotel bill. But good ole Aristole Onassis picked up the full tab and financed their homeward trek as soon as some fellow Athenian clued him in to the dancers' plight.

Katharine Cornell is seldom seen in public these days, so patrons of the Leopard were delighted to observe her lunching there the other day with two old pals — actress Margalo Gilmore and Miss Cornell's longtime stage manager, Edward Baylis . . . Hollywood is often accused of too much "type casting," but here's an example to the contrary. In "Marriage on the Rocks," John McGiver plays a divorce lawyer who's a bachelor. In truth, he is an obviously happy married man and father of 10 children . . . Ray Stark has offered Paul Anka a major role in his forthcoming film, "Ten Little Indians" . . . Worried about Viet Nam? Have a change of pace. Hugh Hefner, owner of Playboy magazine, has started a $1-million lawsuit against Playgirl magazine. Makes you really think, doesn't it?

$1,500 Grant Awarded to Uvic

A Canada Council short-term grant of $1,500 has been given to the University of Victoria lexicographical centre on Canadian English.

Dr. M. H. Scargill, director of the centre, said today the money would be used to help defray the expenses of Dr. W. S. Avis, of the Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont., who is editing a Dictionary of Canadianisms.

Wind Speed Limit? Winner for Cathy

CATHY . . . a surprise

A first try at asking Andy a question proved a winner for Cathy Graves, 910 Esquimalt Road, who will be 10 in April.

She won a World Book Atlas for asking the question: Is there a limit as to how fast the wind can go?

A grade four pupil at Lampson Street School, Cathy who is fond of social studies, said the book will help her with her work. Her other favorite subjects are arithmetic and science.

Her outside interests include painting, sewing, baking and swimming. She also likes reading mystery stories and is taking ballet dancing.

Cathy eventually hopes to become either a nurse or lab technician.

"I got quite a surprise when I was notified I had won a prize," she said.

"Now I'm going to try for a set of encyclopedias."

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Cathy Graves, age nine, of Victoria, B.C., Canada, for her question:

How fast can the wind blow?

The weatherman has a list of the names of the winds and the speeds at which they blow. When he reports that a gentle breeze is expected to blow from the west, he means that a westerly wind will be wafting along at eight to 12 miles an hour. A fresh breeze blows at 19 to 24 miles an hour and causes the boughs to sway. A moderate gale blows at 32 to 38 miles an hour and is strong enough to bend the trees. A whole gale of 55 to 63 miles an hour is strong enough to tear mighty trees up by their roots.

The strongest and fastest wind on the weatherman's scale is the hurricane. A wind reaches hurricane speed at 75 miles an hour, but it can blow much faster than this. The howling winds near the heart of a great hurricane storm have been known to reach 200 miles an hour. There may be a few times when the wind blows even faster than this, but it hardly ever blows faster than 200 miles an hour.

Andy sends a complete 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Betty Lou Downs, age 12, of Bardstown, Ky., for her question:

Does the muskrat live under the water?

The muskrat is a shy character, but he was well-known to the Indians. They loved to watch the ways of the wild creatures of nature, but they did not use the methods of modern science to explain what they saw. They saw the muskrat build a ragged pile of reeds and rushes on the floor of some shallow pool. Perhaps they investigated a different type of muskrat home tunneled into the bank of a stream. The front door of each house is below the water, but a passageway leads up to the floor of the house which is high and dry above the water level. This is where the muskrat lives.

When threatened by an eagle or a hungry hawk, a mink or a snapping turtle, the muskrat dives below and scrambles up the tunnel to the safety of his cosy living room. Perhaps the Indians did not know about this trick for they were sure that no animal would choose to live in such a damp dwelling. They invented a legend to explain the facts they knew. Long ago, they claimed, a ginger-colored meadow mouse helped the sun god Nanabojou through a disastrous flood.

The god rewarded the furry hero with a promise to live exactly where he wished. The muskrat chose a home in a deep watery lake, but soon he returned to request a transfer to the grassy shore. This wish also was granted, but the muskrat returned to ask for his first site back again. The kindly god then lost patience. The muskrat who could not decide between a home in the water or on the land was ordered to live forever in the swamps.

If this story were true, which it is not, the order would have suited the muskrat just fine. He loves to swim in the nearby water, and his home with its underwater entrance protects him from his foes. Through most of the year he dines on the rushes that anchor their roots in the marsh mud. His ancestors built their houses in the swamps because it suited them, and our muskrat has no reason to change the family custom.

When winter comes the ground is frozen hard and tender shoots are scarce. The muskrats retire to their cosy home high and dry above the icy water and nibble on the supply of reeds stored along their walls. In April a litter of babies is born in the muskrat house. In a month the youngsters leave home and three more litters may be born before fall.

Mr. Muskrat is a chubby vole or field mouse. His furry body measures 15 inches plus 10 inches of ratty tail. He wears a stiff white moustache on his pointed nose, and most of his thick water-repellent coat is orange-brown. He is our most common fur-bearing animal, and every year some 12 million of his muskrat cousins are trapped and sent to market. Their furry coats may be sold as water mink or river sable, as loutrine or under some other fancy name.

STATION OPERATORS STAGE GAS STRIKE

PARRY SOUND, Ont. (CP) — Service station operators who closed their stations Monday to protest removal of a one-cent gas subsidy were joined by 55 others today to virtually close down gas outlets on a 100-mile stretch of Highways 69 and 103 north of Toronto.

The move is an effort to force major oil companies to re-establish gallon profits for station operators to 8.5 cents from the present 5.5 cents.

Heavy Retaliation Expected After U.S. Embassy Bombing

Saigon Blast Takes High Toll

SAIGON (AP) — Terrorists set off an estimated 250 pounds of explosives in a parked car alongside the U.S. embassy in this South Vietnamese capital today, killing at least 17 persons and wounding at least 151.

Windows and brickwork of the five-storey building were shattered.

Two Americans, a girl secretary and a U.S. army officer, were among the dead and 45 or more Americans were injured. The other casualties were Vietnamese and non-American foreigners, many of them strolling on the street when the massive charge went off at 10:55 a.m.

Speculation quickly arose that the United States would thrust a mighty retaliatory strike at Communist North Viet Nam, possibly even hitting Hanoi, the capital.

"After our recent raids north, what else can we do for an encore?" an American woman inquired.

Seven of the injured Americans, including a woman secretary, were in serious condition. Sofe with eye injuries from flying glass were flown to Clark Air Base in the Philippines for specialist treatment.

(In Washington, the state department reported a total of 196 casualties. It listed two Americans and 11 Vietnamese dead; 54 Americans and 129 Vietnamese injured.)

Terrorist Shot By Policeman

The Vietnamese dead included one of two terrorists who participated in the bombing. The other, who carried a .45-calibre pistol, was shot by a policeman just before the bomb went off and was in serious condition.

Among non-American foreigners injured by the blast were a French businessman and several Japanese residents of Saigon.

The blast punched a gaping hole in the five-storey concrete embassy. It shattered every window and dug an enormous crater in the street.

Flames and smoke mushroomed 300 feet into the air.

The bombing was one of the worst terrorist blows delivered by the Communist Viet Cong. The embassy, the target of several previous attacks, had been considered a prime goal of the Communists since U.S. air strikes began against North Viet Nam Feb. 7.

Twenty-four South Vietnamese fighter-bombers bombed a North Vietnamese air base near Dong Hoi today, but a U.S. spokesman said the raid was not in direct retaliation for the bombing of the embassy.

The American planes accompanied the South Vietnamese aircraft, attacking anti-aircraft installations and carrying out photo econnaissance.

Raid on North 'Very Successful'

None of the attacking planes was reported hit or shot down. A South Vietnamese spokesman said the raid was "very successful" and that the pilots reported 90 per cent of their targets were destroyed.

But Peking radio claimed five U.S. and South Vietnamese planes were shot down in the raid on Dong Hoi. The broadcast said many others were damaged by North Vietnamese army units.

The spokesman said Dong Hoi has an 1,800-yard runway and a gasoline storage depot. It is about 75 miles north of the 17th parallel, the border between North and South Viet Nam.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell Taylor was in Washington reporting to president Johnson on the intensifying U.S. military effort against the Communists when the blast occured.

About 150 embassy personnel and visitors were in the embassy when the large black sedan turned into a street alongside just before 10:55 a.m.

Most of those at the scene were killed or disabled, but a reconstruction of the attack indicated:

The car stopped and a South Vietnamese policeman ordered the driver to move on. The driver said he had engine trouble.

A motorcycle pulled up, the driver leaped from the car onto the seat behind the cyclist and they started off. The policeman fired at the terrorists and was killed as they fired back.

Another policeman wounded the motorcycle driver, dropping him to the street. Just then the bomb exploded with a roar heard for miles. The other terrorist and several policemen were killed in the blast.

Everyone in the nearby ground-floor consular section of the embassy was wounded to some degree.

American servicemen ran to the scene from blocks away and dashed into the building to help the injured.

Reporters who arrived on the scene minutes after the explosion saw American women secretaries, blood flowing from cuts and other wounds, helping to tend persons more seriously injured.

More than 30 cars in the area were damaged. Some of them caught fire.

Probe 'Murder, Terror'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives' committee on UN-American activities voted unanimously today to conduct an investigation into the activities of the Ku Klux Klan, the white-supremacist organization.

Chairman Edwin E. Willis (Dem.—La.) said the committee's preliminary study indicates "that shocking crimes are carried out by highly-secret action groups within the Klans."

These groups, Willis said, are known as "knockoff squads" or "holy terrors."

Willis also announced that the committee instructed him to go on with his preliminary inquiry into activities of the Black Muslims, the American Nazi party and The Minutemen, an extreme-rightist anti - Communist group.

The committee said its decision for a congressional investigation of the Klan was based on three factors:

Preliminary study "clearly indicated the Klan activities are such that investigation is called for."

Statements by federal officials indicating that Klan members have been involved "in a number of recent murders and other unconstitutional acts of violence and terrorism."

President Johnson's appeal last Friday in which "he indicated support for congressional investigation of the Klans as an aid to enactment of remedial legislation."

Wallace To Consider Negro Plea

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—George C. Wallace, the segregationist governor of Alabama, today "cordially and courteously" received an interracial civil rights delegation which asked him to end police brutality against Negroes.

It was the first meeting the governor has granted such a group.

The 16 civil rights leaders, all but one a Negro, also asked Wallace for a more liberal policy of registering Negro voters and removal of the poll tax.

Wallace, who met with the group in his office at the capitol, did not immediately comment on the meeting with the delegation he had previously refused to see.

A spokesman said the group asked Wallace to "use his great power of leadership to bring peace to our state."

The Rev. Joseph Lowery, leader of the group, said Wallace received them "cordially and courteously" when they presented him a petition of grievances and spelled out specific needs. Lowery said Wallace "promised to give consideration to them."

Wallace was asked to appoint Negroes to the highway patrol immediately, Lowery said, and to policy-making boards.

"We also asked him to give his leadership in building bridges of communication in our state," Lowery said.

Pearson Favors Flag Use Control

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Monday he thinks consideration should be given to legislation controlling the use made of the maple leaf flag.

He was commenting at the request of J. Chester MacRae (PC-York-Sunbury) who drew his attention to a Canadian Press photo of a maple leaf flag design being used as an awning at a meat market.

★ ★ ★ Chinese Delaying Second Bomb?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Red China may be delaying the explosion of its second nuclear bomb for political reasons, administration officials said today.

They said U.S. intelligence sources are agreed Peking is capable of setting it off "at any moment." Many experts are convinced it has been ready for a week or two.

This has led to speculation that the Communist Chinese are waiting to time the blast for maximum psychological effect, presumably in connection with the Viet Nam crisis.

KAULA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI) — An important Malaysian official said today Red China was helping Indonesia develop an atomic bomb.

Need More Cash For Informers

SAIGON (AP)—Several South Vietnamese undercover agents said today the bombing of the U.S. Embassy might have been avoided if more money had been available to pay informers.

There may even have been an element of grudge involved in the bombing, one said.

Britain Seeks Peace Conference

LONDON (CP)—Britain prepared approaches to China and North Viet Nam Monday to arrange Viet Nam truce talks for peace envoy Patrick Gordon Walker.

In Peking, where Britain has a diplomatic mission, Charge d'Affaires Terence Garvey is to sound out Chinese leaders on whether they will receive Gordon Walker for an exchange of views on the crisis.

In Hanoi, British Consul-General Myles Ponsonby will ask President Ho Chi-minh's regime whether the British envoy's visit can be set up.

Wilson Concerned

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson today expressed concern about possible escalation of the war in Viet Nam. But, he told the House of Commons, Britain has been assured by U.S. officials that a recent statement made by U.S. Ambassador General Maxwell D. Taylor regarding unlimited intensification of the war in Viet Nam did not mean any change in U.S. policy.

Pension Plan Passed By Huge Majority

Special Times Series

Deductions Pose Interesting Problem

(Second of four articles.)

When the contributions portion of the Canada Pension Plan is examined in greater detail, it is found that the $600 annual exemption—to be applied at a rate of $50 monthly —creates some interesting situations. The following examples illustrate them:

● Earnings of more than $5,000 annually:

Consider an employee with earnings of $12,600 in 1966. His required contribution will be 1.8 per cent of $4,400 (the $5,000 maximum less the $600 exemption). Thus, he must pay $79.20 for the year.

He will not contribute one-twelfth of the $79.20 each month, however. Instead, his monthly contribution will be based on his monthly earnings reduced by $50. If his earnings were $1,050 each month, he would contribute $18 in each month from January through April, $7.20 in May, and nothing for the rest of the year.

● A part-time worker:

Suppose an employee works for the first four months of the year at a rate of $300 monthly and is unemployed from May to December. His employer will have deducted (.018) (4) ($300—$50=$18.00).

But the employee's true contribution is: .018 ($1,200—$600=$10.80).

In this case, the employee and the employer have overpaid by $7.20. The employee may claim a refund, but the employer can't.

● A "moonlighter":

Take the person employed at two jobs throughout the year. One pays $250 monthly, the other, $100 monthly.

That adds up to an income of $350 monthly, or $4,200 annually.

The first employer deducts 1.8 per cent of $200 for 12

Conservative senators are expected to mount a stiff fight against some features of the bulky bill. But they are outnumbered 61 to 33 by Liberals.

Opposition MPs heaped criticism on the legislation for 26 days, calling it a new tax, a fraud and a vote-getting gimmick. But when the vote on third reading finally came, only seven Creditistes and five Prairie Conservatives opposed the plan.

The measure was supported by 96 Liberals, 47 Conservatives 13 New Democrats, Social Credit MPs H. A. Olson (Medicine Hat) and Marcel Lessard (Lac-St. Jean) and independent MP Remi Paul (Berthier-Maskinonge-Delanaudiere), a former Conservative.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson were among 91 MPs in the 265-seat chamber who missed the big vote. Mr. Diefenbaker endorsed the bill with reservations Friday while Mr. Thompson strongly criticized it.

Opposition groups made three last-ditch attempts Monday to

$7 MILLION TOTAL SAVING

Power Rates Reduced 15 to 20%

B.C. Hydro's third power-cut rate since 1962 will save the average householder up to 20 per cent per month.

The latest cut, announced Monday night by Hydro co-chairmen Dr. H. L. Keenleyside and Dr. G. M. Shrum, will mean a total saving of $7,000,000 annually by Hydro customers.

The new rates will take effect the month of April and will show for the first time on bills received in May.

Most of the benefit from the new rates will be shared by householders in residential areas.

Average reduction will be 15 per cent with small power users enjoying up to a 20 per cent reduction in their monthly bills.

In addition to the rate cuts Hydro will also make available, for the first time in B.C., unlimited quantities of "one-cent power."

The first 300 kilowatt hours will cost two cents per kilowatt, reduced from 2½ cents, with all additional power used costing one cent per kilowatt hour for all residential users.

MORE TO COME

Hydro officials predict that the cuts will bring major increases in the use of power.

Along with the announced rate reductions the Hydro officials gave promise of other cuts to come.

"Unlike other fuels," the officials stated, "the cost of generating electricity will be reduced in the years to come. The production of very large amounts of electricity from the Peace and Columbia Rivers will result in major cost savings which will be passed on to the people of British Columbia."

The new rates will also bring savings of more than $1,500,000 to non-industrial users served at primary voltage.

Standard rates have now been established for these customers, a move calculated to bring savings to schools, business houses, hotels and motels.

Farmers also come in for a slice of the pie.

The energy charge for irrigation pumping loads up to 100-horsepower will now be 85 cents per kilowatt hour subject to the standard charge of $6.60 per person.

The new rate will reduce irrigation power charges up to 50 per cent.

Quake Rocks Islands But Sea Stays Calm

The earthquake measured about 7.5 on the Richter scale and a Dominion Astrophysical Observatory spokesman said this would have been "disastrous" in a built-up area.

He said the earthquake occurred near Attu Island near the tip of the Aleutians, which reach far towards Asia from southwest Alaska.

Vancouver Island civil defence officials were alerted for a possible tidal wave but by 10 p.m. the alert was cancelled when no wave appeared.

W. G. Milne, geophysicist with the observatory on Little Saanich Mountain, said there was no relation between the Chilean and Aleutian quakes.

YIPEE . . . WE DIDN'T WIN . . . BUT ERROR UPSETS HUSBAND

LANGLEY, B.C. (CP) — "Thank heavens!"

Mrs. Gordon Pearce had just learned her husband did not win $150,000.

"I'm glad," she said in an interview Monday.

Her husband, a hardware merchant in this Fraser Valley city 30 miles east of Vancouver, had been officially listed as holder of an Irish Sweepstake ticket on Jay Trump, winner of the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree, England, Saturday.

However, he was informed by telephone the listing was a clerical error.

"Thinking we had won was tough to live with," said Mrs. Pearce. "It upset my family, phones were ringing, radio and newspapers were calling, the kids got excited and we didn't have any rest at all."

"Now we can go on like we were," she said. "We don't have to decide what to do with the money."

Mr. Pearce opened his store as usual Monday saying he was "upset about the error."

"I can't understand an organization like the Irish Sweepstakes making an error like that.

"We tried not to get worked up, but you do get worked up over something like this. It doesn't happen every day."

Mr. Pearce, father of three teen-age sons, will still receive a consolation prize of about $1,100 for his ticket on John O'Groats, a non-starter in the race.

Overflow Crowd Hears 'Hotliner'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Between 7,000 and 10,000 people attempted to jam into the downtown Queen Elizabeth Theatre Monday night to hear controversial broadcaster Pat Burns protest his being dropped by a Vancouver radio station.

An estimated 2,900 filled the 2,800-seat theatre while another 7,000 stood in the pouring rain outside to hear Mr. Burns over a public address system.

Several fist fights erupted when attempts were made to break through police lines blocking entrances.

During the near-riotous evening, a bomb scare was turned in and three fire engines arrived to answer what turned out to be a false alarm. A police riot squad searched the stage area of the theatre but no bomb was found.

Radio Station CJOR until recently carried Burns "Hot Line" program in which the public telephoned the station and spoke with Burns as the conversation was broadcast.

However, CJOR president Mrs. Marie Chandler announced last week that the station would not meet Burns' latest contract demands.

$3,000 A MONTH

CJOR said Burns had proposed in his new contract a salary of $3,000 a month plus 15 per cent of the profits of the station over $50,000; a $1 talent fee for commercials which would cost $77 a day; a new car every year with the station assuming all related expenses except gas and oil; and a guaranteed salary for life even if his program was not aired for any reason.

In his 2½-hour speech Burns said the station's move must go down "as the most sordid act in the history of commercial broadcasting."

Burns claimed he was dropped by the station not because of his contract demands, but because he refused to tone down attacks on "The Establishment."

Defending his contract demands, Burns said: "Sure, I made these impossible demands, but they were made in the form of notes for negotiation purposes and I wanted them to be tough.

"I wanted these points to be so tough that I could use them as a bargaining basis to preserve the one clause in the contract which would ensure the integrity of the Hot Line program and its principle of freedom of speech."

He said that every day "there was pressure from those at the station who would have had me tone down the program so that it was more acceptable to "The Establishment." But I would not betray my principles and your trust.

"And if my voice has been temporarily stilled, so has yours," he told his cheering audience.

A department store that regularly sponsored the Burns program paid for the rental of the Queen Elizabeth Theatre.

'All Share' In Death, Says Cleric

DETROIT (UPI)—Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, the first white woman killed in the current civil rights drive, was laid to rest today in simple ceremonies attended by state and national figures leading the drive for Negro rights.

The Roman Catholic cleric who delivered the eulogy said "far too many of us have a share" in her untimely death.

Father James Sheehan, director of the archbishop's committee on human relations, preached the sermon in Immaculate Heart of Mary Church and took the occasion to lash out at the social climate in the South and the failure of the clergy to lead in the fight for civil rights.

SOME WEPT

Father Sheehan stood behind the casket, draped in black, and delivered the sermon in English as the Liuzzo family and close friends listened with bowed heads. Some wept.

Father Sheehan said it would be impossible for "an ambassador or a Peace Corps man" to explain what happened to Mrs. Liuzzo.

He compared Mrs. Liuzzo's death and the recent happenings in Selma and elsewhere with Nazi Germany during the 1930s. Then he launched into a condemnation of the South for holding the Negro people down.

Liquor Ads Now Allowed In Alberta

The regulations were approved Monday by cabinet.

Manufacturers will be allowed to advertise brands by referring to trademarks, brand names, labels, slogans and recipes but no advertisement will be allowed to promote the use of liquor.

Premier Manning said earlier this week a change in regulations had been under consideration for some time, in view of the large volume of outside material that comes into the province containing liquor ads.

All liquor advertising in publications must be approved by the Liquor Control Board. A ban on radio and TV advertising remained unchanged.

Salmon Quota Raised

TOKYO (AP)—Japan and the Soviet Union agreed today to set Japan's 1965 quota of salmon fishing in the northwestern Pacific at 115,000 tons, or 5,000 tons more than last year's quota.

Jones Clears Desk To Sever All Ties

George E. P. Jones, fired last Friday by legislative vote, cleared his desk Monday and walked out of the office he had occupied for nine years.

No reasons were given for his dismissal other than the bare statement that the government had "lost confidence" in him as chairman of the purchasing commission.

Suspended without pay last October following the laying of charges that he unlawfully accepted benefits from Victoria car dealer George Hankinson—charges subsequently dismissed in court—Mr. Jones continued to perform his duties daily.

In the bill to "retire" him, Mr. Jones was granted $15,675 in lieu of 18 months pay plus a pension.

He has been succeeded temporarily by R. G. McKee, deputy minister of forests.

Mr. McKee said he has put "a couple of hours a day" as pro tem chairman until a permanent appointment is made.

He has launched a slander suit against Premier Bennett for alleged statements made to a Victoria Social Credit meeting a few weeks ago.

N.Y. FACING ANOTHER NEWS STRIKE

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators raced the clock today in final efforts to avert a strike when contracts in the city's newspaper industry expire at midnight tonight.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who helped end the 114-day newspaper shutdown two years ago, said that if agreement had not been reached by 4 p.m. he would call both sides to meet with him immediately at city hall.

Automation and wages are vital issues in the talks.

. . . PLAN PASSED

re-open discussion on details of the complex 125-clause bill but they were voted down by the minority government.

Revenue Minister Benson, who largely replaced Health Minister Judy LaMarsh in piloting the bill, Monday accused the Conservative, New Democratic and Creditiste parties of filibuster and delaying tactics aimed at killing the plan.

NDP Leader Douglas retorted that this was a false and utterly irresponsible charge. The pension legislation had been in and out of the Commons in various forms for nearly two years because of the government's ineptitude and inefficiency, he added.

The plan, introduced in a substantially different version June 21, 1963, is slated to come into force next Jan. 1 and build up a multi-billion reserve fund over the next 10 years, when maximum benefits of $104 a month will be paid out.

Today the Commons resumed debate on a bill authorizing Quebec, or any other province, to opt out of 17 federal-provincial joint programs. The government hopes to wind up the record-long, 244-day session this week and open a new one immediately afterward.

The contentious opting-out principle also applies to the pension plan. The Quebec government is expected to introduce its own scheme shortly providing for the same rates of contributions and benefits.

DEBATED FOUR DAYS

The bill passed Monday night was introduced last Oct. 28 and debated for four days before receiving second reading — approval in principle—by a vote of 184 to 0 Nov. 18. The 13 Creditistes abstained from voting.

The seven Creditistes voting against the plan on third reading were Leader Real Caouette, Gilles Gregoire (Lapointe), Robert Beaule (Quebec East), Gerard Perron (Beauce), Gilbert Rondeau (Shefford), Charles-Eugene Dionne (Kamouraska) and Pierre-Andre Boutin (Dorchester).

The five dissident Conservatives were Terry Nugent (Edmonton Strathcona), Jack McIntosh (Swift Current - Maple Creek), Clifford Smallwood (Battle River-Camrose), Lawrence Watson (Assiniboia) and Drummond Clancy (Yorkton).

In the first of four votes at the Monday evening sitting, an NDP amendment to send the bill back to committee stage for reconsideration of the $75 flat-rate pension was defeated 96 to 76.

The mover, Robert Prittie (NDP — Burnaby - Richmond), said higher living costs make a $100 flat-rate pension necessary. Mr. Benson replied that such an increase would cost $810,000,000 annually.

The Prittie motion was opposed by 94 Liberals, Quebec Conservative Leader Leon Balcer and Mr. Paul. It was backed by 52 Conservatives, 15 New Democrats, seven Creditistes and two Social Crediters.

Stanley Knowles, NDP whip, immediately moved a second amendment to re-open debate on the minimum pension age. He suggested it should be lowered to 65 from 70 immediately.

This motion was defeated 94 to 75. The Liberals were alone against 51 Conservatives, 14 New Democrats, seven Creditistes, two Social Crediters and Mr. Paul.

The Creditistes then sought to move an amendment splitting the bill into contributory and flat-rate pension sections with a vote on each.

Deputy Speaker Lucien Lamoureux ruled the amendment out of order, the Creditistes appealed and were crushed 160 to 7. The six Creditistes voting were joined by George Muir (PC—Lisgar).

months, or $43.20. The second deducts 1.8 per cent of $50 for 12 months, or $10.80. Thus, a total of $54 is deducted.

But when the employee calculates his true contribution, he finds it should be 1.8 per cent of his annual earnings of $4,200, reduced by his $600 exemption. The contribution, figured this way, is $64.80. He owes the plan $10.80.

- A self-employed worker: The example is taken from evidence presented to the joint committee of the Senate and House of Commons.

A person resided in Alberta as of the last day in the year and had self-employed earnings of $4,000. He also had salary and wages of $2,000, and had been allowed the basic exemption of $600 by his employer.

The contributor would be required to contribute $108 on his self-employed earnings. This contribution is computed at the rate of 3.6 per cent of the lesser of amount (a) or amount (b) as follows:

Self-employed earnings amount (a)	$4,000
Maximum contributory earnings on which a contribution can be made (Section 15)	$4,400
Deduct: Salary and wages on which a contribution has been made ($2,000-$600)	$1,400
Balance of maximum contributory earnings. Amount (b)	$3,000
Self-employed earnings subject to a contribution (lesser of Amount (a) or Amount (b)	$3,000
Contribution payable 3.6 per cent of $3,000	$ 108

Thus, between his employment and his self-employed earnings, the person has contributed on the maximum amount allowable — that is, $4,400 ($3,000 self-employed earnings at the rate of 3.6 per cent, plus $1,400 salary and wages at the rate of 1.8 per cent).

The adjustment situations illustrated are small, in comparison to those of a worker who migrates to or from Quebec during the year. Quebec will have its own separate plan.

The last major terrorist attack on an American installation in Saigon was the Christmas Eve bombing of the Brink Hotel, the major U.S. officers' billet in the capital. Two Americans were killed and 81 Americans and Vietnamese were injured.

A U.S. military billet at Qui Nhon was bombed Feb. 10, and 23 Americans died.

Among earlier attempts on the embassy was one in which a grenade concealed in a loaf of bread was thrown at the building. It failed to go off.

Ten days ago, police announced they had foiled a plot to bomb the embassy. They found 35 pounds of plastic explosives hidden in a Saigon house by Communist terrorists.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

A ridge of high pressure lying over the north coast this morning is moving slowly southward. Clearing in the vicinity of the ridge has already extended to the west coast of Vancouver Island and will begin to take place over the remainder of the south coast this afternoon. Clearing should extend into most of the interior tonight. Another Pacific disturbance is now moving through the Gulf of Alaska. This system will bring rain to the north coast early Wednesday morning and to northern Vancouver Island in the afternoon.

CBC STRIKE PROGRAM UNDER FIRE

Complete Falsehood Says ITU Chief

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Labor Minister Leslie Rowntree said Monday a television program was entirely wrong to suggest that the introduction of computers is the continuing cause of a strike of printers at the three Toronto daily newspapers.

Local 91 of the International Typographical Union (CLC) went on strike at The Telegram, Star, and Globe and Mail last July 9. The papers have continued to publish.

The computer issue was settled about a week after the strike began and other issues are holding up the settlement of the dispute, Mr. Rowntree told the legislature.

Eddie Sargent (L — Grey North) has protested against what he described as the sorry spectacle of honest workers begging for their jobs on the CBC's program Men Against Computers shown Sunday night.

Mr. Sargent charged that the government had failed in its first real test of the introduction of automation by not ending the dispute.

Mr. Rowntree called the Liberal member's statement irresponsible and asked if he would advocate the government stepping in and compulsorily ending of all labor disputes. He added automation had been in process "since the wheel was invented."

Robert McCormack, president of Local 91, said the TV program "was a complete falsehood."

"We have never opposed computers," he said in an interview. "But we have insisted on jurisdiction over computers when they perform composing room work."

This issue was settled last July 29. The publishers submitted amended proposals on other issues.

Oil Firms Object To Zone Changes

Saanich council will be asked to approve revamping of existing commercial zoning subject to a number of details being worked out.

The recommendation came from a public hearing Monday night when the chief opposition came from a group representing the major oil companies of B.C.

The zoning changes would replace the present single zone with its list of possible uses with four levels of zoning designed to contain all commercial uses—local, commercial, gasoline stations, shopping centres and general commercial.

The changes are designed to provide realistic controls to attract and encourage proper commercial development.

W. H. Fraser of the Petroleum Industry Committee of Vancouver Board of Trade presented a brief criticizing application of the changes to gasoline stations.

He said proposed gas stations should determine their own size and that minimum site area requirements are unnecessary.

Municipal planner Tom Loney said this would give gas station developers a blank cheque to develop any site considered potentially valuable.

In addition, it would discriminate against other forms of commercial development subject to regulations.

Minimum areas for interior sites are planned for 12,000 square feet and for corner lots 16,800 square feet.

Mr. Fraser also wanted gas stations to be permitted in the shopping centre and general commercial zones.

Mr. Loney replied that gas stations would be permitted in shopping centres but not in general commercial.

To do this would open up many areas for gas station development, some of which were quite unsuitable and over none of which council would have any control.

Councillors agreed to leave the gas station section open for further discussion at later meetings.

Record Tax Evasion

MONTREAL (CP)—Charles Valiquette Monday was fined $150,000 and was sentenced to two months in jail in what investigators called the biggest case of tax evasion ever prosecuted by the federal government. Sessions Judge Marcel Gaboury imposed the sentence on Valiquette, 60, who pleaded guilty last Nov. 23 to 14 charges of failing to report $3,238,354 in taxable income to the federal government from 1947 to 1960.

PUBLIC FISH SALE CONVICTION STANDS

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Court of Appeal Monday dismissed an appeal of Stanley Karchaba, convicted in a lower court of operating a business without a city permit by selling fish to the public.

Karchaba was charged in July, 1963 when fishermen were selling fish to the public with the announced intention of giving some of the proceeds to striking members of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.) involved in a three-week strike against B.C. canneries in a contract dispute.

Court was told gross proceeds from the sale at the national harbors board's False Creek terminals here reached $10,000 in one day.

In his judgment dismissing the appeal, Mr. Justice H. A. Maclean said the sale was a commercial operation.

"The fact that part of the profits were to be paid later to persons not involved in the operation, or for purposes said to be purely charitable, which is debatable, is quite irrelevant.'

Mr. Justice Maclean ruled the city bylaw requiring a selling licence "fully applied even though the sales were conducted on national harbors board property."

ITINERARY COMPLETED

'Lot of Enthusiasm' For Visit to Quebec

Mayor R. B. Wilson and his band of British Columbia "Anglais" will see Quebec in May from the muddy St. Lawrence River and habitant villarges to metro Montreal and Government House.

Five days in Quebec province for members of the Union of B.C. Municipalities and their wives will include stops in Montreal, Quebec City, Sherbrooke or Trois Rivieres and the model town of Esterel.

The visit represents chapter two of an inter-municipal relationship established in November when 300 members of the Union of Quebec Municipalities visited Victoria and Vancouver.

This time up to 200 UBCM delegates, their wives and senior civic officers from many parts of the province will fly to Vancouver May 12, prior to the annual meeting in Windsor of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

"Announcement of the impending visit has stirred a lot of enthusiasm, especially when first indications show that you will come in impressive numbers," wrote Marcel Lambert, executive director of QUM.

He sent Mayor Wilson, vice-president of UBCM and originator of last year's visit, a copy of an itinerary that provides for:

Sightseeing, six receptions, cocktails with the Quebec lieutenant-governor and with the mayor of Montreal, a visit to Expo 67 fair grounds, a bus trip along the St. Lawrence and a visit to a Laurentian resort.

Ample time for personal sightseeing and shopping is provided, as well as an opportunity for visitors to meet and dine with Quebec families.

Mayor Wilson telephoned QUM president Rosaire Gendron, mayor of Riviere-du-Loup, Monday to arrange a personal visit and express how much British Columbians were looking forward to the journey.

The hosts appear as anxious to make the visit a memorable one in the exchange of east-west understanding. Jacques Belair, president of a Montreal travel agency, arranged the schedule.

Ont. MLAs Get $3,000 Pay Boost

TORONTO (UPI) — Ontario Premier John Robarts introduced a bill in the legislature Monday to raise the pay and allowances of the province's 108 members of parliament.

All members will get a $3,000 raise in pay, from $5,000 to $8,000 a year, under the bill.

Tax-free expense allowances will be increased to $4,000 a year for the 79 members from ridings outside of Toronto, and to $3,000 a year for those in Toronto. At present, expense allowances are $2,000 a year.

Robarts said members from outside Toronto need the extra $1,000 because of hotel and restaurant expenses.

Film Evening To Assist King Fund

Victoria Natural History Society will sponsor a film evening in aid of the Freeman (Skipper) King fund Friday at 8 p.m. in the Oak Bay Junior High School auditorium.

The award-winning wildlife film, Valley of the Swans, will be followed by the premiere showing of Eskimo Arctic.

W. A. Edwards' Eskimo Arctic, shown for the first time in B.C., was photographed during 1957 and 1958 while Mr. Edwards worked with the Department of of Northern Affairs and National Resources. It was taken in the Ungava and western Hudson Bay regions.

The film will describe facets of Eskimo life and Arctic wildlife such as the Eider ducks, the Baloga (white) whales and the snow geese.

Valley of the Swans won the Theodore Roosevelt award as best outdoor documentary of the year in 1964. Bernard Atkins shot the film in 1962-63 for the Department of Recreation and Conservation of the B.C. government.

Mr. Atkins, who will present the film along with biologists Glen Smith and Charles Guiget, has made 16 films for the government, eight of which have won awards.

BIRD SOUNDS

Following the films Mrs. Grace Bell of Victoria, who contributed bird sounds for Valley of the Swans, will give a short demonstration of equipment used by the Cornell University Ornithological Laboratory in New York.

There will be no admission charge for this evening of entertainment, but donations will be gratefully accepted for the Freeman F. King Scholarship Fund. The fund has a goal of $5,000, an amount that will support an annual $250 scholarship in some field of natural history at the University of Victoria.

The problems which faced Canada 100 years ago have changed somewhat but have not disappeared, it was suggested Monday by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

"Quebec still believes it is not entered fully into the Canadian economy.

"We are saying the same thing in B.C., but with a different accent," he told about 200 members of the Credit Granters' Association and the Canadian Consumer Credit Association.

"In B.C. we would like to be a part of Canada, as we are, but we earn our money differently."

Mr. Bonner said the bulk of the province's economy depends on international trade.

"The affluence of the Prairies depends upon the success of the wheat crop and ours depends on international trade.

"The affluence of the Prairies depends upon the success of the wheat crop and ours depends upon international trade.

"It is fair to say we are enjoying the security of an economy which our forbears predicted."

Mr. Bonner said there are still only five economic regions in Canada and "any province or economic region will have to work out their own problems."

He said in the last four years, while the Canadian economy has been undergoing a great expansion, we have achieved a period of stability.

"The result is we have almost accidentally achieved some sort of equilibrium in economic factors."

He said in B.C. there is a great deal of affluence from which the Canadian economy is deriving benefit.

VICTORIA, B.C., TUESDAY, MARCH 30, 1965—PAGE 13

Well!

Back again.

It's been a long time—better than two months, in fact—since I fed copy paper into this docile typewriter, slugged it 'Mayse . . . Tuesday column . . .' and settled comfortably to work.

My hasty Monday visits, I don't count. Those were just to keep a foot in the door until our provincial parliament had wound up its string, and I could come home to this page.

So now for a casual ramble, in the course of which we might pause for a look at the islet a few hundred yards off Oak Bay which appears on the charts as 'Mary Todd'.

As far as most of us who ply those close-to-home waters are concerned, however, the rocky, treeless little Island is going to retain its proper longshore name.

'Jimmy Chicken', we call it, following the lead of oldtimers who remember how and why it acquired so intriguing a title.

There was once, I've been told by men who as boys caught many a salmon around that rugged nubbin, a not entirely reputable character who spent part of his year smallboat fishing off the Chathams, and the remainder camped on Oak Bay's closest-in island.

He was a gentle soul, always ready to teach a boy how to rig a trolling line, but he did have one minor weakness. This was a fondness for other peoples' chickens; and according to legend, his hen-snatching ability was such that he once lifted a fowl out of a pot on a kitchen stove.

"Jimmy Chicken" folks called him. His name passed to the island where he made his leanto camps, and even though the charts state otherwise, there it will remain.

I hope so, anyway!

Life was simpler back then, when the 12-hour day was standard, and nobody had heard or even dreamed of a little horror of a word called automation.

Even so, Victoria's world wasn't standing still, and in a 1901 newspaper sent me by dental surgeon Stan Miles, the old and the new are locked in mortal combat.

'Lights that Light! Victoria Gas Company advertised; while a few inches distant, B.C. Electric Railway Company called attention to its new-fangled product with, "Light that is Right!"

What I am trying to make plain in a lazy, sneaky kind of way, is that man in his questing is never long content with what he has. The gas company lost, electricity triumphed. Horse and buggy were ousted by the assembly-line automobile. Today we have the machine that does the work of hundreds of hands with inhuman speed and precision.

No use to smash the machines. They're here to stay. More sensibly, we might have a try at restoring the presently unequal balance between the scientist and the humanist.

My quarrel with the scientist is that too often he has no concern with where the human chips may fall. Your humanist does care; and if we escape becoming a robot race within the next century, we will have him and his kind to thank.

What he can do for us is teach us to live with, and in spite of, the machines in the new world of leisure which is no idle promise.

I'm all for more philosophers along with the spacebusters.

I think it's high time the professor of English got his place in the sun with the nuclear physicist.

I despise the so-called university which glorifies the researcher while scamping its students of a true education.

This is heresy, I know, and we have strayed a far remove from Jimmy Chicken Island. But what signifies the mechanical brain that cuts the 40-hour work week by half if it also reduces man's humanity?

SEARCH PRESSED FOR BODY

Friends of the family, fishermen and Tofino and Ucluelet RCMP police today were searching for the body of United Church minister Stuart Schoberg.

RCAF search and rescue units pulled out of the search Monday when the clergyman's small boat was found swamped west of Ucluelet.

Mr. Schoberg set out Saturday in a 12-foot, outboard-powered craft on the 22-mile trip by sea from Ucluelet to Tofino.

Strong westerly winds were turning the water into a heavy chop at the time.

Mr. Schoberg's presumed death by drowning recalled a similar incident involving a Ucluelet missionary.

COINCIDENCE

"It's a coincidence that 60 years ago the Reverend Melvin Swartout was missing from the same mission," said Major George Nicholson, 2519 Vancouver Street.

A long-time resident and authority of the district he is the author of the book, "Vancouver Island's West Coast.

In his book Maj. Nicholson tells of the drowning death of the Presbyterian Church teacher and missionary who set out from Ucluelet in a sailboat, July 11, 1904.

That day, the churchman left in rough weather to visit Indian families on nearby islands.

NAMED FOR HIM

The United Church of Canada's mission boat serving Barkley Sound and Kyuquot is named after him.

Mr. Schoberg has a wife and two small children in Ucluelet where he has been pastor of the United Church for several years.

Heart Attack Claimed Driver, Coroner Rules

A coroner's inquiry has found that a man whose car struck a parked vehicle at Blanshard and McClure Saturday afternoon died of a heart attack.

Thomas Cawsey, 45, of 321 Robertson, collapsed at about the time his car ran into a parked vehicle owned by M. J. Cooke, 1021 Pemberton.

The Times wrongly reported Monday that Mr. Cooke was driving his car. Actually it was legally parked.

Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre, said it is impossible to tell if Mr. Cawsay collapsed before or after the accident. He said an inquest will not be held because the second car involved was unoccupied and not in motion at the time.

HOME IN NEW MUSEUM SUGGESTED

By PETE LOUDON

A petition demanding that the famous dugout Tilikum remain on free view, instead of in a private museum, is being launched in Victoria.

G. R. "Rebel" Mowat, who is strenuously opposing Tilikum's acquisition by the new Maritime Museum, where it will be shown for a fee, said he is sending the petition to city council.

Mr. Mowat said today he is willing to concede that Tilikum might be better preserved as an indoors exhibit.

But he says this should be in the proposed new British Columbia Centennial Museum to be built at Belleville and Government.

There is no charge for admission to the B.C. museum and this is the nub of Mr. Mowat's campaign. He says there is evidence that the famous dugout was returned to Victoria in 1930 only on condition that it always be displayed without charge.

Mr. Mowat is supported in this by written accounts of the Tilikum saga in the provincial archives and in stories carried in the morning newspaper as well as the Times.

Excerpts from the memoirs of the late George I. Warren, a former manager of Victoria publicity bureau were also thought to have established the no-fee covenant.

But city clerk M. F. Hunter today said this is not specified in the memoirs. However, attempts are being made to ascertain the facts in England from the donors, Greenwich Yacht Club.

The memoirs did make it clear that Tilikum is the property of Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, now known as Victoria Visitors' Bureau.

And VVB manager Mike Heppel today sid, "If it belongs to the Visitors' Bureau, it belongs to the city."

It was learned the bureau directors likely will discuss Tilikum Friday. To be considered is the fact that provincial authorities removed the boat from Thunderbird Park without reference to the bureau or City Hall.

Also, the vesse was a valuable tourist attraction and this value may be less where an admission is charged.

And it remains to be resolved, in the light of the historical references, whether a trust is being broken by placing Tilikum where it is necessary for people to pay to see her.

Mr. Mowat says Tilikum would be quite properly part of the B.C. Indian exhibit in the Provincial Museum. She was built by an Island tribe 105 years ago, long before Victorian John Voss sailed her across the Pacific, Atlantic and Indian oceans from this port in the early 1900s.

Mr. Mowat says he will ask the city to consider whether it is just that Victoria residents should have to pay to see Tilikum in the museum of a private association which the taxpayers already are supporting.

The city gave the Maritime Museum a five-year lease for the Bastion Street courthouse, plus a $10,000 grant.

This year the city will give the museum an additional $8,000 and guarantee an operating deficit of up to $3,500.

PART OF INDIAN EXHIBIT

Readers wishing to show support to Mr. Mowat's campaign should clip the following, sign it, and send it to him at 1551 Burton Street, Victoria:

I believe Tilikum should be displayed without charge in the interest of visiting tourists and future generations of Victoria and district resident.

Announcement of the loan was made at a special meet- of shareholders of Sheep Creek Mines Ltd. Monday at Vancouver.

The Jordan River mine (Sunro Copper Mine), was flooded Dec. 6, 1963. Cowichan was deleted from the Vancouver Stock Exchange List following the flooding.

The loan, approved by a committee representing Cowichan's unsecured creditors, who are owed a total of $2,100,750, has yet to be ratified by the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Terms of the loan provide that management of Cowichan be taken over by Sheep Creek for three years or until the loan is repaid.

FRONT DOOR TREATMENT FOR THIEF

The janitor, George Harrison, 1043 Wollaston, found the man rifling a desk in a second floor office.

The thief convinced Mr. Harrison that he was an employee and Mr. Harrison escorted him to the front door and let him leave.

Mr. Harrison noticed the supposed employee was covered in mud up to his knees and became suspicious. He checked the building and discovered a window had been broken by the prowler to gain entry.

He called police who immediately searched the area but the thief was gone.

No Evidence Of Rowdyism At Gonzales

City police have checked five Gonzales Beach parties since March 5 without collecting enough evidence to charge anyone for lighting fires or bottle-smashing illegally.

Residents living above the sands petitioned City Hall complaining of loud parties, broken glass and dangerous fires, sometimes left unattended all night.

Chief John Gregory told police commission today the fire department had been called to put out burning material and that police had checked parties regularly.

Warnings have been given but in no case have constables been able to charge any one person with breaking a bottle or lighting a fire.

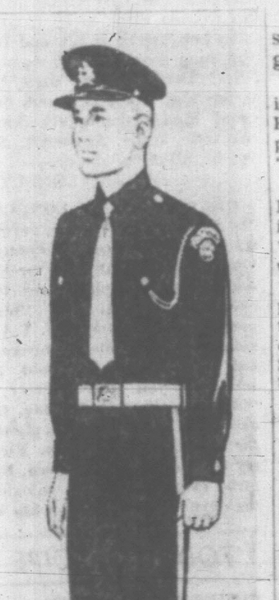
Rest Haven Awaits Simple Order: 'Go'



BOYS ARE LINED UP 30-strong for a chance to wear this natty new uniform approved by city police commission today for a police department boys' band. Chief John Gregory reported the 30 are in addition to 23 youngsters registered. But of the $5,000 needed to outfit the band, only $2,418 has been subscribed. Blue and white uniforms, at about $40 each, and musical instruments will ultimately cost $10,000, for which donations are sought.

Rest Haven Hospital officials have their plans all set to build a $4,000,000 hospital once the government gives the go-ahead.

During the session of the legislature which has just ended Health Minister Eric Martin pledged support for Rest Haven "as soon as possible."

Hospital administrator T. J. Bradley said this morning architects and engineers are "straining at the leash just waiting for the word."

If the government approves plans to replace the existing three-storey frame building located on a small island near Sidney, the new hospital would be built on the "mainland."

10 ACRES

"We have 10 acres of land just across the bridge on the mainland," Mr. Bradley said. "It is our idea to build a new hospital there."

The old hospital would then be used as a convalescent home until it became too old to serve a useful purpose.

'Our hopes for the future—and I admit that some are still in the dream stage—would be to have a 150-200 bed general hospital on the mainland and eventually build a convalescent home or a home for the aged on the island," Mr. Bradley said.

"IDEAL"

"With a system of walkways and a causeway replacing the present bridge it would be ideal for elderly people," he added.

Mr. Bradley said he thought the proposed location of the new hospital would be ideal to serve the Saanich Peninsula and Sidney.

"It has been estimated that by 1980 about 20,000 people will be living on the peninsula," he said. "We feel that a fully equipped general hospital is needed to take care of the medical requirements."

Mr. Bradley said it would not be the intention of the hospital to "compete" with larger hospitals in Victoria.

"People would still have to be referred to Victoria for special treatment," he said. "It would be our idea to build a hospital for active care, general surgery and maternity cases."

RAISE $2 MILLION

If the government approves Rest Haven plans, hospital officials will be faced with the task of raising $2,000,000.

Until 1959 the hospital was entirely financed by members of Seventh Day Adventist Church.

"We never went to the general public for a penny," Mr. Bradley said. "But to raise $2,000,000 we may have to make a plea to the general public."

The provincial government makes a matching grant for hospital construction and the federal government contributes $2,000 a bed.

Average per bed cost of modern hospitals is between $20,000 and $25,000.

The present hospital was built in 1912.

The hospital has always been open to all members of the community.

A $2,000 SCHOLARSHIP in physical education has been awarded to a former Victoria College student, Bryan James Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gray, 523 Oliver, who is now studying toward a master's degree at the University of B.C. Man Admits Buying Spree On Bad Cheques

Detective Lyle Somers said Bell's purchases included a chesterfield suite, a lawn mower, candy and cosmetics and gas and oil.

The accused, who pleaded guilty, also deposited a forged cheque for $250 in his bank account knowing the cheque was forged. Altogether he obtained $432 in cash and goods by means of worthless cheques between March 1 and 10, said Det. Somers.

Crown prosecutor Peter Birkett said Bell has a record for uttering a forgery and false pretences. He was remanded to Wednesday for sentence.

Dr. Mason taught for nine years in Victoria schools before joining the staff of the university in 1956.

Fireman Set to Free Old Flame After Long Neighborhood Affair

There are two essentials when a man sets out to build his own boat—darn good neighbors and a wife who loves the water.

So says Gordon Smith, 51, of 2969 Cedar Hill Road, who will achieve an eight-year ambition Saturday when he launches his home-built 32-foot cabin cruiser.

His wife has shared his dream. His neighbors have shared the noise without flinching, he says.

Actually, Mr. Smith, a city fireman, has put only five years into his boat's construction. He started eight years ago, but then he thought about it for three years before he went on to finish the job.

$7,000 OF OWN

For each Christmas and birthday since then, friends and relatives have spurred him onward with gifts of accessories, controls, his steering wheel. However, he still had to put $7,000 into the craft himself.

It was a good investment. Today the vessel is worth about $16,000 and many a richer man would turn green with envy as he looks over the Mariley-Too.

SLEEPS SIX

Her 32-foot length and 10½-foot beam provides room to sleep six, but she could carry 20 people with comfort.

She was designed by a Cleveland man, Widd Harber, and there are four or five of similar hull construction in local waters. She's a raised deck cruiser with a maximum of enclosed space.

Power comes from a Universal super-six of 145 horsepower, capable of nine or 10 knots cruising speed. She's fitted with a depth finder, hydraulic steering, a pressure pump water supply, a man-sized head, a three-burner range, 60-gallon water tanks and 125 gallons gas storage. All her superstructure is of polished mahogany.

The miracle of it all is that fireman Smith had no training, took no night courses and never built a boat before. He was in the navy, but as a shore-based fireman in wartime.

"I got a couple of books from the library—and tips from every other boat owner I knew," he recalled.

He did hire an expert to caulk her.

Saturday at Ogden Point a moving firm will launch the cruiser and the builder's wife Lorna will "do the champagne bit." One of the two married daughters after whom the Mariley-Too is named, Mrs. Shirley Mayne will come from the mainland with the first granddaughter for the occasion.

The next big day comes three years hence when Mr. Smith retires. Then he plans to put Mariley-Too into the charter party business. And he's warning the salmon now.

Sports Project Started at Bay

DUNCAN—A start has been made on a private outdoor sports layout at Cowichan Bay.

Cowichan Cricket Club has bought 10 acres of land adjoining the South Cowichan Tennis Club property.

It was paid for with part of the $18,500 received from the city of Duncan for the club's previous grounds on Wharncliffe Road—a sale which was controversial for 18 months.

Rugby and grass hockey pitches will be laid out later.

A clubhouse is included in the long-range plans.

BLAMED LIQUOR IN DEATH

NANAIMO — Negligence caused by "alcohol impairment" resulted in the one-car collision death March 13 of a father of two children, a coroner's jury decided Monday.

The Yellow Point Road crash killed Lawrence Oiiva, 38, of 62A Milton.

The jury blamed the car's driver, Warren Soles, 27, of 421 Prideaux.

Soles told the inquest he didn't remember whether he was driving the death car when it went off the road, through a fence and into a field.

Testimony by the other two passengers in the car indicated the man spent the day drinking in one Ladysmith and two Nanaimo pubs.

They also bought a bottle and a mickey of rye and a bottle of rum.

Milk with Everything

We'll wager that scarcely a meal goes by in most Canadian households where milk doesn't find its way to the table in some form . . . either as a tall glass of milk or as part of a delicious dish. Wise mothers use milk whenever possible in cooking, not only for the wonderful flavor and smooth texture it gives to so many dishes but also for the good nutrition it supplies in the form of protein, calcium, riboflavin and Vitamin A.

Breakfast Brief

Milk's a natural atop those crisp ready-to-eat cereals that grace most breakfast tables . . . but a little variety never goes amiss. Some morning soon try a creamy Banana Nog Topping. Whip together a slightly beaten egg, a mashed banana, a tablespoon honey and a cup of milk . . . a snap to mix in the blender but easy too with an electric mixer or rotary beater.

Soup's On

Soup for lunch? Don't be ashamed of using one of the many canned varieties, but do make it with milk for more body and flavor. Another trick is to blend two different flavors if you're feeding more than four . . . a favorite in our kitchen is pea and tomato. Topped with crunchy cheese croutons or a dab of whipped cream, it's truly delicious!

A Sauce-y Trick

When cream sauce is called for in a hurry, here's one you can make in double-quick time. Just blend together a cup of milk and a large (8-ounce) package of cream cheese. Cook over hot water until smooth and piping hot, then stir in ½ cup grated Parmesan Cheese and season to taste with salt and pepper.

Sour Milk Substitute

Remember those marvellous cakes that Grandma used to make with sour milk? Nowadays use buttermilk instead or pour 1 tablespoon of lemon juice into a measuring cup and fill with fresh milk. Let stand a few minutes.

Tenderloin's a Treat . . .

baked in a celery sauce. Combine a can of celery soup, ½ cup milk, a small bay leaf and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Pour over 1½ pounds of "frenched" pork tenderloin in a shallow baking dish. Bake in a 325°F. oven, about 2 hours, basting occasionally to keep the meat moist.

THIS IS THE ERYTRONIUM, Easter lily or dogtooth violet; protect it.

Stay of Execution Asked For 'Lily of Death'

By PETE LOUDON

One of the most delicate and beautiful of all Vancouver Island wild flowers is now starting to bloom.

It is the erythronium, sometimes called the Easter lily or the dogtooth violet.

It should be called the lily of death. Then maybe people would leave it alone, suggests Dr. Adam Szczawinski of the Provincial Museum's botanical department.

The name would be appropriate in another sense because it is dying out. When it is picked it can't spread its seed.

And when it's picked, it usually wilts and dies before the picker gets it home.

Once the erythronium brightened woodlands and meadows of Victoria district. But as housing crept out to the suburbs the lily was picked and trampled until today it is a rarity.

Dr. Szczawinski said the erythronium is not protected by law except in parks where there is a ban against picking any flowering plant.

"Only the trillium, the rhododendron and the dogwood are protected.

"Most authorities are coming to the conclusion that protection by law doesn't mean as much as public education in conservation.

"So enjoy the erythronium, take pictures of it—but leave it alone," he begs.

Let it be a symbol of life everlasting.

Trading Area Plan Studied

DUNCAN—City Council and North Cowichan municipality officials have formed a study committee to investigate a joint trading area, it was disclosed Monday night.

Duncan Mayor Jack Dobson said he expected a recent joint meeting to be the forerunner of other conferences to discuss mutual problems.

The trading area, which will simplify fees and other matters pertaining to businessmen and councils, was suggested earlier this year by North Cowichan Reeve Donald Morton.

The trade committee consists of Ald. Hamish Mutter and chief administrative officer Gordon Berry of Duncan, and Coun. George Whittaker and municipal clerk A. Vande Casteyen of North Cowichan.

The meeting also resulted in studies for joint development of the sewage lagoon, near Duncan's eastern boundary, and location of a $100,000 Duncan Rotary Club swimming pool.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids...and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

THE MAYOR CAN INSERT THE NEEDLE

LADYSMITH — Mayor Kathleen Grouhel almost talked herself into a sewing job at a council meeting on Monday night.

When she asked aldermen if they are going to order a new Canadian flag, Ald. Bernard Churchill said:

"I suggest that seeing the mayor is a seamstress by profession, we ask her to make one."

After a discussion, aldermen agreed to let the mayor off the hook and buy a Maple Leaf flag.

Robert Wood, clerk, said the town has a Red Ensign which had been flown on "rare occasions" but recently when a flagpole was erected the local RCMP put an aerial on it.

Legal Poser: Fence In, Fence Out?

DUNCAN — Cowichan tennis players have a beef about some cattle.

Sometime last week part of a herd of Aberdeen Angus trampled all eight of the club's grass courts at Cowichan Bay.

Jeff Hunter, club president, said Monday: "It made me sick. They have done hundreds of dollars worth of damage."

Who pays for the repairs rests on the answer to the legal question: "Should the farmer fence the cattle in, or should the club fence them out?"

But whoever pays, Mr. Hunter doubts if the courts can be ready for this season's play.

In fact he doubts if they can be restored in time for the popular South Cowichan Open tournament in August.

The cattle apparently broke down a fence designed to keep tennis balls in play.

Mr. Hunter says experts will have to be called in but parts of the courts appear to need re-turfing and reseeding.

Five-Town Incinerator Proposed by Alderman

By DON DINGWALL

LADYSMITH—Erection of a central incinerator to burn garbage of five Vancouver Island centres was proposed to town council Monday night.

Ald. Robert Stillin suggested each of the areas have its own bin and contract to have garbage hauled to the central incinerator plant for disposal.

Centres named were Parksville, Nanaimo, Chemainus, Duncan and Ladysmith which is still looking for a new dump.

"DIM VIEW"

Mayor Kathleen Grouhel read a letter sent by Archie Hill, public health inspector, to North Oyster Ratepayers' Association. He said he took "a dim view" of open garbage as it encouraged rats, smoke and odor.

Mayor Grouhel said the council had no intention of dumping garbage to be a nuisance. The new site, wherever it was, would be properly fenced and a landfill system introduced eventually.

B.C. Hydro announces:

$7.1 MILLION REDUCTIONS IN ELECTRIC RATES

The fourth decrease in rates since formation of B.C. Hydro will bring total customer savings to more than $20 million annually. Cumulative savings will reach $50 million by March 31, 1966

RESIDENTIAL

Residential rates are to be reduced by $5.5 million, giving home-owners an average reduction of almost 15%. This decrease in rates is effective for the first full month's billing after March 31, 1965 and will be reflected in May bills. Combined with previous decreases made since formation of B.C. Hydro in March 1962, it will bring total savings to home-owners alone close to $14 million per year.

This new residential rate will replace two existing rates:

NEW RATE		OLD RESIDENTIAL RATES	without electric heating	with electric heating
First 300 kwh per month	2¢	First 300 kwh per month	2.5¢	2.5¢
		Next 400	0.9¢	0.9¢
All additional	1¢	All additional	1.25¢	1.0¢

Examples:

SMALL USERS, say 150 kwh per month, (lights and small appliances) now paying $3.75 for electric service will pay $3.00 in future – 20% SAVING

MODERATE USERS, say 300 kwh per month, (lights, small appliances and cooking) now paying $7.50 for electric service, will pay $6.00 in future – 20% SAVING

LARGER USERS, say 1000 kwh per month (lights, small appliances, cooking and water heating) now paying $14.85 for electric service will pay $13.00 in future – 12.5% SAVING

ELECTRIC HEATING AND AIR CONDITIONING

All residential customers will now be able to use electric heating at the new low rate of 1¢ per kwh.

A new reduced flat rate of 1¢ per kwh for all power consumed is now available to non-residential customers for space heating and air conditioning. This new rate will be of special interest to schools, motels and apartments.

IRRIGATION

For all irrigation pumping loads up to 100 hp, important rate reductions have been made. The energy charge for these loads will now be 0.85¢ per kwh for all customers, subject to a standard minimum charge of $6.60 per hp per season. This new rate will result in savings of up to 50%.

For all larger installations of 100 hp and over, there will be a new low rate of 0.60¢ per kwh, subject to a minimum charge of $6.60 per hp and a minimum bill of $660.00 per season.

GENERAL PRIMARY RATES

Rates charged to non-industrial customers supplied at primary voltages, such as department stores, hotels, office buildings, large schools and universities, will now be standardized, and will result in customer savings of $1,6 million annually.

These new rates are further evidence of B.C. Hydro's determination to make abundant low-cost power available at standard rates in all the areas it serves.

Through the development of massive amounts of low-cost power from the Peace and Columbia Rivers, British Columbians can look forward to decreasing power costs in future years.

CROWN PRINCESS BEATRIX'S DILEMMA

Dutch Debate Which Prince She Will Marry

THE HAGUE (AP) — The Dutch sense the presence of the royal family in Holland far less than the French feel the presence of President de Gaulle, but at the moment it is a fairly lively subject of fireside conversation.

Largely it has to do with Crown Princess Beatrix, who has just passed her 27th birthday, and has not yet found a prince to her liking.

Twenty-seven is by no means a very advanced age for a woman not to be married. But the problem is that the princely prospects are not very abundant these days. One source in The Hague said a likely probability was that the princess' royal eye would turn toward Germany where her mother, Queen Juliana, and her grandmother, the late Queen Wilhelmina, found their husbands.

"It won't be a French or Italian prince, and above all not Spanish," a well-placed informant prophesied. Princess Irene married Caros Hugo of Bourdon-Parma, prince of Madrid, pretender to the Spanish throne, became a Catholic and created a furore. Before she could go ahead with it she had to renounce her right to succession to the throne. She was number two after Beatrix.

Beatrix' chosen prince must become consort to the queen of the Netherlands, and not be hunting a crown in his own right. Besides, by long tradition, the ruling family must belong to the Reformed Dutch Church, which is Protestant.

The Dutch seem fairly satisfied with their royal family, even though they wouldn't mind if one of these generations a royal prince would come along. The last male ruler, William III, died in 1890 and the country has been a matriarchy since. Wilhelmina became queen at age 10, even though she began ruling only at 18.

She was followed by Juliana,

CROWN PRINCESS BEATRICE

who took over when Queen Wilhelmina abdicated in September, 1948, because of poor health, and retired to her palace at Soestdijk. There she died in 1962.

The family has had its problems, quite apart from Princess Irene. Juliana herself has stirred up the country by her disposition to seek the company and advice of religious mystics. Her insistence on keeping Griet Hofman at her side because Miss Hofman promised to heal the near blindness of Juliana's youngest daughter, Maria Christina, provoked such a crisis in the country in 1956 that the government had to step in.

CONSTANTLY ON STAGE

Being a royal family in Holland is not easy. The country is small and every time one of the family steps out of a palace she is virtually in the centre of the market place. They take their vacations abroad, often in Italy or Switzerland, seeking more privacy than is available at home.

The family includes a fourth princess, Margriet, 22, who is now second in line to the crown after Beatrix. Margriet's engagement to a commoner, Pieter Van Vollenhoven Jr., 25, was announced March 10 by Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard at Soestdijk. The royal family showed much pleasure at the engagement, and parliament is expected to approve the union, thus protecting Margriet's right of succession.

There is no hint in Holland that Juliana plans to retire soon. Her health is good and the country is prosperous.

Sorority Chapters Enjoy Busy Round of Activities

The Royal Colwood Golf Club was the setting when the chapter held its annual dance. The Jay's band played for dancing. Special guests were members of Xi Xi Chapter and Xi Beta Chapter.

Among those representing Xi Chapter were Mrs. B. Hickman, Mrs. J. Okell, Mrs. A. Mercer, Mrs. L. P. Jones, director; Mrs. B. McNally-Dawes, Mrs. S. Wohlleben, the Misses Laura Black, Alice Haines, Eleanor Morris and Sharron Wilson.

Members of the Xi Beta Chapter were guests of honor recently when Xi Chapter hosted an international night party in the Henderson Road home of Mrs. Jones. Guests included Mrs. J. Sparks, Mrs. K. W. Armstrong, Mrs. J. Jackson, Mrs. C. Jones and Mrs. H. Bridger.

Those present from the hostess chapter were Mrs. Hickman, Mrs. A. Loy, Mrs. Mercer, Mrs. McNally-Dawes, Mrs. G. Oakes, Mrs. Okell, the Misses Alice Haines, Betty Ann Hawkins, Eleanor Morris, Marie Tweet and Sharron Wilson.

Prospective members, Mrs. B. East, Mrs. K. Kashor and Miss Anna Larson were guests of honor at a dessert and coffee party in the Larkdowne Road home of Mrs. Okell.

Vice-president, Mrs. Mercer; Mrs. Wohlleben, Mrs. Jones and Miss Haines gave short talks on their impressions and experiences in sorority life.

CANCELS TEA

The tea and fashion show planned by the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Scottish (Princess Mary's) Regiment, for Saturday at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. H. B. Weydert, 2371 Lansdowne Road, has been cancelled because of the recent death of the Princess Royal, colonel-in-chief of the regiment.

THIS BAKERY WON'T SELL ITS PRODUCTS

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary's smallest bakery is also its most exclusive, and its products aren't for sale to the public.

Cloistered nuns of the Sisters Adorers of the Most Precious Blood of Jesus bake all the altar breads for Roman Catholics in the diocese.

Working in two tiny, spotless rooms in the southeast section of the city, four nuns meet orders for a total of 150,000 pieces of altar bread a year.

Mother Mary Francis de Sales, monastery superior, says the altar breads are unleavened "because that is the kind used at the Last Supper." Hundreds of years ago the bread was shaped like small buns but now it is in wafer shape. Altar breads used by the laity are about one inch in diameter, those used by the priest during mass three inches across.

Ottawa Man Gets Jail Term For Vagrancy

An Ottawa man was given a one-month sentence when he pleaded guilty in Saanich court Monday to vagrancy.

Donald Therien, also known as Keith Renfrey, was questioned by Detective George Walton Saturday night.

Det. Walton said that when he asked Therien where he worked the answer came back "What's work."

When he asked him where he lived, Therien replied, "That's anyone's guess."

Det. Walton said Therien refused to account for the car he had been driving. In court Therien told Magistrate William Ostler that the car had been loaned to a friend of his and the friend was later arrested.

Therien has a record for false pretences, theft, driving while disqualified and attempted theft, court was told.

Sponsored by the campus magazine Tryste, the display is in the Student Union Building daily until April 9. The public is invited.

Stately Old House Will be Demolished

Demolition of one of Victoria's fine old homes on Elliot Street to make way for the new provincial museum - archives building, will start in mid-April, a spokesman for the department of public works said today.

The large stone house, named Stonehaven, the home of Misses Aileen and Muriel Aylard, is the last private home on the street.

Also to be torn down on the same street opposite Stonehaven, is the grey-painted wooden house, once a private residence, but used for government offices since 1930.

Dr. Hugh Borsman, chairman of the Greater Victoria Historic Building Foundation, said members inspected the Stonehaven to see if it could be preserved.

"But this was found to be unfeasible," he said. "It will have to be removed to make way for the new building."

Stonehaven was built in 1905 as a private home for contractor George R. Snider, who later moved to Vancouver. It later became the home of John W. Morris of the local real estate firm of Morris and Burndick.

The house was finally bought by George Henry Aylard, who died in 1932. His two daughters have lived in the home ever since.

Three Fined, One Jailed As Impaired

Four men picked up by police over the weekend for impaired driving pleaded guilty when they appeared in court Monday.

He was arrested after he stalled his car at a downtown intersection Saturday afternoon. He told police he had drank a large quantity of wine and beer that afternoon.

Magistrate William Ostler sentenced him to one month on the impaired charge and an additional one month for driving while disqualified. Nelson has a previous conviction for driving while disqualified.

Ralph Schatz, 3049 Earl Grey Street, was arrested after his car hit the rear of another vehicle stopped for a red light on Government late Saturday night.

Crown prosecutor Peter Birkett said Schatz reversed his car after the collision and hit the front of the car behind him. A breath test showed he had a blood alcohol level of .18 per cent.

Schatz was fined $300 and had his licence suspended.

Similar penalties were imposed on Alan Frankland, 2465 Beach Drive, and Nicola Zegaric, 738 Discovery. Mr. Birkett said Frankland was picked up early Sunday at Gorge and Government.

Police said he appeared in a stupor and was not aware that his car was filling with smoke from a rag that was smoldering under a seat. A cigarette butt apparently started the fire.

Zegaric was arrested after his car went into a ditch on Quadra near Nicholson late Sunday night. He told police he had "lots to drink, maybe six, seven, 10 or 11 bottles of beer."

Fire Fighting Equipment Examined

Primary purpose of the inquiry is to acquaint insurance companies with fire defences, said Robert McLeod of Vancouver, representing the Canadian Underwriters Association.

Similar inquiries were conducted in Victoria and Oak Bay in 1961 and in Esquimalt in 1962.

The last time there was such an inquiry in Saanich was in 1955 and since then the population has nearly doubled, said Mr. McLeod.

He will be examining waterworks, pipe sizes, distribution of hydrants, fire department manpower and equipment and their relationship to Saanich's population, buildings and building bylaws.

Twenty-five to 30 tests will be run on hydrants to see how much water is available for fighting fires.

Mr. McLeod will write a report after his inquiry and his recommendations will go to Saanich.

He emphasized there is no cost involved for the municipality. "It is a service from the board insurance companies," he said.

LAWYERS PROSPER

OTTAWA (CP) — Ontario and Newfoundland lawyers had the highest average annual incomes after expenses in Canada for 1962, Revenue Minister Benson reported.

In a written reply to a question by Dr. Guy Marcoux (SC—Quebec-Montmorency), he listed the average incomes for lawyers by provinces as follows:

Newfoundland $16,609; Prince Edward Island $13,500; Nova Scotia $12,859; New Brunswick $14,242; Quebec $14,246; Ontario, $17,176; Manitoba, $13,248; Saskatchewan $12,830; Alberta $15,375; and British Columbia $13,951.

Vancouver Fears Held Groundless

Vancouver fears of superpower contained in new Municipal Act amendments drew little reaction here today, where similar power has existed for eight years.

The legislation—passed Friday—was contained in Bill 83, to set up regional districts for the purpose of controlling joint services.

Because Vancouver has operated under its own city charter, it was not previously affected by a 1957 Municipal Act amendment that gave a local council power to expropriate personal property for municipal purposes.

Giving a semi-metro council authority to seize a man's chattels was looked upon in Vancouver as a serious infringement of civil rights.

"There appears to be nothing new here. There is a precedent in the existing Municipal Act," city solicitor T. P. O'Grady said.

It was pointed out by Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell that when the government studies and implements recommendations of the Clyne report on expropriation the law could be amended further.

Memorial Service For Princess

A memorial service in memory of the late Princess Royal will be held in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday at 3 p.m. by the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's).

The Princess Royal had been the regiment's colonel-in-chief since 1927, and during her last visit to Victoria in June 1962, she presented the regiment with its colors at a royal parade in Beacon Hill Park.

The princess was colonel-in-chief of three other Canadian regiments—the Royal Newfoundland, the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals and the Royal Regiment of Canada.

Lt.-Col. M. W. Allen, commanding officer of the Canadian Scottish, said regimental veterans of the last war would remember with pride the princess's many visits to the First Battalion in Britain while the unit was training for the assault on Normandy.

Attending Sunday's service in the cathedral will be serving members of the regiment, the regimental association, the regimental trustees and veterans who served with the regiment during the war.

Guides and Brownies have happy memories of the Princess Royal's last visit to Victoria in 1962 when she inspected them at Government House.

Bingo for Pensioners

Victoria Old Age Pensioners No. 1, will hold a social bingo at 1600 Government Street, Wednesday at 1:30 p.m.

Historians Want Assurances Fernwood House Will Remain

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Victoria historians are concerned over the future of Fernwood House—the historic brick and stone house which has stood sedately on a hilltop at Oak Bay Junction for more than 100 years.

Built in 1863 by Benjamin William Pearse, the house and its six and a half acres of ground were acquired in 1958 by St. Margaret's School.

Now the school is negotiating to sell the house and four acres of the property in order to finance development of the remaining two and a half acres.

"If the sale goes through, there is no assurance the old house won't be pulled down," said Roderick Clack, who is both a director of the school and a director of the Greater Victoria Historic Buildings Foundation.

"I have a dual interest in this matter," he added, "I am concerned both for the future of the school and the preservation of Fernwood House.

"The fact is the school cannot develop part of the property for future use unless it sells the remaining four acres. And the house stands on the property to be sold."

Mr. Clack said St. Margaret's School is "sympathetic" to the idea the house should be preserved.

"We have therefore suggested that the Historic Buildings Foundation should negotiate with the new owners to have the house left intact."

Mr. Clack said a financial syndicate in Victoria is interested in buying the property but has no present plans for its development.

"We are hoping that, if the syndicate acquires the property, it will not decide on a plan of development requiring removal of the house.

"It is a historic landmark and should be preserved if possible."

A spokesman for the Victoria branch, B.C. Historical Association, said it had received a "verbal assurance" the house would not be destroyed, but Mr. Clack considered this assurance was "unfounded."

Since it acquired the house and property, St. Margaret's School has constructed a playing field and a tennis court on the two and a half acres it wishes to retain.

"Funds are now required for further development of this site," Mr. Clack said.

Records show that Benjamin William Pearse built the house after he came to Victoria from England in 1851. The last member of his family to occupy the house was Mrs. Jenny Pearse who died there in 1954 at the age of 100.

Victoria branch of the B.C. Historical Association is also concerned over the future of the historic Tod house at 2564 Heron Street, believed to be the oldest residential dwelling in British Columbia.

Said to be haunted, the house was acquired by Lt.-Col. T. C. Evans in 1944. Col. Evans lived there until his death in 1962 and it is now occupied by his widow.

He is reported to have willed the house to the Canadian Historical Society—a separate organization from the B.C. Historical Association — on condition that his widow has life occupancy.

The six-room house was built in 1851 by John Tod, a famous B.C. pioneer and chief trader for the Hudson's Bay Company.

After his death in 1882, various owners talked of strange manifestations, such as doors which opened of their own accord and weird noises emanating from the main bedrooms.

Col. Evans once said he believed there was a secret passage connecting the house with Willows Beach.

U.S. MAY HIT BACK FOR EMBASSY BLAST

Saigon Bombing Takes 17 Lives

SAIGON (AP) — Terrorists set off an estimated 250 pounds of explosives in a parked car alongside the U.S. embassy in this South Vietnamese capital today, killing at least 17 persons and wounding at least 151.

Windows and brickwork of the five-storey building were shattered.

Two Americans, a girl secretary and a U.S. army officer, were among the dead and 45 or more Americans were injured. The other casualties were Vietnamese and non-American foreigners, many of them strolling on the street when the massive charge went off at 10:55 a.m.

Speculation quickly arose that the United States would thrust a mighty retaliatory strike at Communist North Viet Nam, possibly even hitting Hanoi, the capital.

"After our recent raids north, what else can we do for an encore?" an American woman inquired.

Seven of the injured Americans, including a woman secretary, were in serious condition. some with eye injuries from flying glass were flown to Clark Air Base in the Philippines for specialist treatment.

(In Washington, the state department reported a total of 196 casualties. It listed two Americans and 11 Vietnamese dead; 54 Americans and 129 Vietnamese injured.)

The Vietnamese dead included one of two terrorists who participated in the bombing. The other, who carried a .45-calibre pistol, was shot by a policeman just before the bomb went off and was in serious condition.

Among non-American foreigners injured by the blast were a French businessman and several Japanese residents of Saigon.

The blast punched a gaping hole in the five-storey concrete embassy. It shattered every window and dug an enormous crater in the street.

Flames and smoke mushroomed 300 feet into the air. The bombing was one of the worst terrorist blows delivered by the Communist Viet Cong. The embassy, the target of several previous attacks, had been considered a prime goal of the Communists since U.S. air strikes began against North Viet Nam Feb. 7.

Twenty-four South Vietnamese fighter-bombers bombed a North Vietnamese air base near Dong Hoi today, but a U.S. spokesman said the raid was not in direct retaliation for the bombing of the embassy.

The American planes accompanied the South Vietnamese aircraft, attacking anti-aircraft installations and carrying out photo reconnaissance.

Raid on North 'Very Successful'

None of the attacking planes was reported hit or shot down. A South Vietnamese spokesman said the raid was "very successful" and that the pilots reported 90 per cent of their targets were destroyed.

But Peking radio claimed five U.S. and South Vietnamese planes were shot down in the raid on Dong Hoi. The broadcast said many others were damaged by North Vietnamese army units.

The spokesman said Dong Hoi has an 1,800-yard runway and a gasoline storage depot. It is about 75 miles north of the 17th parallel, the border between North and South Viet Nam.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell Taylor was in Washington reporting to president Johnson on the intensifying U.S. military effort against the Communists when the blast occured.

About 150 embassy personnel and visitors were in the embassy when the large black sedan turned into a street alongside just before 10:55 a.m.

Most of those at the scene were killed or disabled, but a reconstruction of the attack indicated:

The car stopped and a South Vietnamese policeman ordered the driver to move on. The driver said he had engine trouble.

A motorcycle pulled up, the driver leaped from the car onto the seat behind the cyclist and they started off. The policeman fired at the terrorists and was killed as they fired back.

Another policeman wounded the motorcycle driver, dropping him to the street. Just then the bomb exploded with a roar heard for miles. The other terrorist and several policemen were killed in the blast.

Everyone in the nearby ground-floor consular section of the embassy was wounded to some degree.

American servicemen ran to the scene from blocks away and dashed into the building to help the injured.

Reporters who arrived on the scene minutes after the explosion saw American women secretaries, blood flowing from cuts and other wounds, helping to tend persons more seriously injured.

'Shocking Crimes' Will Be Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives' committee on UN-American activities voted unanimously today to conduct an investigation into the activities of the Ku Klux Klan, the white-supremacist organization.

Chairman Edwin E. Willis (Dem.—La.) said the committee's preliminary study indicates "that shocking crimes are carried out by highly-secret action groups within the Klans."

These groups, Willis said, are known as "knockoff squads" or "holy terrors."

Willis also announced that the committee instructed him to go on with his preliminary inquiry into activities of the Black Muslims, the American Nazi party and The Minutemen, an extreme-rightist anti - Communist group.

The committee said its decision for a congressional investigation of the Klan was based on three factors:

Preliminary study "clearly indicated the Klan activities are such that investigation is called for."

Statements by federal officials indicating that Klan members have been involved "in a number of recent murders and other unconstitutional acts of violence and terrorism."

President Johnson's appeal last Friday indicated "support for congressional investigation of the Klans as an aid to enactment of remedial legislation."

Wallace To Consider Negro Plea

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—George C. Wallace, the segregationist governor of Alabama, today "cordially and courteously" received an interracial civil rights delegation which asked him to end police brutality against Negroes.

It was the first meeting the governor has granted such a group.

The 16 civil rights leaders, all but one a Negro, also asked Wallace for a more liberal policy of registering Negro voters and removal of the poll tax.

Wallace, who met with the group in his office at the capitol, did not immediately comment on the meeting with the delegation he had previously refused to see.

A spokesman said the group asked Wallace to "use his great power of leadership to bring peace to our state."

The Rev. Joseph Lowery, leader of the group, said Wallace received them "cordially and courteously" when they presented him a petition of grievances and spelled out specific needs. Lowery said Wallace "promised to give consideration to them."

Wallace was asked to appoint Negroes to the highway patrol immediately, Lowery said, and to policy-making boards.

"We also asked him to give his leadership in building bridges of communication in our state," Lowery said.

Pension Plan Passed By Huge Majority

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate tackles the controversial Canada Pension Plan tonight following approval by a vote of 159 to 12 Monday night after a marathon debate.

Conservative senators are expected to mount a stiff fight against some features of the bulky bill. But they are outnumbered 61 to 33 by Liberals.

Opposition MPs heaped criticism on the legislation for 26 days, calling it a new tax, a fraud and a vote-getting gimmick. But when the vote on third reading finally came, only seven Creditistes and five Prairie Conservatives opposed the plan.

The measure was supported by 96 Liberals, 47 Conservatives 13 New Democrats, Social Credit MPs H. A. Olson (Medicine Hat) and Marcel Lessard (Lac-St. Jean) and independent MP Remi Paul (Berthier-Maskinonge-Delanaudiere), a former Conservative.

Deductions Pose Interesting Problem

(Second of four articles.)

When the contributions portion of the Canada Pension Plan is examined in greater detail, it is found that the $600 annual exemption—to be applied at a rate of $50 monthly —creates some interesting situations. The following examples illustrate them:

- Earnings of more than $5,000 annually:

Consider an employee with earnings of $12,600 in 1966. His required contribution will be 1.8 per cent of $4,400 (the $5,000 maximum less the $600 exemption). Thus, he must pay $79.20 for the year.

He will not contribute one-twelfth of the $79.20 each month, however. Instead, his monthly contribution will be based on his monthly earnings reduced by $50. If his earnings were $1,050 each month, he would contribute $18 in each month from January through April, $7.20 in May, and nothing for the rest of the year.

- A part-time worker:

Suppose an employee works for the first four months of the year at a rate of $300 monthly and is unemployed from May to December. His employer will have deducted (.018) (4) ($300—$50=$18.00).

But the employee's true contribution is: .018 ($1,200 - $600 = $10.80).

In this case, the employee and the employer have overpaid by $7.20. The employee may claim a refund, but the employer can't.

- A "moonlighter":

Take the person employed at two jobs throughout the year. One pays $250 monthly, the other, $100 monthly.

That adds up to an income of $350 monthly, or $4,200 annually.

The first employer deducts 1.8 per cent of $200 for 12

Chinese Delaying Second Bomb?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Red China may be delaying the explosion of its second nuclear bomb for political reasons, administration officials said today.

They said U.S. intelligence sources are agreed Peking is capable of setting it off "at any moment." Many experts are convinced it has been ready for a week or two.

This has led to speculation that the Communist Chinese are waiting to time the blast for maximum psychological effect, presumably in connection with the Viet Nam crisis.

KAULA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI) — An important Malaysian official said today Red China was helping Indonesia develop an atomic bomb.

$7 MILLION TOTAL SAVING

Power Rates Reduced 15 to 20%

B.C. Hydro's third power-cut rate since 1962 will save the average householder up to 20 per cent per month.

The latest cut, announced Monday night by Hydro co-chairmen Dr. H. L. Keenleyside and Dr. G. M. Shrum, will mean a total saving of $7,000,000 annually by Hydro customers.

The new rates will take effect in the month of April and will show for the first time on bills received in May.

Most of the benefit from the new rates will be shared by householders in residential areas.

Average reduction will be 15 per cent with small power users enjoying up to a 20 per cent reduction in their monthly bills.

In addition to the rate cuts Hydro will also make available, for the first time in B.C., unlimited quantities of "one-cent power."

The first 300 kilowatt hours will cost two cents per kilowatt, reduced from 2½ cents, with all additional power used costing one cent per kilowatt hour for all residential users.

MORE TO COME

Hydro officials predict that the cuts will bring major increases in the use of power.

Along with the announced rate reductions the Hydro officials gave promise of other cuts to come.

"Unlike other fuels," the officials stated, "the cost of generating electricity will be reduced in the years to come. The production of very large amounts of electricity from the Peace and Columbia Rivers will result in major cost savings which will be passed on to the people of British Columbia."

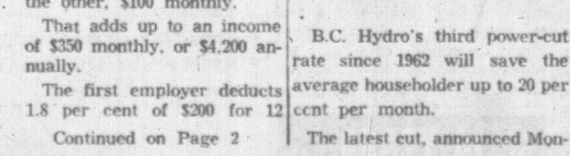
The new rates will also bring savings of more than $1,500,000 to non-industrial users served at primary voltage.

Standard rates have now been established for these customers, a move calculated to bring savings to schools, business houses, hotels and motels.

Farmers also come in for a slice of the pie.

The energy charge for irrigation pumping loads up to 100-horsepower will now be 85 cents per kilowatt hour subject to the standard charge of $6.60 per person.

The new rate will reduce irrigation power charges up to 50 per cent.



Seems a bomb delivery system don't necessarily need a fortune in electronic gadgets.

Well, we're gittin' a national pension plan. Now, if we c'd jist git a guarantee we should live so long.

With thet rate cut, it seems Hydro is seein' th' light.

Quake Rocks Islands But Sea Stays Calm

The earthquake measured about 7.5 on the Richter scale and a Dominion Astrophysical Observatory spokesman said this would have been "disastrous" in a built-up area.

He said the earthquake occurred near Attu Island near the tip of the Aleutians, which reach far towards Asia from southwest Alaska.

Vancouver Island civil defence officials were alerted for a possible tidal wave but by 10 p.m. the alert was cancelled when no wave appeared.

W. G. Milne, geophysicist with the observatory on Little Saanich Mountain, said there was no relation between the Chilean and Aleutian quakes.

Chinese Delaying Second Bomb?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Red China may be delaying the explosion of its second nuclear bomb for political reasons, administration officials said today.

They said U.S. intelligence sources are agreed Peking is capable of setting it off "at any moment." Many experts are convinced it has been ready for a week or two.

This has led to speculation that the Communist Chinese are waiting to time the blast for maximum psychological effect, presumably in connection with the Viet Nam crisis.

KAULA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI) — An important Malaysian official said today Red China was helping Indonesia develop an atomic bomb.

$7 MILLION TOTAL SAVING

Power Rates Reduced 15 to 20%

B.C. Hydro's third power-cut rate since 1962 will save the average householder up to 20 per cent per month.

The latest cut, announced Monday night by Hydro co-chairmen Dr. H. L. Keenleyside and Dr. G. M. Shrum, will mean a total saving of $7,000,000 annually by Hydro customers.

The new rates will take effect in the month of April and will show for the first time on bills received in May.

Most of the benefit from the new rates will be shared by householders in residential areas.

Average reduction will be 15 per cent with small power users enjoying up to a 20 per cent reduction in their monthly bills.

In addition to the rate cuts Hydro will also make available, for the first time in B.C., unlimited quantities of "one-cent power."

The first 300 kilowatt hours will cost two cents per kilowatt, reduced from 2½ cents, with all additional power used costing one cent per kilowatt hour for all residential users.

MORE TO COME

Hydro officials predict that the cuts will bring major increases in the use of power.

Along with the announced rate reductions the Hydro officials gave promise of other cuts to come.

"Unlike other fuels," the officials stated, "the cost of generating electricity will be reduced in the years to come. The production of very large amounts of electricity from the Peace and Columbia Rivers will result in major cost savings which will be passed on to the people of British Columbia."

The new rates will also bring savings of more than $1,500,000 to non-industrial users served at primary voltage.

Standard rates have now been established for these customers, a move calculated to bring savings to schools, business houses, hotels and motels.

Farmers also come in for a slice of the pie.

The energy charge for irrigation pumping loads up to 100-horsepower will now be 85 cents per kilowatt hour subject to the standard charge of $6.60 per person.

The new rate will reduce irrigation power charges up to 50 per cent.

Overflow Crowd Hears 'Hotliner'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Between 7,000 and 10,000 people attempted to jam into the downtown Queen Elizabeth Theatre Monday night to hear controversial broadcaster Pat Burns protest his being dropped by a Vancouver radio station.

An estimated 2,900 filled the 2,800-seat theatre while another 7,000 stood in the pouring rain outside to hear Mr. Burns over a public address system.

Several fist fights erupted when attempts were made to break through police lines blocking entrances.

During the near-riotous evening, a bomb scare was turned in and three fire engines arrived to answer what turned out to be a false alarm. A police riot squad searched the stage area of the theatre but no bomb was found.

Radio Station CJOR until recently carried Burns "Hot Line" program in which the public telephoned the station and spoke with Burns as the conversation was broadcast.

However, CJOR president Mrs. Marie Chandler announced last week that the station would not meet Burns' latest contract demands.

$3,000 A MONTH

CJOR said Burns had proposed in his new contract a salary of $3,000 a month plus 15 per cent of the profits of the station over $50,000; a $1 talent fee for commercials which would cost $77 a day; a new car every year with the station assuming all related expenses except gas and oil; and a guaranteed salary for life even if his program was not aired for any reason.

In his 2½-hour speech Burns said the station's move must go down "as the most sordid act in the history of commercial broadcasting."

Burns claimed he was dropped by the station not because of his contract demands, but because he refused to tone down attacks on "The Establishment."

Defending his contract demands, Burns said: "Sure, I made these impossible demands, but they were made in the form of notes for negotiation purposes and I wanted them to be tough.

"I wanted these points to be so tough that I could use them as a bargaining basis to preserve the one clause in the contract which would ensure the integrity of the Hot Line program and its principle of freedom of speech."

He said that every day "there was pressure from those at the station who would have had me tone down the program so that it was more acceptable to 'The Establishment.' But I would not betray my principles and your trust.

"And if my voice has been temporarily stilled, so has yours," he told his cheering audience.

A department store that regularly sponsored the Burns program paid for the rental of the Queen Elizabeth Theatre.

'All Share' In Death, Says Cleric

DETROIT (UPI)—Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, the first white woman killed in the current civil rights drive, was laid to rest today in simple ceremonies attended by state and national figures leading the drive for Negro rights.

The Roman Catholic cleric who delivered the eulogy said "far too many of us have a share" in her untimely death.

Father James Sheehan, director of the archbishop's committee on human relations, preached the sermon in Immaculate Heart of Mary Church and took the occasion to lash out at the social climate in the South and the failure of the clergy to lead in the fight for civil rights.

SOME WEPT

Father Sheehan stood behind the casket, draped in black, and delivered the sermon in English as the Liuzzo family and close friends listened with bowed heads. Some wept.

Father Sheehan said it would be impossible for "an ambassador or a Peace Corps man" to explain what happened to Mrs. Liuzzo.

He compared Mrs. Liuzzo's death and the recent happenings in Selma and elsewhere with Nazi Germany during the 1930s. Then he launched into a condemnation of the South for holding the Negro people down.

Liquor Ads Now Allowed In Alberta

The regulations were approved Monday by cabinet.

Manufacturers will be allowed to advertise brands by referring to trademarks, brand names, labels, slogans and recipes but no advertisement will be allowed to promote the use of liquor.

Premier Manning said earlier this week a change in regulations had been under consideration for some time, in view of the large volume of outside material that comes into the province containing liquor ads.

All liquor advertising in publications must be approved by the Liquor Control Board. A ban on radio and TV advertising remained unchanged.

Salmon Quota Raised

TOKYO (AP)—Japan and the Soviet Union agreed today to set Japan's 1965 quota of salmon fishing in the northwestern Pacific at 115,000 tons, or 5,000 tons more than last year's quota.

Jones Clears Desk To Sever All Ties

George E. P. Jones, fired last Friday by legislative vote, cleared his desk Monday and walked out of the office he had occupied for nine years.

No reasons were given for his dismissal other than the bare statement that the government had "lost confidence" in him as chairman of the purchasing commission.

Suspended without pay last October following the laying of charges that he unlawfully accepted benefits from Victoria car dealer George Hankinson—charges subsequently dismissed in court—Mr. Jones continued to perform his duties daily.

In the bill to "retire" him, Mr. Jones was granted $15,675 in lieu of 18 months pay plus a pension.

He has been succeeded temporarily by R. G. McKee, deputy minister of forests.

Mr. McKee said he has put "a couple of hours a day" as pro tem chairman until a permanent appointment is made.

He has launched a slander suit against Premier Bennett for alleged statements made to a Victoria Social Credit meeting a few weeks ago.

N.Y. FACING ANOTHER NEWS STRIKE

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators raced the clock today in final efforts to avert a strike when contracts in the city's newspaper industry expire at midnight tonight.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who helped end the 114-day newspaper shutdown two years ago, said that if agreement had not been reached by 4 p.m. he would call both sides to meet with him immediately at city hall.

Automation and wages are vital issues in the talks.

. . . PLAN PASSED

re-open discussion on details of the complex 125-clause bill but they were voted down by the minority government.

Revenue Minister Benson, who largely replaced Health Minister Judy LaMarsh in piloting the bill, Monday accused the Conservative, New Democratic and Creditiste parties of filibuster and delaying tactics aimed at killing the plan.

NDP Leader Douglas retorted that this was a false and utterly irresponsible charge. The pension legislation had been in and out of the Commons in various forms for nearly two years because of the government's ineptitude and inefficiency, he added.

The plan, introduced in a substantially different version June 21, 1963, is slated to come into force next Jan. 1 and build up a multi-billion reserve fund over the next 10 years, when maximum benefits of $104 a month will be paid out.

Today the Commons resumed debate on a bill authorizing Quebec, or any other province, to opt out of 17 federal-provincial joint programs. The government hopes to wind up the record-long, 244-day session this week and open a new one immediately afterward.

The contentious opting-out principle also applies to the pension plan. The Quebec government is expected to introduce its own scheme shortly providing for the same rates of contributions and benefits.

DEBATED FOUR DAYS

The bill passed Monday night was introduced last Oct. 28 and debated for four days before receiving second reading — approval in principle—by a vote of 184 to 0 Nov. 18. The 13 Creditistes abstained from voting.

The seven Creditistes voting against the plan on third reading were Leader Real Caouette, Gilles Gregoire (Lapointe), Robert Beaule (Quebec East), Gerard Perron (Beauce), Gilbert Rondeau (Shefford), Charles-Eugene Dionne (Kamouraska) and Pierre-Andre Boutin (Dorchester).

The five dissident Conservatives were Terry Nugent (Edmonton Strathcona), Jack McIntosh (Swift Current - Maple Creek), Clifford Smallwood (Battle River-Camrose), Lawrence Watson (Assiniboia) and Drummond Clancy (Yorkton).

In the first of four votes at the Monday evening sitting, an NDP amendment to send the bill back to committee stage for reconsideration of the $75 flat-rate pension was defeated 96 to 76.

The mover, Robert Prittie (NDP — Burnaby - Richmond), said higher living costs make a $100 flat-rate pension necessary. Mr. Benson replied that such an increase would cost $810,000,000 annually.

The Prittie motion was opposed by 94 Liberals, Quebec Conservative Leader Leon Balcer and Mr. Paul. It was backed by 52 Conservatives, 15 New Democrats, seven Creditistes and two Social Crediters.

Stanley Knowles, NDP whip, immediately moved a second amendment to re-open debate on the minimum pension age. He suggested it should be lowered to 65 from 70 immediately.

This motion was defeated 94 to 75. The Liberals were alone against 51 Conservatives, 14 New Democrats, seven Creditistes, two Social Crediters and Mr. Paul.

The Creditistes then sought to move an amendment splitting the bill into contributory and flat-rate pension sections with a vote on each.

Deputy Speaker Lucien Lamoureux ruled the amendment out of order, the Creditistes appealed and were crushed 160 to 7. The six Creditistes voting were joined by George Muir (PC—Lisgar).

months, or $43.20. The second deducts 1.8 per cent of $50 for 12 months, or $10.80. Thus, a total of $54 is deducted.

But when the employee calculates his true contribution, he finds it should be 1.8 per cent of his annual earnings of $4,200, reduced by his $600 exemption. The contribution, figured this way, is $64.80. He owes the plan $10.80.

● A self-employed worker: The example is taken from evidence presented to the joint committee of the Senate and House of Commons.

A person resided in Alberta as of the last day in the year and had self-employed earnings of $4,000. He also had salary and wages of $2,000, and had been allowed the basic exemption of $600 by his employer.

The contributor would be required to contribute $108 on his self-employed earnings. This contribution is computed at the rate of 3.6 per cent of the lesser of amount (a) or amount (b) as follows:

Self-employed earnings amount (a)	$4,000
Maximum contributory earnings on which a contribution can be made (Section 15)	$4,400
Deduct: Salary and wages on which a contribution has been made ($2,000-$600)	$1,400
Balance of maximum contributory earnings. Amount (b)	$3,000
Self-employed earnings subject to a contribution (lesser of Amount (a) or Amount (b)	$3,000
Contribution payable 3.6 per cent of $3,000	$ 108

Thus, between his employment and his self-employed earnings, the person has contributed on the maximum amount allowable — that is, $4,400 ($3,000 self-employed earnings at the rate of 3.6 per cent, plus $1,400 salary and wages at the rate of 1.8 per cent).

The adjustment situations illustrated are small in comparison to those of a worker who migrates to or from Quebec during the year. Quebec will have its own separate plan.

The last major terrorist attack on an American installation in Saigon was the Christmas Eve bombing of the Brink Hotel, the major U.S. officers' billet in the capital. Two Americans were killed and 81 Americans and Vietnamese were injured.

A U.S. military billet at Qui Nhon was bombed Feb. 10, and 23 Americans died.

Among earlier attempts on the embassy was one in which a grenade concealed in a loaf of bread was thrown at the building. It failed to go off.

Ten days ago, police announced they had foiled a plot to bomb the embassy. They found 35 pounds of plastic explosives hidden in a Saigon house by Communist terrorists.

CBC STRIKE PROGRAM UNDER FIRE

Complete Falsehood Says ITU Chief

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Labor Minister Leslie Rowntree said Monday a television program was entirely wrong to suggest that the introduction of computers is the continuing cause of a strike of printers at the three Toronto daily newspapers.

Local 91 of the International Typographical Union (CLC) went on strike at The Telegram, Star, and Globe and Mail last July 9. The papers have continued to publish.

The computer issue was settled about a week after the strike began and other issues are holding up the settlement of the dispute, Mr. Rowntree told the legislature.

Eddie Sargent (L. — Grey North) has protested against what he described as the sorry spectacle of honest workers begging for their jobs on the CBC's program Men Against Computers shown Sunday night.

Mr. Sargent charged that the government had failed in its first real test of the introduction of automation by not ending the dispute.

Mr. Rowntree called the Liberal member's statement irresponsible and asked if he would advocate the government stepping in and compulsorily ending of all labor disputes. He added automation had been in process "since the wheel was invented."

Robert McCormack, president of Local 91, said the TV program "was a complete falsehood."

"We have never opposed computers," he said in an interview. "But we have insisted on jurisdiction over computers when they perform composing-room work."

This issue was settled last July 29. The publishers submitted amended proposals on other issues.

WIRE BRIEFS

Need More Cash For Informers

SAIGON (AP)—Several South Vietnamese undercover agents said today the bombing of the U.S. Embassy might have been avoided if more money had been available to pay informers.

There may even have been an element of grudge involved in the bombing, one said.

Ball at Talks

PARIS (Reuters) — George Ball, U.S. undersecretary of state, arrived in Paris today to attend two days of talks in the NATO permanent council to be devoted largely to Viet Nam. Ball told reporters on his arrival here he would explain American policy and the progress of operations to the members of the alliance.

Jets Strafe Boat

TOKYO (UPI) — Radio Peking said tonight two American jet fighters strafed a Communist Chinese fishing boat Monday night west of Hainan Island in the Gulf of Tonkin.

Wilson Concerned

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson today expressed concern about possible escalation of the war in Viet Nam. But, he told the House of Commons, Britain has been assured by U.S. officials that a recent statement made by U.S. Ambassador General Maxwell D. Taylor regarding unlimited intensification of the war in Viet Nam did not mean any change in U.S. policy.

Coup Reported

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — The Greek Cypriot newspaper Teleftea said today the first stage of a coup against President Archbishop Makarios has taken place. The afternoon daily paper said Soviet-made anti-aircraft rockets which arrived last week have not been unloaded on orders of unidentified persons without the knowledge of Makarios and his government.

Ottawa Man Gets Jail Term For Vagrancy

An Ottawa man was given a one-month sentence when he pleaded guilty in Saanich court Monday to vagrancy.

Donald Therien, also known as Keith Renfrey, was questioned by Detective George Walton Saturday night.

Det. Walton said that when he asked Therien where he worked the answer came back "What's work."

When he asked him where he lived, Therien replied, "That's anyone's guess."

Det. Walton said Therien refused to account for the car he had been driving. In court Therien told Magistrate William Ostler that the car had been loaned to a friend of his and the friend was later arrested.

Therien has a record for false pretences, theft, driving while disqualified and attempted theft, court was told.

Britain Seeks Peace Conference

LONDON (CP)—Britain prepared approaches to China and North Viet Nam Monday to arrange Viet Nam truce talks for peace envoy Patrick Gordon Walker.

OTTAWA (CP) — Ontario and Newfoundland lawyers had the highest average annual incomes after expenses in Canada for 1962, Revenue Minister Benson reported.

In a written reply to a question by Dr. Guy Marcoux (SC—Quebec-Montmorency), he listed the average incomes for lawyers by provinces as follows:

Newfoundland $16,609; Prince Edward Island $13,500; Nova Scotia $12,859; New Brunswick $14,242; Quebec $14,246; Ontario, $17,176; Manitoba, $13,248; Saskatchewan $12,830; Alberta $15,375; and British Columbia $13,951.

Vancouver Fears Held Groundless

Vancouver fears of superpower contained in new Municipal Act amendments drew little reaction here today, where similar power has existed for eight years.

The legislation—passed Friday—was contained in Bill 83, to set up regional districts for the purpose of controlling joint services.

Because Vancouver has operated under its own city charter, it was not previously affected by a 1957 Municipal Act amendment that gave a local council power to expropriate personal property for municipal purposes.

Giving a semi-metro council authority to seize a man's chattels was looked upon in Vancouver as a serious infringement of civil rights.

"There appears to be nothing new here. There is a precedent in the existing Municipal Act," city solicitor T. P. O'Grady said.

It was pointed out by Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell that when the government studies and implements recommendations of the Clyne report on expropriation the law could be amended further.

Memorial Service For Princess

A memorial service in memory of the late Princess Royal will be held in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday at 3 p.m. by the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's).

The Princess Royal had been the regiment's colonel-in-chief since 1927, and during her last visit to Victoria in June 1962, she presented the regiment with its colors at a royal parade in Beacon Hill Park.

The princess was colonel-in-chief of three other Canadian regiments—the Royal Newfoundland, the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals and the Royal Regiment of Canada.

Lt.-Col. M. W. Allen, commanding officer of the Canadian Scottish, said regimental veterans of the last war would remember with pride the princess's many visits to the First Battalion in Britain while the unit was training for the assault on Normandy.

Attending Sunday's service in the cathedral will be serving members of the regiment, the regimental association, the regimental trustees and veterans who served with the regiment during the war.

Guides and Brownies have happy memories of the Princess Royal's last visit to Victoria in 1962 when she inspected them at Government House.

Historians Want Assurances Fernwood House Will Remain

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Victoria historians are concerned over the future of Fernwood House—the historic brick and stone house which has stood sedately on a hilltop at Oak Bay Junction for more than 100 years.

Built in 1863 by Benjamin William Pearse, the house and its six and a half acres of ground were acquired in 1958 by St. Margaret's School.

Now the school is negotiating to sell the house and four acres of the property in order to finance development of the remaining two and a half acres.

"If the sale goes through, there is no assurance the old house won't be pulled down," said Roderick Clack, who is both a director of the school and a director of the Greater Victoria Historic Buildings Foundation.

"I have a dual interest in this matter," he added. "I am concerned both for the future of the school and the preservation of Fernwood House.

"The fact is the school cannot develop part of the property for future use unless it sells the remaining four acres. And the house stands on the property to be sold."

Mr. Clack said St. Margaret's School is "sympathetic" to the idea the house should be preserved.

"We have therefore suggested that the Historic Buildings Foundation should negotiate with the new owners to have the house left intact."

Mr. Clack said a financial syndicate in Victoria is interested in buying the property but has no present plans for its development.

"We are hoping that, if the syndicate acquires the property, it will not decide on a plan of development requiring removal of the house.

"It is a historic landmark and should be preserved if possible."

A spokesman for the Victoria branch, B.C. Historical Association, said it had received a "verbal assurance" the house would not be destroyed, but Mr. Clack considered this assurance was "unfounded."

Since it acquired the house and property, St. Margaret's School has constructed a playing field and a tennis court on the two and a half acres it wishes to retain.

"Funds are now required for further development of this site," Mr. Clack said.

Records show that Benjamin William Pearse built the house after he came to Victoria from England in 1851. The last member of his family to occupy the house was Mrs. Jenny Pearse who died there in 1954 at the age of 100.

Victoria branch of the B.C. Historical Association is also concerned over the future of the historic Tod house at 2564 Heron Street, believed to be the oldest residential dwelling in British Columbia.

Said to be haunted, the house was acquired by Lt.-Col. T. C. Evans in 1944. Col. Evans lived there until his death in 1962 and it is now occupied by his widow.

He is reported to have willed the house to the Canadian Historical Society—a separate organization from the B.C. Historical Association — on condition that his widow has life occupancy.

The six-room house was built in 1851 by John Tod, a famous B.C. pioneer and chief trader for the Hudson's Bay Company.

After his death in 1882, various owners talked of strange manifestations, such as doors which opened of their own accord and weird noises emanating from the main bedrooms.

Col. Evans once said he believed there was a secret passage connecting the house with Willows Beach.
